Saturday, Oct. 7th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

Fair at Dedham.

The Seventeenth Annual Exhibition of the Norfolk County Agricultural Society was held at Dedham, commencing on Thursday, September 26th, on which day visitors were entertained by a Plowing and Drawing Match.

On Friday, the grand exhibition day, at 9 1/2 o'clock, was a cavalcade and trial of the different classes of horses, including the Norman stallions and mares recently imported for the improvement of the stock of draught horses of this vicinity.

They are noble looking animals, and have all the points most to be desired for workers.

At 12 m., dinner was served in Agricultural Hall, with accommodations for seven hundred guests; after which, an able and eloquent address was delivered by Rev. James Freeman Clark, followed by short speeches from Commodore Winslow, of the United States Navy, Hon. Wm. Pitt Fessenden, of Maine, Colonel Marshall P. Wilder, and others, with fine music by the Weymouth Brass Band.

At 2 p. m., commenced the trial of horses on the track, continuing until 5 o'clock, and closing the exhibition.

The show of horses, cattle and sheep, was about an average one; but that of fruit and flowers was far short of the usual variety and quality, owing no doubt in a great measure to the severe drought of the past summer.

QUINCY TEMPERANCE SOCIETY. This new Association was organized on Tuesday evening by the choice of the following officers:

President: Rev. S. T. Aldrich.
Vice Presidents: Elbridge Clapp and Rev. E. P. Thwing.
Secretary: Henry F. Barker.
Treasurer: Wyman Abernethy.

Executive Committee: Rev. E. P. Thwing, C. W. Carter, Z. A. Mudge, J. W. Pratt, Rev. J. D. Wells, and George Cahill.

Spirited temperance speeches were made by H. H. Faxon, Esq., Dr. Lawrence and others. Lyceum Hall was crowded, and the Society will meet next Tuesday evening in Town Hall; at which place good speaking and music may be expected.

The Society has enrolled some of our best and most judicious citizens; and the interest already shown, promises a degree of success which we sincerely hope it may enjoy.

OUR PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY. Our Correspondent KEOKUCK, from Weymouth, informs us that he has not had an opportunity to prepare a portrait for the Gallery to appear in our paper to-day—but promises one for our next issue. His sketches on this line are happily conceived, and true to life. He depicts the strong points in human character with masterly effect, and with a truthfulness, that there is no mistaking the original. The ready pen of our Correspondent has found employment on other subjects than this; the press is under many obligations to him, for his interesting descriptions of rural life and manners, taken from his stand-point in old Norfolk County.

DANCING SCHOOL. We are gratified to learn, (we speak in behalf of the young) that our old, and valued friend, and beloved teacher, RUSSELL WALKER, Esq., will open a school for juvenile instruction in that graceful accomplishment, at Mariposa Hall, in this place. An introductory exhibition to a course takes place this morning. Since his last professional visit here, Mr. Walker has had a number of competitors in the field—but they were all failures—our young folks were waiting for their old teacher—who, we doubt not, will improve this opportunity by placing themselves under his instruction. Professor Walker has many warm friends in our community, who appreciate his talents, and wish him every success. Terms learned by calling at the Hall.

THE DROUGHT. Complaints reach us from all quarters of the severity of the drought. Our springs are failing us, and the pastures are all dried up. In Weymouth, on account of its scarcity, water has become an article of merchandise; they have not enough there to keep the steam up. In some instances, we hear, that as high as a dollar a barrel has been paid.

FROST. We had what is called a black frost, on Monday night. Vegetation generally, was out of harm's way—except vines, which drooped with the morning sun.

RAIN. We had a light rain on Wednesday last; just enough to lay the dust; but not sufficient to relieve the parched earth, or improve the springs.

SALE IN BRAINTREE. Formers and others may find it for their interest to attend a sale of cows, wagons, sleighs, harnesses, hay, &c., at the residence of the late James Denton, in BRAINTREE, on Monday next. For particulars see notice in another column.

Butter is only $1.25 a pound in Philadelphia.

Uncle Sam has seventy-two millions in his strong box.

MECHANICS' FAIR. Among the attractions of Faneuil Hall, are several alcoves filled with elegant pictures; among which, "Boston, from Corey's Hill," by Richardson, is much admired. Walker & Fuller, Brooks & Burgess have cases of choice books. The latter exhibit copies of President Lincoln's life, by Hon. J. H. Barrett, whose personal and professional intimacy with Mr. Lincoln gives value to what he has written. The paintings of our military heroes who fell in the war, exhibited in the Rotunda, are worthy of special notice.

C. A. Devereaux of Salem, has an ingenious contrivance for keeping one's watch safe from pick-pockets, seen in Section 4.

An ancient tea cup and saucer, fifty years old, broken in twenty-four pieces, is shown, so beautifully united by the Japanese Cement, as to almost completely hide the fractures.

The Calo Tea and Coffee Pot, from 106 Washington street, an admirable invention, saving time, money and patience, is an article needed in every family.

So is the Champion Force Pump, by which life and property may be saved in arresting fires. It throws a stream thirty feet, and can be managed by a boy. It is an excellent thing for gardeners, for washing carriages and windows. It is to be had at 18 Devonshire street.

Nurses will notice with satisfaction a new style of spoon, made at 22 East Canton street, by which a child or sick person can be fed in a horizontal position. An index and a movable rest on the handle adds to its utility.

Had we space we would extend our account of the almost endless novelties and beauties of the Exhibition. By reference to another column our readers will see that it closes next Wednesday.

VALUABLE PROPERTY AT AUCTION. We would call the attention of our readers to the sale of the beautiful estate of the late William Torrey. The lots are all very valuable.

The sale is worthy the attention of those wishing a fine residence of their own. For particulars see advertisement in our columns.

NEW DEPOT OF THE OLD COLONY RAILROAD. All of the plans for a new depot at the Boston terminus of the Old Colony Railroad have been perfected, and the work upon the freight-house has been so far advanced that the walls are nearly up. This building will be six hundred feet long by seventy-five in width, and will have two platforms—one for shipping and the other for receiving freight. The locality is a little southeast of the present freight depot.

The new passenger depot will occupy the sites of the present station and the old freight-house. It will be about one thousand feet in length, and will be handsome in architectural appearance. Work will be commenced upon it early in the spring.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S "EXPERIMENT."—The Tribune's Washington editor telegraphs a special on the interview between Dean Richmond and Mr. Johnson, in which it is said the latter "very distinctly informed the Dean that he should in no wise interfere with New York politics; that he considered himself pledged to no party, and that only those who approved of his present policy could be regarded as his friends. He further stated that the policy of reconstruction which he is now pursuing is not an experiment, but a settled course which he has determined to carry out without reference to the wishes of any party."

NEWSPAPER CHANGES. The No. Bridge-water Gazette comes to us this week enlarged and otherwise improved. We are pleased to notice the prosperity indicated by this change; judging from its interesting columns, we believe its editor works hard to entertain and instruct its readers, and is therefore, deserving of their liberal patronage.

Mr. Brown, editor of the Randolph Transcript, has disposed of his interest in that little sheet. Mr. Joseph Jones has purchased the same, who intends to enlarge it and change the name to East Norfolk Register.

ANCIENT WRECK. On Boston Common, near West Street Gate, is a very interesting historical relic, the wreck of the Sparrow Hawk, lost in 1626, and till recently buried in the sand at Cape Cod. A book, giving particulars, worth the price of admission itself, is given to each visitor.

THE WHEAT CROP. Information to the Agricultural Bureau in Washington goes to show that the recent rise in the price of wheat and flour results from speculative combinations rather than from scarcity of the crop. The wheat crop this year is vastly more than can be consumed in this country.

SMART GIRLS. Two young ladies, granddaughters of the late ex-Governor Lincoln, recently took a boat and rowed it from Hingham to Hull and back again, a distance of eight miles. Such girls would be valuable aids in pulling against the tide of fortune in matrimonial voyages.

The London Economist has come to the very sensible conclusion, that the Americans are the most energetic business people in the world, and the place where business is most profitable.

THE STONE & ROSSON CIRCUS COMBINATION. The exhibition of the Stone & Rossion Circus Combination, which took place at the South End, on the Fair Grounds, corner of Newton and Harrison Avenue, on Thursday and Friday, attracted large audiences. It will also exhibit this afternoon and evening, for the last time at the same place. The troupe is one of the largest and most talented Circus organizations that has ever visited Boston. Mr. Dan Stone is well known as a humorist and clown, and Mr. Frank Rossion has long been connected with exhibitions of this kind in managerial capacities. The company also includes the Denier Brothers, the Sagrine Family, Cullen's Troupe of Iroquois Indians, Messrs. Murray and Hutchinson, the Excelsior Gymnasts, young Burke the bare-back rider, Mr. Chas. Monroe, the clown and vocalist, Sig. Ferdinand, Prof. Hutchinson and his troupe of trained dogs, etc. For further particulars see advertisements in our columns.

THE FEMINA MOVEMENT. It is rumored in New York that the steamers City of Boston and Erin, which sailed from that port on Saturday last, took out $1,000,000 in Bonds for the use of the Femina in Ireland.

THE ILLUSTRATED ANNUAL OF PHRENOLOGY AND PHYSIOLOGY FOR 1866, the best ever issued, contains President Andrew Johnson, Abraham Lincoln, Julius Caesar, with portraits; Character in the Walk, with twelve illustrations; The Mother of Wesley; Character in the Eyes; Stammering and Stuttering; (Causes and Cure); Lieut. General Grant; The Red Man and the Black Man, with illustrations; Heads of the Leading Clergy, and Heads of Notorious Boxers, with Portraits; Fate of the Twelve Apostles; Head of St. Paul; Qualities of Men; Cornelius Vanderbilt; Language of the Eyes—blue, black, gray, hazel and brown—ten engravings; Brigham Young, Richard Cobden, John Bright, Major-General Sherman, with portraits; Phrenology at Home, with Counting House Callender. Post-paid for 12 cts., by Messrs. FOWLER & WELLS, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

STEAM CARRIAGE. The steam carriage invented by Mr. John C. Gardner, of Hingham, is quite a curiosity, and attracts no little attention. It runs upon the common road, goes up hill and down, and moves at a two-forty gait without the least apparent difficulty. All that is requisite is to keep its inside wheels filled with suitable rations, and it will give full evidence of its capacities and power of speed.—Hingham Journal.

A MAGNIFICENT MARRIAGE FEE. Upon the occasion of the marriage in Fall River recently, of a son of Colonel Richard Borden to a daughter of Dr. Nathan Durfee, the officiating clergyman, Rev. Eli Thorton, received a marriage fee larger, we think, than was ever before paid in Massachusetts. The families of Colonel Borden and Dr. Durfee, generously extended a mortgage of $2500, which rested upon the homestead of the parson.—New Bedford Mercury.

BEILA'S COMET, now approaching its perihelion, will soon be visible. It is now distant about 110,000,000 miles. On the first of November next it will be close to Alpha Perseus, one of the four bright stars forming the well-known square of Pegasus. It then pursues a southerly course, crossing the celestial equator about the middle of December. It then crosses its old path in 1849, near where it separated into two comets. At the end of February, its distance from the North pole will be less than 10,000,000 miles. This comet's period is about six and three-quarter years.

MEMOIR OF MRS. GRACE W. THWING by her son; 12mo; 20pp. This volume includes a brief Biography, Funeral Address, Services at Mount Auburn, and a Discourse preached by the author. It is printed by Mudge & Son in a most tasteful style.

The keel of a steamboat, said to be the largest in the world, was laid last week for the People's Line of Albany. It is to have three tiers of state-rooms.

DECLINE IN BUTTER. The St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger reports that butter is selling there at thirty and thirty-four cents per pound.

The amount of J. C. Davis's treasure ascertained at the Treasury Department in Washington, is said to be as follows: $87,000 in gold coin, $2000 in silver coin, mostly Mexican dollars, old coinage, and thirty bars of silver; total value slightly over $100,000.

We have now ten territories waiting to be admitted into the Union. They are Wyoming, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Washington.

Marriages.

At San Francisco, California, on the 27th of August, by Rev. Dr. Scudder, Mr. John J. Richards to Mrs. Anna E. Robie of this place. In Newport, on the 4th inst., by Rev. Mr. W. S. McDaniel, Mr. Charles H. Codman to Miss Abbie F. daughter of William F. Temple, Esq., all of Dorchester.

In Concord on the 31st inst., by Rev. Mr. Reynolds, Mr. William H. Forbes of Milton to Miss Edith, daughter of R. W. Emerson, Esq., of Concord.

NOTICE. All those interested in the organization of a Singing School will please meet at Lyceum Hall, on MONDAY Evening the 9th inst., at 7 o'clock.

Per order, A. B. ADAMS. 1w

Passed on; in youth's spring time to dwell

With spirit friends who hover near,

The soul progressive, broke the spell

That cramped its growing fullness here.

Though young in years, thy heart possessed

The goodness of a ripper day.

Thy school was the world, the worth expressed,

But now, they weep round thy clay.

At home the best, at school the first,

A parent's hope, a teacher's pride,

And education found thee versed

In all the branches she supplied.

And thou art gone, but oh how soon,

A brilliant star with shining rays,

A meteor, shooting through the gloom

And darkness, of earth's little day.

Earth's lesson of bright angels sought

A scholar, versed in works of love,

A willing pupil, to be taught

In nature's noble school above.

Thy parents' dearest, friends' admired,

Their hands were swift to ease thy pain,

All that earth could be desired

Were sought for thee, but all in vain.

'Twas nature's law, thou shouldst depart

In budding manhood, and arise

Beyond the reach of human art,

To bloom immortal in the skies.

While others gather round thy clay,

And wearily untied, move on,

Here on my humble couch I lay,

And melancholy grieve alone.

And so 'twill be in after years,

While others all their grief reveal,

Perchance 'tho I conceal my tears,

Thy secret presence I may feel.

Or if thy lot, must soon be mine,

Thy quickening spirit now appear

In my proximity, and shine

Upon my brief existence here.

J. E. TIRRELL.

COMBINATION
CIRCUS.

THIS grand Alliance of Talent is organized on a scale of unprecedented magnificence, and the extraordinary and varied performance of the great array of Foreign and Native Artists will inaugurate a new era in amusements.

The entertainments will be produced with a degree of originality and splendor never before attempted in this country.

This Colossal Combination, Abounds in Superb Acts, Thrilling Feats,
Gorgeous Spectacles,
Classic Displays, Royal Pastimes,
Picturesque Games,
Sensational Featrics, Fascinating and Vivid Pageantries, Beautiful Groupings,
Marvelous Sensations, Graceful Horseshooting,
Brilliant Acrobatic Gems, Sparkling Concessions of Wit and Racy Humor, forming a

PYRAMID OF WONDERS!
Truly Magnificent.
Enriched by the crowning adornment of an eminent and glorious

Cycle of Genius!
Fertile in expedients to amuse, we defy competition and challenge rivalry, feeling confident that no two similar establishments can approach our

Matchless Performances
in the distinguishing characteristics of immensity and variety, originality in producing and grandeur in executing the multifarious Acts.

The Profusions of Attractions will be presented with all the adjuncts essential to render them maintainable in superiority and marvellous in style.

Among the Prominent EQUESTRIANS
Gymnasts, Acrobats, Pencraters, Equilibrists, PSTURERS, Danseurs and other Artists,
are the following

STAR PERFORMERS:
LE JUNA BURTE,
The Premier Horseman;
Messrs. MURRAY & HUTCHINSON,
The Equestrian Gymnasts;
THE DENZER BROTHERS,

Typical Dances, Ceremonies, Rites, Unique Customs, Modes of Sacrifice, Forms of Worship, and other intensely thrilling characteristics of Aboriginal Life, including the Grand Historical Tableau of the Indian Princes.

Pocahontas saving the life of Capt. Smith.
The interesting descendants of the greatest Indian Tribes are highly educated and strictly correct in their habits, and have lately returned from a three years' tour in Europe, where they had the honor of appearing before many of the reigning Families and Principal Nobles, besides thousands eminent in the professions of Divinity, Literature, Art and Science.

The Wonderful Performing Dogs of Prof.
Hutchinson will exhibit their remarkable laughter and applause-provoking tricks.
The developed intelligence and sagacity of these favorite favorites exceeds every thing of the genus known in the world, and surpasses every species of animal training.

THE ENTREE CAVALCADE
of this Gigantic Combination will afford the public a Gratuitous View of its prolific resources and unparalleled richness. The magnificent Chariots and Carriages; exquisite in design, superbly carved and decorated with costly ornaments and appropriate Allegorical and Historical Paintings—will be drawn by spirited Steeds richly and gaily caparisoned. These, with other attractions will form prominent features in the Gliding Panorama.

THE HORSES AND PONIES

New Skirt For 1865-6.

The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS,
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elliptic (or Double) Spring Skirt.

THIS INVENTION Consists of Duplex
(or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars,
Church Pews, Arm Chairs, or Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort
and great convenience of wearing the Duplex
Elliptic Skirt spring skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are agreeable to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as the single ones covering which is used on all Single Skirt Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rings on every skirt are also Double Steel and twice or double covered to prevent the cutting from wearing off the rock when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c. &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly corded
tapes, and are the best quality in every part,
giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect
shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical
Skirt ever made.

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS OF THE CELEBRATED
MACHINE GRAINED
Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are moulded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

THIS SPLENDID MACHINE COMBINES ALL the good qualities of our well known manufacturing machines, with many new and valuable improvements. It is swift, quiet and positive in its operation; sews the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in a beautiful and substantial manner. It Hems, Fells, Cuffs, Brails, Tucks, Gatherings, Stitches, &c., and will generally do a greater range of work than any machine heretofore offered to the public. We respectfully invite all in want of a Superior Family Sewing Machine to pay us a visit. Every machine warranted, and full instructions given by competent and courteous attendants. Sent for pamphlet. THE SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY, 69 Hanover Street, Boston, and 458 Broadway N. Y. Agents wanted.

HORSESHOES.

THE WHEELER HORSESHOE COMPANY offer for sale, corner of Faneuil and Tremont streets, Boston, Horseshoe Bars and Shoes, and also finished Shoes of every variety of size and style. The iron is made from select, soft iron, including old shoes, and is warranted as good as any in the market, and to wear as long as the best hand-made shoes. The bars are drawn with a groove and a bevel, and with a seated, a flat, or a convex foot face. This amount of work on the bars, enables the blacksmith to make twice as many Shoes a day as he can make from common shoe shapes, and the Shoes are of better finish and quality when done. The iron is better than offered at the ordinary price of common shapes, and the finished Shoes much lower than hand-made Shoes, with which alone they can be compared, and which in reality they are. Between Courtlandt and Dey Streets,
NEW YORK.

JOHN PATTEN, Jr., Proprietor

THE Pacific Hotel, is well and widely known to the travelling public. The location is especially suitable to merchants and business men; it is in close proximity to the business part of the City—is on the highway of Southern and Western travel—and adjacent to all the principal Railroad and Steamboat depots.

The Pacific has liberal accommodation for over 300 guests; it is well furnished, and possesses every modern improvement for the comfort and entertainment of its inmates. The rooms are spacious and well ventilated; provided with gas and water; the attendance is prompt and respectful; and the table is generously provided with every delicacy of the season.

The subscriber, who, for the past few years, has been the lessee, is now sole proprietor, and intends to identify himself thoroughly with the interests of his house. With long experience as a hotel keeper, he trusts, by moderate charges and a liberal policy, to maintain the favorable reputation of the Pacific Hotel.

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation. It is beyond doubt the BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Quaging, Bridging, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and elegant manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Oct. 14th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

Hancock Street.

By the published legal notice, it will be seen that on the 20th instant, at 2 o'clock, P. M., the County Commissioners will proceed to view Hancock Street, as the petitioners say, "to the effect that the same may be widened, straightened and improved in such manner, and in such places thereof, as may by them be deemed expedient."

It is a cause of congratulation that this long needed improvement has at last been started. This, our main avenue for local travel, as well as for the large amount of travel through this place from towns below us, has become by little alterations here and there; by lowering in one place, and raising in another—by changes and increase of business on either side, and especially by the building of the street railroad, so narrowed, and, in the "Hollow," so choked up, and altered for the worse, from its original bad condition, as to be considered dangerous—and in a word, the whole extent of the street, between the points named, viz: the Unitarian Church and the Episcopal Church, so evidently needs the "widening, straightening and improving" authoritative attention of the Commissioners, that we feel assured all will say when it is done, "we have endured this winding, irregular and dangerous street so long."

The usual objections to all street improvements and alterations may be raised—of unnecessary expense, of damage to estates, of unfavorable time to make such a change, and others, but every candid person who takes a comprehensive view of events and affairs, will admit that there will be nothing gained by waiting longer; that in all probability it will cost more in every respect, to delay the better and wiser, and more creditable to the Town, to pay for and maintain good streets, than to pay for damages to persons and property caused by the want of them; that this will be no real damage to any man's estate, and that at no other time will so many of the shotters be ready to co-operate in and favor the movement as now.

Therefore, we hail the anticipated improvement with joy. Let us have a wide, straight, well graded, well-drained avenue, from "Pray's corner" to "Brackett's," and every abuttor on the same, and every property holder in Town, will be either directly or indirectly benefited thereby. Every citizen will enjoy its convenience, beauty and security; while our neighbors of other towns, who use it so much, and whom we must thus provide for, will bless our enterprise.

SERENADE. Between nine and ten o'clock on Saturday evening last, as the moon shone brightly from the starry heavens, the inhabitants of the Point were aroused from their quietness by the sweet melodious notes of a band playing in their vicinity. At first they opened their windows and doors, but the strains of music which was played most exquisitely soon called the ladies and gentlemen from their homes. It was soon their delight to learn that one of the "Fathers of the Town," Ebenezer Adams, Esq., was enjoying a serenade from the Quincy Brass Band. After the gathering had the pleasure of listening to many new and beautiful pieces, the Colonel invited the Band to partake of a collation which he had prepared for the occasion. The musicians, as well as the invited guests, endeavored to do ample justice to the loaded table. Still there was a large supply left after each feast he had done his best. The occasion will long be remembered by all present, for seldom is found so rich a feast for both the body and the soul.

TORNEY ESTATE. The large and handsome mansion house corner of Granite and Goffe streets, with about five acres of land adjoining, owned by the heirs of the late William Torrey, was sold at Auction on Wednesday last by Samuel A. Walker, the well known Boston Auctioneer. We learn that Mr. Southworth of Neponset, was the purchaser at $5,500.

GAME. A few days since two young raccoons ventured from their retreat in the neighborhood of Spear's Swamp, and paid a visit to the large elm trees on the Alpheus River estate, on Box street, where they were both killed at one shot, by George L. Hayden, of this town. They are the first raccoons seen in this neighborhood for many years.

For the Patriot.
A Farmer's Club.

WEST QUINCY, OCTOBER 9th, 1865.

DEAR PATRIOT: In common with many of the agriculturists and gardeners of this town, I have long lamented the want of such an institution as is generally known as a Farmer's Club, and have earnestly desired that some one would take the initiatory steps toward supplying the deficiency.

The farmers of Quincy are not lacking in the intelligence, or the social qualities necessary to render such a Club, if established among them, both interesting and profitable. Neither have they, as individuals, arrived at that degree of perfection, which would seem to make further improvement an impossibility, or which would render valueless the ideas, the theories, or the practical suggestions, of their no less shrewd and observant neighbors. As farmers, we are unlike most tradesmen. We have no fears of competition.

The calls of the market are so urgent, so numerous, and so varied, that we can, with our fear of damage to our business, come together and talk without reserve upon any and every subject pertaining to the farm. Subjects, in fact, which we are ever so ready to discuss when we meet, whether it be upon the highway, in stores, in the cars, or at the market places.

Then why may we not make such an arrangement, as will enable us to discuss these matters systematically, which will bring together the practical farmers of the town for a comparison of opinions and practices, and make us wiser and better as farmers, and more social and happy as neighbors and co-workers in the noblest profession vouchsafed to man?

Let us have a FARMER'S CLUB! who second the motion?

Yours, &c. GEORGE H. ARNOLD.

QUINCY TEMPERANCE SOCIETY held its first public meeting, Tuesday evening. The Town Hall was full, and much to the credit of our young people, hundreds of whom were present, the best order prevailed. Addresses were made by the President, Rev. S. T. Aldrich, and in absence of Mr. Usher, by Rev. E. P. Thwing, who stated the objects and plan of the Association, and earnestly urged the claims of this reform upon the attention and co-operation of the public.

Most admirable singing was furnished by a quartette choir—Mrs. Philip Tirrell, soprano. Mrs. Quincy Tirrell, alto; Messrs. Harvey Field and S. A. Bates, bass and tenor, whose really beautiful voices, rendered the service at Lyceum Hall, Tuesday evening. Question for debate, which is the wiser course:

Moderate Drinking or Total Abstinence? Friends of temperance are invited.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE. We would call the attention of those in want of a good place to the advertisement in to-day's paper, which offers the John V. Clark Place for sale. The land is well located and very productive. There is also a good house, barn, and a choice variety of fruit trees. Those in want will do well to examine.

A CHANGE. We have had during the week several fine showers, which seem delightful, after so long a spell of dry weather. During Wednesday night there was some heavy thunder and sharp lightning. Rather late in the season for such demonstrations. The air the next day was chilly, and the following night was very cold.

A SUGGESTION. In case it should be deemed desirable that the several towns in the County should unite in the erection of a public monument to commemorate the deeds and devotion of those who fell in defence of our liberties in the recent struggle, it has been suggested by the County Commissioners that the "Fisher Ames' Lot," opposite the Court House, in Dedham, and now the property of the County, would furnish a site eminently adapted to this purpose.

MONUMENT IN BRIGHTON. The Committee appointed by the town of Brighton to erect a monument in commemoration of the soldiers' have selected a design which they propose to have executed in light colored Quincy granite, by Adam Vogel & Son. The design consists of a square base, two courses high, with smaller bases at each corner supporting cannon balls. Upon the base is placed a pyramidal plinth prepared for inscriptions and names on all sides. Above the plinth is a square shaft with moulded base and capital, upon the top of which is an eagle resting upon a ball. The d.e. of the shaft is decorated with a shield and flags.

INTERNAL REVENUE DECISION. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that the traveling agents of manufacturers and dealers, regarded as commercial brokers under the decision from August 1st, instead of May 1st thereby reducing the cost of the license for the current revenue from twenty dollars to fifteen dollars. The reason for this decision is that the construction of this law was made subsequent to the date of the annual license.

Snow fell for half an hour on Wednesday evening of last week, in Philadelphia.

For the Patriot.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 4.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, OCT. 11, 1865.

Prior to the Declaration of American Independence; anterior to the destruction of "Tea" in Boston Harbor, North Weymouth, ("Old Spain") combined in social position and wealth, the best and best of corporate Weymouth. Providence has showered natural privileges here with no stinted hand; in grandeur and magnificence, the scenery round about, would remind one of the approach to Lisbon—and in some respects, might be photographed at the same moment, with the High Lands of the far-famed Hudson. Skirted for miles north and west by the ocean, salt marshes as far as the eye can reach; rock weed in abundance for the farmer's manure; uplands of amazing fertility; farms which in some locations, might be mistaken for plantations, by reason of their breadth and extent—thus privileged and favored, we found this ancient Parish, more than a quarter of a century since—we became a voter. By the way, this "reminds us of a story."

On a bright, October afternoon, joined by other lads, in carriages, we left South Weymouth for a social Clam Chowder at North Weymouth—the "Neck"—arrived at low tide, procured our clams by digging; we hunched up on the beach, and found for us "Stew." Our sappers and miners reported the want of fuel—in order to make the "pot boil." The surroundings were surveyed—dry rails were espied some little distance from our marquee. We were detailed to head a squad and reconnoitre the upland fences; advanced the foregoing party some two hundred yards—found a goodly quantity of rails; was some fatigued in trenching them from posts; returning and in halting distance of our quarters, a terrific voice in our rear, "Hailo!" "Stop thief and put down my rails!" We cast a furtive glance back, found the "Old Harry" was nearing us rapidly; the figure seemed the Great Goliath magnified; we ordered our squad into "double quick," but our spoils hastened our doom. Trenches were up on our flank—and almost simultaneously Thick Boots played rapidly all around our lines! Throwing our rear, we lost our chosen spot—recoiled, our rails and chop lines, pushed for South Weymouth.

To this day, those thick boots of "Goliath" are fresh and green in our memory; and no lapse of time will entitle the proprietor of those "Thick Boots" to a seat in our Gallery. Now, regarding this early ending of a "bag blood," we will endeavor to give the old North an impartial touch. Two churches speak for their sobriety and morality; the extensive manufacturing establishments there of boots and shoes, vouch for the enterprise and industry of her sons; their daughters are those of the best of the best; the whole Old Colony route; the secret is, they are out much in the air—early—early are not afraid to spill their fingers in giving their mothers a lift,—although possessing pianos and skilled in music, they never "bag blood" will be their possessor worth their weight in gold.

Amongst many distinguished gentlemen here, there is one, who by energy and undoubted will, has made his mark; who scans his ground of operations, weighs consequences, and measures results with ability and quiet to the task; when he has deliberated and decided upon the right, the frowns of men, nor the glitter of gold cannot swerve him one iota from his honest convictions; one who possesses logical facilities of great analytical accuracy; who was but a moment ago, founded or abashed, when a few years since he opened his batteries in the people's behalf by a successful canvassing for the repeal of the odious charter, permitting Neponset Bridge Corporation to act the highwayman, by perpetual and undefined lands—defended by the most eloquent and ablest advocate, North County can boast of at the bar, one who has been honored by the Town with the best trusts within her gift; who, without any "silver spoon" boast, has, by hard work, keen foresight and years of toil, procured a ticket—a No. 1, in the financial market; who counts it not a reproach that he has been a shoe manufacturer; his grounds and estate residence tells the story—speaks success.

Our panorama being in motion, we appear—arm in arm, and with our best bow, introduce ELIAS S. BEALS, ESQ.

The Assessor of Internal Revenue in our Representative District. Officer Beals is a native of Weymouth; has seen forty-five years; is of medium height; trim built; commanding presence; somewhat a counterpart of Major General Nathaniel Banks, in part of look and elasticity of step; has a competent nose for politics; never turns the cold shoulder to the poor, the widow and fatherless; having secured the best Government office in this region, over a squadron of seedy politicians—his fitness is conceded, and his management and handling of official ribbons, no one would question, who ever observed him dashing so smoothly over the course.

Our Photographs will continue.

KEOUCHE.

THE GREAT SOLAR ECLIPSE. On Thursday the 13th inst., an annual eclipse of the sun will take place, which will be visible in several of the United States. An eclipse of this species is rather an uncommon phenomenon here. The last occurred more than eleven years ago.

Although an annual eclipse is devoid of those very striking phenomena which render a total eclipse such a sublime spectacle, it is nevertheless, one which attracts much attention, and is interesting, in a high degree, to astronomers.

We have only space for the calculations for Boston, where the eclipse is partial only. Eclipse begins, July, 12th, 49 G. A. M. Greatest obscuration, 10th, 46th, 55 5/8. Eclipse ends, Oct. 22nd, 00 08 P. M. Duration—3h. 13m. 11 1/2 s.

Boston Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

BOSTON, OCT. 11, 1865.

The Mechanic's Fair will close on the day of the publication of your paper, after a very successful operation of three weeks and three days. Next week we will give the total receipts of the same, and the number of visitors who have been entertained by it.

The nomination of N. P. Banks for Congress in the Sixth District, gives very general satisfaction. Considerable has been said about his eligibility for the office, but without effect. Mr. Banks is a citizen of Massachusetts, and a lover of his institutions, as he has ever been. Like a soldier, he has been to war, receiving appointments such as his abilities have fitted him, and returned to meet the congratulations of his friends. They know his worth, and mean that he shall be sustained. The interests of the working-class, will be protected in the hands of the "little iron man" of Massachusetts.

All the places of amusements in Boston are filled to overflowing. Besides those regularly established, we have numerous entertainments of temporary duration. Among them have been the Bateman Concerts, with Mlle. Parepa, as the leading performer, and the "little iron man" of Massachusetts. Everything the lady has attempted here, has been rendered in the style one would think was intended to be given by her eminent competitors. Then, too, the Cotton and Murphy minstrels have returned, for a brief stay, and are entertaining people in the parlors of the kind in Tremont Theatre. Maggie Mitchell is playing at the "Boston." She is very popular, as usual. Her engagement is for four weeks. Lon Morris's new theatre is rapidly progressing, at the South End, and though the brick work presents a rough appearance, it is supposed everything will be made smooth, so that the place will be "going" by New Year's. The Theatre Comique has been open two weeks. It is on the site of Andrew's Hall, and more anciently the Aquarial Gardens. The performances there are of a light character, but such as entertain "fashionable audiences." It is, perhaps, a matter of congratulation, that theatre building cannot keep pace with church-building in Boston, though the latter spirit had better be fostered, for it may die away, and lose its precedence. Two new churches are being erected at the South End—one Baptist and one Orthodox. Perhaps more houses are in meditation in the same direction.

M. C. A.

THE HANCOCK HOUSE. We learn that Wm. P. F. Meserve, "mine host" of the Hancock House in this town, is about to move to the Marlboro Hotel, Boston, which he leased some months since. His old friends and associates, by calling at this old and favorite house on Washington Street, will find Mr. Meserve always ready and pleased to welcome them.

A NEW HAIR DRESSING SALOON. We would call the attention of our citizens to the advertisement of Mr. Leighton in to-day's paper. Mr. L. is well known to our readers being an old residence here, and his skill with the razor and shears, is too well known to need any recommendation from us.

FREE MARKETS IN BOSTON. An adjourned public hearing was held on Tuesday evening last before a joint special Committee of the City Government to consider the expediency of establishing free markets for the sale of domestic supplies, outside of Quincy market. Citizens from South Boston, usually, occupied the attention of the committee, urging the general question of free markets for the entire city and advocating an application of the principle, by way of experiment and beginning, to South Boston, where land has already been given to the city for this precise purpose.

Some of the speakers contended earnestly against the Quincy Market as a monstrous monopoly, standing between consumers and producers, and operating under a system through which consumers had to pay two three, and four profits, amounting on the average to 100 per cent. over the first cost, before the article required reached their hands. One speaker insisted that, under this system, the people of the city were being robbed of the pockets of the few, and the bread bought at Brighton at from eight to fourteen cents per pound, is burdened with an enormous advance before it reaches the consumers, entirely disproportionate to any fair or reasonable scale of profits. The middle classes who are the majority, could not afford to pay such prices.

EARTHQUAKE IN CALIFORNIA. We have accounts of severe shocks of earthquake in California, on Sunday last. At San Francisco the shock was felt about a quarter past one o'clock P. M. The people were greatly terrified, and most of them ran out of their houses into the streets. During half a minute there were two tremendous shocks, which caused buildings to rock and to fall in a manner altogether alarming. Services were over in most of the churches.

The City Hall bell commenced tolling on account of the vibrations of the tower, and the interior walls of the building were much broken up.

The ground along the river opened in fissures and spouted water like geysers. The people are unable to use most of the wells, which are either dry or filled with sand. The tide rose very high at the time of the shock and fell very low immediately afterwards. Ten or eleven distinct shocks were felt. The losses are estimated at $10,000. Brief accounts from Sacramento, Stockton and San Jose represent the shock as the severest ever felt in those cities. It was not felt at Marysville nor at Placerville, but the town of Santa Cruz felt it very severely, some of the brick buildings suffering much damage, and two being destroyed.

The President has ordered the war department to reduce the army immediately to a peace footing.

CHANGE IN THE HOUR OF SERVICES.

The Universalist Society of this place, voted on Sunday last, to appropriate the hour of the morning ordinarily occupied for religious services, to the interests and improvements of their Sunday School. The Pastor is to have charge of a Bible Class, and contribute to the general interests of the School as opportunity offers.

We understand that there will be preaching as before at two and one half o'clock, and that the course of Lectures that Mr. Aldrich is now delivering will be transferred to evening.

A GOOD EXAMPLE. At the close of the Temperance meeting, Tuesday evening, although no invitation had been given to sign the pledge, we saw with pleasure a file of young men, of most intelligent and gentlemanly appearance, go to the platform and ask the privilege of enrolling themselves as members. How much better prevention is than cure. Although joining a society is not all that is necessary, it does much towards fortifying one against the perils of intemperance.

CORRECTION. In the hurry of publication, a few errors crept into the poetry to J. E. A. on our first page. In the second verse, 21 line, "the" should read "thee." In the third verse, instead of "Oh" read "Ah me!" In the fourth verse first line insert "health" before hue. In the last verse first line change "our" to "on."

MECHANIC'S FAIR closes this evening, and those who have not visited it should go to-day. In our report last week we should have mentioned the name of the manufacturer of the Champion Force Pump, Albert L. Rice, 18 Devonshire street. We have seen one work in Quincy and honestly believe it to be "a great squirt."

Our readers will do well to notice the advertisement of the Messrs. Reed, in to-day's paper. They have a good stock of boots and shoes, dry and fancy goods, etc.

LIFE AND SPEECHES OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN. This is regarded as the most full and trustworthy biography of Mr. Lincoln of any yet published; it being the only work for which he himself furnished all material facts of his early life, and one which was written as it were under his eye, by Hon. T. H. Barrett, personally and professionally connected with him. A large, fine steel portrait and thirteen other engravings embellish the volume. An agent is to visit this town. Others may find lucrative employment of the general agent, 20 Tremont street.

CURTIS'S HEAD-QUARTERS OF FASHIONS. A perusal of Curtis's advertisement in another column will benefit our readers in pocket as well as in mind. They are sure of getting Good Boots—as well as those which keep the feet dry and warm. Our advice is, try a pair of Curtis's Boots and you will buy no other.

THANKSGIVING DAY. Governor Andrew, with the advice of the Council, has appointed Thursday, the 30th of November as a day of thanksgiving and praise by the people of this Commonwealth.

EAST NORFOLK. On Monday at Brain tree, the republicans of the East Norfolk District nominated Honorable E. C. Monk, of Stoughton, as candidate for the Senate for this District.

A NEW YORK HOTEL. Hiram Cranston of the New York Hotel, has purchased the ground for a new hotel, opposite the Fifth Avenue entrance to the Central Park. The building will probably, it is said, excel any hotel building in this country or in Europe in magnitude and in extent of its dimensions. It is proposed to expend about two million dollars, including the price paid for the land.

Government is paying the interest on its gold bearing stock that is not due until November.

Marriages.

a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office

Quincy, March, 11New Skirt For 1865-6.
The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS.J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elliptic (or Double) Spring Skirt.THIS INVENTION Consists of Duplex
(or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and
firmly together, edge to edge, making the skirt, most flexible, elastic and durable
spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect shape and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced by all who have ever used Assembly, Opera, Carriage, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, or Promen-
ade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded up in one to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort
and great convenience of wearing the Duplex
Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day
will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as the single iron covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every skirt are also Double Steel and
twice or double covered to prevent the
covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c. &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.All are made of the new and elegantly corded tapes, and are the best quality in every part,
giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect
shape possible, and are unquestionably the light-
est, most desirable, comfortable and economical
Skirt ever made.WEST'S, BRADLEY & CAREY, Proprietors

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Oct. 21st, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

MR. EBENEZER FORD. The decease of this our worthy townsman, was sudden and somewhat remarkable in its circumstances.
Since his removal to North Quincy he has been depressed, and after his father's death—ten days before his own—he showed signs of insanity. Early last week acute mania developed itself in paroxysms, increasing in intensity, with brief lucid intervals, till Monday evening, when he died.

As the result of an autopsy performed by Doctors Gilbert and Fife, it was ascertained that the brain was diseased, and indications which showed that, if life had been prolonged,
the insanity would have been incurable.
The strictly abstemious habits of the deceased,
and his uniform gentle and easy temperance,
make the origin of the disease the more mysterious. A widow and four children mourn his sudden departure. Public services were held at the Hancock Street Church, and the remains were interred at the Mount Wollas-ton Cemetery.

TEMPERANCE MEETING. Lyceum Hall was again filled to overflowing Tuesday evening. Vice President Elbridge Clapp presided. Total Abstinence versus Moderate Drinking was the theme of a spicy discussion,
in which Old and Young Americans participated. Adjourned for two weeks, to meet in the upper hall. A "License Law" is to be the theme of debate. About one hundred are now enrolled as members of this Society.

COUNTY NOMINATIONS. At the Norfolk County Republican Convention held at Dedham, on Thursday last, the following nominations were made:—

For Sheriff—John W. Thomas, of Dedham.
County Commissioner—David H. Bates, of Bainbridge.

Special Commissioner—Otis Cary, of Foxboro, and Amos H. Holbrook, of Bellingham.

Commissioner of Insolvency—Charles L.
Swan, of Stoughton; Charles H. Dean, of Medway; John W. May, of Roxbury.

Attorney for the South Eastern District—
Benjamin W. Harris, of East Bridgewater.

BOUND FOR NEW JERSEY. Mr. Caleb
Packard and family left this place on Thursday last for Vineland, (N. J.) where he thinks of trying his skill in farming. It is undoubtedly a fine agricultural country; where peaches, grapes, sweet potatoes, &c., grow in abundance. May his new home meet his expectations.

PURCHASED AT PRIVATE SALE. We learn that Henry H. Faxon, Esq., has purchased the estate, lately owned by Mr. Caleb Packard, on Hancock street.

GUNNING WITH PLEASURE. We learn that Messrs. John and Thomas Curtis killed thirty-seven coots one day recently at Nantasket. This is probably the largest number that has been killed in any one day by our gunners for a long time. Our friends no doubt enjoyed the sport, and would willingly devote a day occasionally to the business, provided they could meet with similar success.

A TALL TOMATO PLANT. We noticed in the garden of Mr. Charles L. Pierce in this town, a few days since, a tomato plant which had been trained on a trellis to the height of nine or ten feet. At first thought one would hardly believe it would grow to such height, especially such a dry season as we have had, but such are the facts.

SCHOONER BURNED. The schooner Joseph Fish, Capt. Hall, from Philadelphia with 1200 barrels of oil was run into by the bark Schanley, from New Orleans for Boston, while lying at anchor in Nantasket Roads, on Sunday morning last.

The schooner immediately took fire from the upsetting of a stove, and was totally destroyed. The burning of the oil made a very bright light throughout the day and part of the evening, and attracted the attention of many of our citizens.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. A man named Chesley was knocked off a car by coming in contact with a bridge, near the Atlantic station in this town, on Saturday last. He was so badly injured that it was thought best to carry him to the Massachusetts Hospital, where he soon after died.

NEW PATHE'S HILL ROAD. We learn that the Selectmen have decided to accept the proposal of Mr. Maurice Sherman, for building that part of the new road located in Quincy, for the sum of $6,400.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 5.

SOUTH WYOMOUTH, OCT. 18, 1865.

Bordering on Weymouth, behold, in her Puritan dignity, the beautiful town of Brain-tree! Whose ancient land-marks were so profusely generous and ample, as to impress succeeding generations with unwarranted pride of their Fathers; inasmuch as in the Seventeenth Century, an enormous junk of her territory—east and west—was chopped off to constitute the spruce town of Randolph;
now so inviting to the eye and dense in population. Again, in evident horror of her continuous chain of granite ledges, upon her northwestern slope, Braintree underwent amputation—executed a quid dam of hill and dale—a few miles—"be the same more or less;" embracing in the grant the picturesque and charming sea shore tract which constitutes the town of Quincy; whose population seem so metropolitan, and her main avenues appear so city-like. Now, notwithstanding the severance of more than two-thirds of her ancestral body, old Braintree, in her "pent up Ulica," has elbow room of adequate capacity to manage affairs on a business scale. Her merchants are entitled to a front seat—"here or elsewhere." Her south and west villages are stocked with a people, who understand the true proverb, "Physician, first heal thyself," as applied to political engineers—better and clearer, than any town in Norfolk County. We never undertook to lecture and enlighten, on the heel of a November campaign. To "pull wool," (in political parlance) in Braintree, is "contraband of war"—a failure inevitably; the "marines" may be pulled,
but voters in this ancient precinct, are unwillingly well looked on the abstract principles of common law; can pass sentence on an anti-war Democrat, with less compunction of conscience, and as off hand sang frail, as Prince John Van Buren would tune up a Free-Soil meeting, then pose on his Democratic chorus. We cannot divine why it is,
but the voters of this Town are proverbially shy of Democracy; they seem to pronounce the article self-destructive; perfume it as you will, you can't get an invoice in sideways;
the compound in that region won't "sell."

Among the numerous troop of business men here, there is a gentleman who looms up in our imagination—whose record needs only an exhibit to command esteem, who graduated from South Weymouth, some quarter of a century since, carrying the entire good will of his fellows; accompanied, in matrimonial bonds, by one of our most accomplished, refined, and estimable daughters;
a merchant, who has for some thirty years,
witnessed panics and convulsions; shattered fines and stringent markets, and never been cornered, pruned or embarrassed in his field of operations. While other business men have been tossed and wrecked by the vicissitudes of financial storms,—he, like the stately oak, stood firm and defiant, intrenched in self-reliance caution, and fortified in his well-invested means.

Those in favor of the curtain rising, will say aye! The vote is unanimous. We now have the honor to introduce

EDWARD POTTER, ESQ.

The gentleman in review, is a native of Massachusetts—born, we understand, in St.
Eliot, Essex County. Should think he must be quite fifty-two years on probation; in stature, not far from six feet; in person, he would class between the classic and corpulent forms;
stands erect; and not yet old enough to appreciate the utility of eye-glasses; for general outlines and more specific description, with due reverence, we would refer your readers to the dignified and stately portrait, extant, of the late Hon. Edward Everett.
Square Potter is a gentleman of the "Old School" pattern; frank and affable to friends;
kind to all who approach; with polished
address, he unites blandness of expression and urbanity of manners; has represented Braintree in the Legislature; been placed foremost in her municipal honors; when the Braintree Light Infantry was organized,
Edward Potter was, with a unanimous voice, elected Captain; served as Adjutant of the Fourth Regiment under Colonel Charles H.
French, of Canton. Within a few years past, Square Potter, with abundant earnings, seems to have copied the New York style—of removing from "down Broadway" up into the region of "Fifth Avenue,"—as may be more fully set forth in his new, stately structure—with French roof, swell-front windows, and princely surroundings, at North Braintree.
Our Photographs will continue.

KEOKUCK.

An Annual Protest.

QUINCY, OCT. 16TH, 1865.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

It is with feelings of sadness that I am obliged, year after year, to protest against paying the National and State taxes; for a portion of it, such as is appropriated for educational, and other purposes tending to enlighten and elevate the people, I am not only willing, but desirous to pay; but to provide means to shoot down our brother men, whether in Quincy, Alabama, Ireland or Japan, demands my solemn protest. May heaven hasten the hour when wars and rumors of wars shall cease. When the galleys shall sink into the past. When man shall be willing to suffer an injury, rather than commit one.
When rather than take another's life, he shall sacrifice his own; for such are the demands of Christianity. God speed the hour when the Constitution, (both State and United States) shall be so amended that nothing pertaining to militia or war shall blot its sheet longer with barbarism. The nation believes in two forms of Christianity; one, in times of peace and quiet, is founded on Christ and His crucifix—the other, in times of trouble, rests on an eleven-inch rifle, with powder and ball to fit. When the masses learn the fact that "non-resistance," or pure Christianity, is not only the highest, but the safest means of defence, then will money cease to be appropriated for military purposes, and tax payers relieved from further protests.

Boston Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

BOSTON, OCT. 19, 1865.

This week was ushered in with blessed showers of rain. It must have been acceptable to persons who read with perverted tastes shocking paragraphs as they appear in some of our Sunday papers, and which torus their meditation through the day. In the evening of Sunday, the Boston theatre was opened for a "sacred" concert. The Tremont Theatre was open for preaching by Rev.
Mr. Gaylord. From a verbal account of the meeting, we judge the speaker to be a gay specimen of the reverend persuasion. He was cheered by stamping of feet and clapping of hands.

The Music Hall was opened on Sunday evening for a performance by the Handel and Haydn Society, of "Cristina," assisted by Mlle. Patena as soloist. It was stormy, but the Hall was full. With our attachment to this Society, we must dissent from its policy in giving Sunday performances. The specimen of the reverend persuasion, though the cheering by stamping of feet and clapping of hands.

Herman, the musician, is giving a series of exhibitions at Music Hall. Harper's Weekly says:

"He steps into the midst of the audience with the utmost nonchalance, shakes his coat tails, exhibits his empty pockets, strikes his arms violently together, and then drawing a handkerchief over his outstretched arm makes appear miraculously a fragile glass vessel, brimful of water and gold fish—real and genuine articles. The hat trick, in which he extracts from one gentleman's hat more hoop skirts, live rabbits, goblets and lighted lanterns, than city hats could possibly hold, and making a cage full of canaries disappear from the stage and appear instantaneously in the parquet, is pronounced more like magic than sight of hand, and the modus operandi utterly incomprehensible as well as marvellous."

The receipts of the late Mechanic's Exhibition, from the sale of tickets, amounted to forty thousand dollars.

It has been said that the new theatre is to be called "Continental." Already a saloon has been established in its immediate vicinity, which bears the same title.

A rose by any other name, would smell as sweet in Cambridge, something of the horrible meets the eye. A returned soldier is shot by another soldier, who confesses the murder.

This was committed on Saturday evening last, by Charles L. Everett, the person of Daniel Garry, at the door of his father's, where a party was going on. The wound was in the head, of which he died the next morning.

For the Patriot.

Attendance at our Public Schools.

Much scandal having been set afloat in this community concerning the wanton exercise of arbitrary power by those who have the management of our schools, it is time for some one to speak, and to speak unflinchingly upon this subject. No competent business man will deny the importance of punctuality. And yet we have those among us, who embrace every opportunity to censure and scandalize our School Committee for using the very best means to inculcate the importance of this principle in the minds of our children. Let any one, who doubts the necessity of using the most stringent measures to secure punctual attendance at the schools of this town, examine the record for the past summer term. He will be astounded, and admit that no business house in the world,
could stand six months on such a basis of negligence. And does not the same principle apply to schools? Are not the young people forming habits, either of punctuality or neglect? The trouble is, that parents do not properly consider this matter; they look too much at the present and not to the future.

If they could be convinced that each recitation in Grammar is worth just a half-cent, in Geography six and one fourth cents, and in Arithmetic ten cents in scrip, thus giving the precise current, running up through all the percentages, perhaps they might be induced, for the sake of a few paltry dollars,
to keep their children regularly at school.
Weighing this subject carefully and judiciously, the Committee saw the necessity of making a law in regard to the attendance of scholars. Their idea was not to expel any one from the schools—not can their rule be construed as meaning any thing of the kind.
Convinced that children were kept at home
for trivial causes, and frequently at their own request, they judged that by subjecting the absentee to some little inconvenience in going to the sub-committee to be excused,
they would at least succeed in breaking up unexcused absence. The result has proved the wisdom of their decision; and attendance at our schools was never better. It was an experiment, and perhaps may be modified so far as it has reference to the time of absence—allowed. But what judicious parent looking for the welfare of his child, will not cooperate in all wholesome measures to secure the formation of correct habits? The injury accruing from the opposition of parents to those whom they employ to take charge of the education of their children is incalculable.
Let us look well to the interests of the rising generation, and not give way to personal feeling and rashness. More anon.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION. The Democracy of the East Norfolk Senatorial Convention District—composed of the towns of Weymouth, Braintree, Randolph, Stoughton, Milton and Quincy, held a Delegate Convention in the Town Hall, in this place, on Thursday last. The Convention was called to order by L. H. Lord, of Weymouth; and on motion of Mr. Cahill, Dr. Wm. S. Pattee was elected Chairman, and Francis Jones, Secretary.

The Convention nominated by acclamation
Francis Jones, Esq., of Stoughton, as Senator.
A committee of three, consisting of Messrs.
Pattee of Quincy, Jones of Stoughton, and Lord of Weymouth, was appointed to draft and report resolutions expressive of the Convention, who reported the following

Resolved, That we heartily and cordially endorse and approve of the reconstruction policy of President Johnson.

Resolved, That we are in favor of equalization of the bounties of the veteran soldiers of 1861 and 1862.

Resolved, That we think it the imperative duty of Congress to pass a law for the purpose of equal taxation.

Resolved, Whereas the present statute law in regard to the sale of intoxicating drinks has been acknowledged a failure; and believing that all prohibitory laws are injurious to the welfare of the community and anti-democratic, therefore we are in favor of a judicious license law for the better promotion of temperance and preservation of good order in society.

A NOVELTY. On Thursday last, some of our citizens had their curiosity excited by seeing a new steam carriage passing through our streets at a rapid rate. On inquiry we learned that it could be propelled at the rate of fifteen miles per hour. It was built by Mr. W. W. Austin, of Boston, and will run with ease on any of the public roads; can be stopped easily, turn sharp corners, go up hill or down. It had the appearance in front of a four wheel buggy without any shafts,
and would carry two persons.

THE LADY'S FRIEND. "Grandma's Portrait" is the title of a very taking Steel Engraving in the November number of this favorite monthly. It is a household scene, and one of the youngest is drawing Grandma's picture on the wall. The double colored steel Fashion Plate is as usual superb. "Love versus Flirtation" is the title of the next engraving, which illustrates an interesting story of the same name.

The Prospectus of this magazine for next year embraces a splendid list of contributors.

SECRET POTATOES. We were made the recipient on Wednesday last, of some sweet potatoes, raised at Vineland, New Jersey, by our former townsman, Mr. Albert Holt. They were the largest we ever saw and we had the curiosity to weigh two of them, which turned the scales at three and a quarter pounds.

DIVORCE GRANTED. In the Supreme Judicial Court on the 31st inst., Abigail J. Ken-son of this town, was divorced from George W. Kenison: libel for desertion.

A choice lot of new, beautiful Prayer
Books, have been received by Campbell, 18

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRI-
TORS OF THE CELEBRATED

MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded
from the real wood, from which is impressed
a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface
a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at so low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

HELP THE POOR. We are informed that a course of social dances will be held at the Town Hall, for the benefit of the Charitable Societies in this town, and that Henry H. Faxon, Esq., has contributed three hundred and fifty dollars to pay the expenses. We hope they will be well patronized, for they are for a worthy purpose, and the Charitable Societies are much in need of funds at the present time.

THE NEW ROAD. We learn that the proposal of John Q. A. Field, of this town, to build that part of the new Payne's Hill road, lying in Braintree, at thirty dollars per rod, has been accepted by the Selectmen of Braintree.

ACCIDENT. We are informed that the schooner Major Deering, of Bangor, Maine, run into the pier at the Quincy Point bridge, on Wednesday last, and damaged it to the amount of $300.

PERFUMERY. It is with pleasure that we call the attention of our friends to the choice assortment of good things now offered by Mr. Emerson, our favorite hair dresser, near the Stone Temple. He now invites the attention of our readers to his perfumery which are truly excellent. Those who may need his professional skill with the razor or their hair neatly and tastefully dressed will find him ever ready to accommodate them. His skill at the business need no recommendation from us—his past labors testify for themselves.

PURCHASED. The estate of D. F. Arnold on Payne's Hill was sold at auction, on Thursday last, for the sum of $1537. Henry H. Faxon, Esq., was the purchaser. He afterwards sold the property to Mr. John Curtis, at a handsome advance.

WOOD AT AUCTION. A lot of red cedar and pine wood is to be sold this afternoon in Veazie's Common. Those in want will do well to attend the sale. See advertisement.

A GOOD JOKE. We learn that the ladies of the Soldiers' Aid Society, of Chicopee, thinking that now the war is over, no battle scarred hero, no lonely widow, no orphan children can possibly stand in further need of their aid, and having some funds on hand, have magnanimously presented to one of their most zealous members a valuable testimonial of respect in the shape of a "SILVER CUP." Thus are funds, collected for a noble purpose, disposed of in a manner to meet the wishes of the donors. We hope other societies will follow their noble example. Vive la hainburg.

FIRE. On Wednesday morning last, a small house belonging to Mr. Patrick Donovan in "Dublin," was destroyed by fire. It was insured by the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company for $150.

NEW FALL GOODS. We would call the attention of our lady readers to the new fall stock of mourning goods now opening at 20 Winter street, Boston. The stock of goods now offered at this establishment are second to none in the city. The ladies of Quincy and vicinity will do well to give them a call.

OUR DEBT. The highest financial authority in England, in an article upon Dr. Ellis' statement of the debt and resources of the United States, frankly admits that the data are irrefragable, and candidly concludes that the United States are in better condition to-day with their public debt than Great Britain was in the year 1816. The London Times continues its wickedness and folly upon the topic, but the financial and statistical authorities of England have at last acknowledged the corn, and the only trouble they see in our affairs is re-construction, and even on this point the London Economist admits that the Americans have a way of blundering through their difficulties that is astonishing.

The Editor of the Canfield Ohio Herald says: "WHEATON'S ITCH OINTMENT. It has been said to 'get the itch' is no disgrace, but it is disgraceful to keep it." No one need have the itch forty-eight hours if they will use 'Wheaton's Ointment,' for it is a SURE CURE! We saw it tried on the persons of several children and adults a few weeks since, and the itching at once ceased, and in two days not an irritation was visible. It is effective in removing pimples, blotches and especially old sores. We used the Ointment on one of our own children, and the effect was magical. The itch, which has been so prevalent about here, has not yielded to the usual remedies for this complaint, and we are glad that a remedy has been discovered that is so effective and yet so cheap. Read the advertisement."

BONE, MUSCLE AND FLESH OF MASSACHUSETTS. There were 23,000 persons weighed at the late fair in Quincy and Faneuil Halls. The men averaged 141 1/2 lbs., the women, 124 1/4 lbs. The largest man weighed 293; largest woman 274 1/2.

THANKSGIVING IN RHODE ISLAND. Governor Smith, of Rhode Island has appointed Thursday, Nov. 30, as a day of thanksgiving in that State.

For the Patriot.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 6.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, OCT. 25, 1865.

As landscape scenery to our Pictures, we submit a colloquy between a Politician and a veteran, returned soldier—verbal, as it oscillated through our ears recently.

Politician. President Johnson seems to be ignoring the vital question—negro suffrage.

Soldier. You'd fared no better with Old Abe.

Pol. Well, our President is becoming rather Southroning.

Sol. He has knotty questions and tough customers; those unadvised rebels are only in speech; excel Saul of Tarsus in the gift of gab—by thunder! What a pity Major General Butler had not jurisdiction of their trousers and the fixing of their jockets.

Pol. I infer you belong to the State Veterans Soldiers' Association?

Sol. I reckon so.

Pol. Capital organization; no trimming in politics contemplated.

Sol. What are you driving at?

Pol. Simply a curiosity to know if there is a semblance of truth in the rumor, that our heroic veterans, who voted union during the war, can now be gobbled up by Democratic managers?

Sol. When I enlisted, you was "Bell and Everett."

Pol. True, old party names vanished as the struggle assumed magnitude; the contingency caused loyal hearts to merge into a union party.

Sol. That's the talk; our motto precisely.

Pol. In the coming Fall election, I apprehend the Republicans will roll up such a majority in Massachusetts, as to admonish the Democrats that they are no more.

Sol. We, soldiers, prefer powder to gas; actions to smoke; rebel prisons, pitched battle and shattered limbs, are our test for union men.

Pol. Certainly: I was only suggesting you brave fellows might be misled; please notice the absence of Freedmen's right to suffrage, in Democratic Resolutions.

Sol. Fudge on your over-doses for the poor negro; make that an issue for Republicanism and you are doomed; can't cram it down in Connecticut; New York would sneeze at its bare mention; if you want a rich vomit from Ohio, try them with your alabaster box of precious colored chemicals.

Pol. Rather tender on the great question of the day.

Sol. Thought "emancipation" alone, was once deemed "sound on the goose?"

Pol. Our party is progressive.

Sol. So was ours through the "Wilderness."

Pol. Quite apparent you will take on the Couch bait.

Sol. Major General Couch was our Corps Commander.

Pol. But a successful General may not be competent for high civil trusts.

Sol. As an old Wing, you ought to blush; who trotted out General Harrison—tried to galvanize General Scott into the Presidential Chair, and thought old "Buena-Vista"—General Taylor—better fitted for President than Webster or Henry Clay?

Pol. You are for General Couch's nomination.

Sol. But your life on that!

Pol. Seen their Platform and Resolves.

Sol. The Boston Herald had them; they endorsed President Johnson; had they the same; they Resolved in favor of Workmen and Equalization of Soldiers' Bounties—you don't.

Pol. We all recognize the amazing debt of gratitude due our valiant soldiers.

Sol. Your cold shoulder to our applications last winter, at the State House, compelled us to renew the charge under tried Generals.

Pol. The "Equalization of Bounties" was not mooted in the previous Fall elections; besides, your thirty or more regiments would call for such an enormous expenditure, that our tax payers could stand against.

Sol. Fine time to argue, after we have piled up, as security to the National bonds, on battle field, the bones of more than an hundred thousand of mother's sons and darling brothers; better pause on your Hoozee Tunnel, and mete out even justice to those who have periled life and limb to secure the over-abundance of Northern wealth.

Pol. Realizing our belated climate and tropical latitude, we halt at our bazaar and slight from the omnibus, having as our guest, a young man, the smartest of his inches in Norfolk County; who has capacity and tact sufficient to control circumstances; is engaged in jurisprudence; as attorney-at-law, knows how to address juries—keeps them spell-bound; and if there are any persons holes in his opponent's testimony, makes it appear that such parties would quite likely entertain "wharf rats;" never plays upon the credulity of witnesses, in order to provoke the approving grin of the third tier appendages of the bar; whose speciality, as an advocate, is in the Insolvent Court; where the law grants free tickets of health, to the honest debtor; but if disposed to try his wit, by crooked management, unexplained assets, and an attempt to lure his friends preponderating liars, he will find a lawyer, whose avalanche of cross-questioning is pointed and ponderous enough to shake the fraudulent hand, and expose the coveted treasure. In drafting Resolutions for State occasions, he excels all the Schemers of the Wigwag, in conciseness of diction, affluence of words, condensation of ideas, and polished periods. We now introduce

EDWARD AVERY, ESQ., of Braintree. President of the late Democratic State Convention; in stature, compared with Governor Andrew, would gain the margin of an inch; in person, trim and plump, reminding one of M. A. Thiers, late Premier of France, under Louis Philippe, as seen prior to the coup d'etat of Napoleon the III.—or to Americanize, recall the eagle eye, Saxon lip and Roman expression of that ruffled cannon of Orthodoxy, the late Rev. Nathaniel Emmons, D. D. of Franklin; his professional success, attests industry and availability of ready talent; his Internal Revenue income, of some $5000, shows that clients are plenty and his fortune probable. Edward has a large heart and generous soul; if the "kid-glove" gentry count upon him, they reckon without their host.

Marriage Certificates.

TOWN CLERK'S OFFICE, QUINCY, MASSACHUSETTS.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

In reference to the Stamp duty on the document issued by town and city Clerks, known as the "Certificate of Marriage," which has almost uniformly been considered as requiring one or two five cent stamps, the following decision has been received, which I furnish you for publication for the benefit of whom it may concern. Yours,

GEORGE L. GILL, Town Clerk.

Treasury Department, Office of Internal Revenue.

WASHINGTON, OCT. 24, 1865.

Sir: "Your letter of the 26th ultimo enclosing a Certificate of Marriage, and enquiring to what stamp duty it is subjected is received."

"It has been held that a Certificate of Marriage given by the officiating clergyman or magistrate to the parties is subject to a stamp duty of five cents."

"The instrument enclosed by you is not designed for the parties, but is required by the laws of this State for the use of the town Clerk in completing his records. I am of the opinion that neither of the Certificates thereon is subject to stamp duty." Very respectfully,

E. A. ROLLINS, Deputy Commissioner.

George L. Gill, Esq., Town Clerk, Quincy, Massachusetts.

Our Public Schools.

DEAR PATRIOT: I see by a communication in your last issue, that school matters are beginning to attract the attention of the people of Quincy. It is time they should, and your Correspondent desires our thanks for bringing the subject up. I hope he will thoroughly sift school matters before he closes. He says that scandal is abroad about these affairs. Who gives scandal?—the Committee, or the community? He speaks feelingly of the lack of punctuality in attendance; this is an evil, but does not the action of the Committee increase it tenfold? The Committee seem to think that they are beyond public control and responsibility, and of course can do no wrong—there are two opinions on this subject. Last Spring they abolished the Districts by proclamation, in order to get rid of an obnoxious officer in the South District; in consequence of their action the schools in that District are in a state of utter confusion since. Pro Bono Publico speaks like a business man; how long does he think a business house could stand if they changed their place of business, and all their clerks once a week? Six months would be a wonderful life for such a firm. He estimates the loss of a lesson at ten cents; will he be good enough to calculate the loss in dollars and cents to the children for the many lessons they have lost from the absence of teachers, and negligence or incompetency of the Committee. Perhaps he would like us with information as to how many times teachers and schools have been changed in the South District this year. I mean what used to be the South District, in olden times, when men, composing a School committee, felt that they had duties to perform for which they would have to account—and considered that a week was the shortest term for which a teacher ought to be engaged.

The people of Quincy seem to think any body good enough for the office of School Committee; forgetting that it is really the most important office in town affairs—and requires above all others, sensible, judicious men, who know the wants of children, and can provide for them; not dreaming there are those who neither understand the children nor themselves. PUBLIC.

MAY BE TAXED. The Court of Appeals in New York have decided that National Bank shares are liable to taxation.

GOREY'S LADY'S BOOK. The November issue of this favorite monthly has been received. It contains a superb line engraving, entitled "Country School." Its literary contributions are better adapted to ladies' tastes, than any other periodical. The colored fashion plates of each number are alone well worth the price of subscription.

SAVE YOUR OLD PAPER. Old bits of newspapers are now worth six cents per pound, and there is a great scarcity of all kinds of paper stock. News paper has gone up from 17 to 25 cents per pound within a short time. There is not a family, probably, but what waste more paper stock than would pay for their papers.

"Hope for all invalids," is held out by Dr. Uriah Clark, 18 Chancery street, Boston, Mass., as will be seen by his advertisement in our column of "new advertisements." According to his circular, he promises to cure all curable diseases, without medicine, and he publishes a long list of remarkable cures.

Marriages.

New Skirt For 1865-6.
The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS,
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elliptic (or Double) Spring Skirt.

THIS INVENTION Consists of Duplex
(or two) Elliptic Spring Refining Steel springs, ingeniously braided tightly and
firmly together, edge to edge, making the
toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable spring ever used. These springs are bent or broken, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt, has been experienced generally in all crowded Assemblies, Churches, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars,
Church Pews, Arm Chairs, or Promen-
ade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort
and great convenience of wearing the Duplex
Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day
will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double
twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as
the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rows on every skirt are also Double Steel and twice or double covered to prevent the
covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c., &c., which
they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly corded
tapes, and are the best quality in every part,
giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect
shape possible, and are unquestionably the light-
est, most desirable, comfortable and economical
Skirt ever made.

PACIFIC HOTEL,
170, 172, 174-176, Greenwich St.,
(ONE SQUARE WEST OF BROADWAY.)
Between Courtlandt and Day Streets,
NEW YORK.

JOHN PATTEN, Jr., Proprietor
THE Pacific Hotel, is well and widely known to the travelling public. The location is especially suitable to merchants and business men; it is a close proximity to the business part of the City—is on the highway of Southern and Western travel—and adjacent to all the principal Railroad and Steamboat depots.

The Pacific has liberal accommodation for over 300 guests; it is well furnished, and possesses
every modern improvement for the comfort and entertainment of its inmates. The rooms are spacious and well ventilated; provided with gas
and water; the attendance is prompt and respectful; and the table is generously provided
with every delicacy of the season.

The subscriber, who, for the past few years, has been the lessee, is now sole proprietor, and intends to identify himself thoroughly with the interests of his house. With long experience as a hotel keeper, he trusts, by moderate charges
and a liberal policy, to maintain the favorable
reputation of the Pacific Hotel.

N. B. To prevent overcharge by Hackmen, the coaches of the Hotel are owned by the proprietor.

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A
Family Sewing Machine
Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.
It is beyond doubt the
BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing
Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful
appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding,
Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No
other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable,
and most durable, and most certain in action
at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known.
Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity,
can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine
is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine
when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest
woods, are finished in the simplest and chast-est manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb
manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family
sewing as our Manufacturing machines are
for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

Send for a PAMPHLET.

I am acquainted with H. T. Heimbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and
was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character
and enterprise.

Wm. WEGITMAN,
(Firm of Trower & Wigham.)
Manufacturing Chemist
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H.
T. Heimbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 28 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his enterprise. He remains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also modest establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although adventured, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,
And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription,
much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT
To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE
PURE and MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.
Health is most important; and the afflicted
should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or unless they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

Commissioners' Notice.

NORFOLK SS. By the County Commissioners. At a meeting of said Commissioners held at Dedham this fourth Tuesday of September, A. D. 1865.

UPON the petition of Isaac Reed, Jr., and others, representing that the public convenience and necessity require that the portion of highway known as Commercial St., lying between its junction with High Street, and the Eastern line of the town of Weymouth, should be widened and straightened. Also, that the portion of Pleasant Street lying between Jackson, Lyman and Water Streets. Also, the whole of High Street, should be straightened and widened, as set forth in said petition, all said highways, being in Weymouth. (Notice having been first given to all persons and corporations interested.) said Commissioners met at Wale's Hotel, in Weymouth, on the 11th day of August, at 10 o'clock A. M., and said case was thence continued and adjourned to the date hereof, and having viewed the premises, and heard all persons and corporations interested, said Commissioners adjudge that the public convenience and necessity require that said highways should be straightened and widened, and that alterations should be made therein.

MACHINE GRAINED
Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in this line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grain are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsomer and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Autumn.

The soldier-tune was the fern,
The swallow-chase the plumed pond,
And fairly shines the sky beyond
The red-tiled farm-house and the barn.
The hay is strewn about the field;
The maiden rushes bend with life;
The bended corn falls to the knife;
The country hath a golden yield.

And down the vale the yellow sheaves
Are pleasant to the poet's eye;
And underneath the heaven-bent sky
I see the plenty earth conceals.

The hedge-rows have a look of care;
The blackberries have made their nest
On the brambles they love best;
The tawny nuts swing here and there.

The ladder-brush hath made
A ladder of the spiked boughs,
And scattered drops around his throws,
Where late the deep blue eggs were laid.

And greener berries hang he'er,
So like the polished ones we eat,
As tempting oft as friends who cheat,
Yet welcomed most into our door.

The cattle lounge upon the grass;
The milk-maid, with her sparkling pail,
Is laughing at the farm-bird's tale—
A blithe, a blithe, a bonny tale.

And by the trellised orchard-wall
The lingering fruit is perched high,
Attracting of the school-boy's eye,
So prone to truant, top and bill.

The elm tree hath a russet tint;
The poplar leaves are pecked with rust;
They wait the road with vulgar dust,
For wrecker Autumn hath no stint.

Is there a song in all our hearts,
Oit discontented as the foam—
A voice to sing the Harvest Home
Before the fallow winter starts?

Because 'tis right that we should give
A thanksgiving to Him above,
So wondrous of his bounteous love,
Because for him alone we live?

Scraps.

A gentleman, who had the curiosity to spend a dime in answering an advertisement which promised valuable advice for that amount, received by mail the following answer:—Friend, for your ten cents, postage please find inclosed advice which may be of great value to you. As many persons are injured for weeks, months and years, by the careless use of a knife, therefore my advice is, when you use a knife, always whittle from you.

How A CIGARETTE CURED HIS APPETITE
FOR TOBACCO. I had a deep well of very cold water, and whenever the evil appetite craved indulgence, I resorted immediately to fresh drawn water. Of this I drank what I desired, and then continued to hold water in my mouth, throwing out and taking in successive mouthfuls, until the craving ceased.

By a faithful adherence to this practice for about a month, I was cured! and from that time to this have been entirely free from any appetite for tobacco.—Medical and Surgical Reporter.

A man is not like a steeped tree; leaves;
more strength and virtue you draw out of him
the more is left within him.

A little boy, on coming home from church,
where he had seen a person work the bellows
of the organ, said to his mother, Oh, mamma,
I wish you had been to church to-day

body. On separating them into fragments they would immediately reform into the snake shape and crawl slowly off. One or two other similar snakes have recently been seen in that vicinity.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

LECTURES. As may be seen by reference to our advertising columns the Quincy Social Science Association have secured Prof. Alonzo Tripp, the author and lecturer, to deliver his three new lectures on France since 1848. Mr. Tripp was in Paris in the winter of 1847 and 1848, at the subversion of the Orleans dynasty, and was personally a witness of many of the thrilling scenes described. He has enjoyed unusual opportunities for an intelligent acquaintance with European affairs. We are assured that these lectures are rare productions, and have given great satisfaction wherever delivered. The concluding lecture on Napoleon III. and the Empire, has attracted much attention.

TEMPERANCE MEETING. The Quincy Temperance Society will hold a meeting in the Universalist Church next Tuesday evening, at 7 1/2 o'clock instead of the Town Hall. By request, Rev. E. P. Thwing will repeat his lecture on Moderate Drinking.

THE QUINCY GLEE CLUB met at their headquarters, Goodnow's Building, on Friday evening, of last week, to dedicate their new Hall, and make arrangements for their fall and winter campaign. The beauty, strength and talent of the Company were present, and every thing passed off in a happy manner. At the conclusion of these ceremonies, the Club, by unanimous consent, adjourned to their Club Room to partake of a rich and bountiful repast, - perfect harmony ruled the occasion, and the evening's entertainment was concluded in a social dance. This is the first of a series of social assemblies contemplated by the Society, which will be followed by others in the following order: - November 9th, 23d, December 21, 1865, and January 4th, 25th, 1866.

AUCTION. The sale of wood in Veazie's Common, which was postponed on Saturday last, will take place to-day. Let those who are of standing wood take notice, as this offers a good chance to purchasers. See advertisement.

AN ACCIDENT INVOLVED IN MYSTERY. On Wednesday morning last, about 8 o'clock, a man was discovered under the bridge on the Old Colony and Newport railroad, at School street, in an insensible condition, from serious injuries received on the head, from causes unknown. Doctors Stetson and Gilbert were summoned, and every means rendered which the case demanded, but without avail. He was evidently a stranger in the place - was respectable in appearance, and was thought to be between thirty-five and forty years of age. The most rational reason which we have heard given for the probable cause of the accident, is, that the man in attempting to descend the steps which lead from the street on to the track, that he fell slipped, precipitating him some fifteen or twenty feet upon the hard flinty ground below; for it would seem, if caused by coming in contact with a passing train, that it must have occasioned instant death, as he would have been thrown upon a heavy stone abutment. There was found on his person a wallet containing four dollars in notes, some change, and papers, written in a foreign language, which it was impossible to decipher sufficient even to discover his identity. He was removed to the town asylum for the poor, where he still remains in an unconscious state, with but small hopes of recovery.

COUNTY CONVENTION. The East Norfolk Temperance Union will meet in this place in a few weeks and an interesting session is expected. Mr. Hanks is to exhibit his large painting of the Black Valley R. R. at that time.

THE NEW BOARDING HOUSE. The proprietor, Mr. Pratt, it will be seen by an advertisement in another column, has well accommodated at his establishment for a few more boarders. The location is central and pleasant - and those doing business in the city will find it a desirable situation, as it is convenient to both horse and steam railroads.

POLITICAL. The Democratic County Convention held on Monday last, made the following nominations: - Sheriff - Bradford S. Farrington of Roxbury.
County Commissioners - Wm. W. Brooks, of Canton, and Walter James of Medfield.
District Attorney - Geo. A. W. Chamberlain of Dorchester.
Commissioners of Insolvency - Geo. M. Hobbs of Roxbury, Eliza P. Hall of Weymouth, Charles J. Randall of Wrentham.

Col. B. F. Pratt, of Weymouth, formerly Captain in the 35th Mass. Infantry, and for the past two years in command of the 36th U. S. colored infantry, having tendered his resignation, has been honorably discharged from the service of the United States.

Geo. Cushman, of Woodstock, Maine, raised over 1000 bushels of potatoes on three acres.

Photographic Miniatures - No. 7.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Nov. 1, 1865.
Brintree with her bustling population, superb private residences and enterprising business men, has charms not easily shaken off. So deep are we in the maze of delight, and so lovingly frozen to the spot, our professional siege thereat, as now advised, will not be raised till the Christmas holidays. Ancient Rome is said to impart bewildering allurements to students of sculpture and the brush, but Brintree will suffice for our amateur chisel, and satiate our ambition for the present. Her Town Hall, with prodigious expense, faultless architecture, elaborate finish, dazzling exterior, artistically embellished - tells what an elegant temple votiva can have, if they will it. This vast fabric, if located at the Colosseum entrance to Nantasket Beach, and labelled "Hotel," would secure the patronage of the upper ten, and divert a goodly portion of our first families from their dog-day raids to Newport.

Morrison's "Yarn Factory" here, knocks our great-grand-mother's spinning wheel system of getting up stockings, into the kite region; their balance sheet of profit shows a surer and faster road to affluence, than those adventures, who scramble so recently and assuredly to the El Dorado for unearthed gold.

Observe the indefatigable Mansfield, and peep around his carriage manufacturing establishment. Don't change countenance if you find the proprietor in shirt sleeves and bare to elbows. He don't keep shop to eat oranges and peddle confectionery to soup-lodgionaries; he pursues his calling by combining the elements; executes upon the trip-hammer principle; when General McClellan was deficient in material for Pontoon Bridges, Mansfield was around, - had the nerve and pluck to secure an order for Baults adequate to the wants of Pontoon Engineers of the "Army of the Potomac," - and delivered them just as ordered, - no complaints of indigestion and dyspepsia in his precincts.

The characteristics of said gentleman, is somewhat parallel to a boy who learned to cipher after we mastered the rule of three; who was born in Weymouth, and whose many form now rises before us; who, if he inherited no fortune, resolved when in youth, to take care of himself, - be industrious and live with his income, and trust his Miser for prosperity; who has the confidence of the people, because he studies their interest and seeks to promote their welfare; who left Weymouth thirty years ago, for Brintree, and as Daniel Webster said of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill - there he now remains. As the passenger cars are waiting, we jump aboard, having the arm of

DAVID H. BATES, ESQ.,

Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the town of Brintree.

In stature and disposition, as towering and ample as Gen. Henry Wilson; expression, energetic, shadowing vivacity, culture, and the Christian graces; with mechanical hands, that never were compressed by contact of type Globe Illustrated, Illustrated; his advent upon the waters of Waterloo, during the era when Sir Hudson Lowe was historic infamy by his slow torture, success upon the Imperial hero of Algeria, and before the Great Napoleon expired at St. Helena; has musical taste and talent - is a member of the celebrated Weymouth Brass Band; performs upon an instrument, which at a distance, a green horn might mistake for a Pan - but in fact, a pious drum - which, with his musical relative harmony, and finishing touch of accompaniment to bagpipes, flutes and trumpets, as the violin of the famous Ostend, (late of Boston) produced in a grand chorus of Mozart's Sacred Anthems. Out from among us one other dear face has vanished. While he is falling the leaves, one whose name is familiar to many of us has gone to sleep. She is at rest. Troubles and trials can no longer come to her. She is beyond all sorrow now. Those of us who in the past met with Nettie in the pleasant school-room, need not be reminded of her many good qualities. We recall her as a loved well and loved to us for a time. Those few who were chosen, most intimate friends, in the lonely days yet to come, will oft-times miss her willing aid, and loved face, at our social gatherings - where, in olden days, she was one of the happiest. All those who knew her well, loved her well, and there are many such hearts to-day, will whisper among us, "Nettie is dead." But her close associates, her many friends, and even the few who loved her as a sister, cannot, will not miss her, as the mother - now left almost alone - must miss her, in the cheerful, gloomy years coming. We offer her, our warmest sympathies; and may God be with her, through these dark hours. May she remember, that "after the night, cometh the morning;" and that "our darling is not dead, but sleepeth." May the brother, who never again will be guided by her sisterly counsel - who will henceforth return home, to find only her vacant place, and all that remains to the home ones - her memory - clinging to every thing there, may he be led by her death, to realize, that "life is real - life is earnest" - and that as we live here, so shall we be prepared for the other life. Out from our midst, a loved and only daughter - a loving, true sister - a well-tried and cherished friend, has passed on to the Spirit Land. Her life was a chequered one, but the glorious sunshine of the everlasting day, has dawned at last upon her, and we must leave her with her Saviour, who has said, "I come unto you, all ye who are weary and laden, and I will give you rest." Let us all, who sorrow for her, live so, that we may meet her, when this life is over. E. M. W.

Attendance at our Public Schools.

In a recent number of your paper, I attempted to set forth the importance of punctuality in attendance at our Public Schools, and of co-operating with the School Committee in all wholesome measures for its attainment. The article attracted more attention than it deserved, calling forth very sharp replies from two correspondents. I spoke of scandal having been set afloat in this community concerning the action of the Committee on this matter of attendance. I could have no more fitting illustration of the correctness of my assertion than the replies furnished by your correspondents "Bono" and "Vox Populi." After admitting in one sentence, the importance of punctuality, they spend the rest of their breath in declaiming against the Committee. Let us see with how much argument. One asks if I will please to estimate the loss accruing to the children from the absence of teachers and the negligence or incompetency of the Committee. If we will point out where in the Committee have been negligent or incompetent, I shall be happy to give the question some consideration. As for the absence of teachers, I think no teacher can be blamed for leaving, to accept a more lucrative situation. He entirely mistakes my meaning when he accuses me of estimating the loss of a resignation at ten cents. The language was, "If present could be convinced that such were the case," &c. He asks for information concerning the number of changes in the No. District during the past year. I answer, only one by the direct action of the Committee; all the others having occurred, simply because the Committee were not "abominable others," - sensible, judicious men," and therefore in ignorance, selected teachers, who, from their known ability, were offered better situations; and not only has the South District suffered from this radical defect in the sense and judgment of the Committee, but the Point, Coddington and High Schools have lost their Principals for the same reason. It is only necessary to refer your Correspondents to the position which those gentlemen now occupy. What a pity that the town of Quincy cannot elect a Board of School Committee who would have sense enough to select teachers whom to one else would call for; and who would be willing to stay forever on the exorbitant salaries the Committee are allowed to pay. But let us give even "that evil one" his due. If the Committee have anything in their conduct worthy of praise, let us bestow it. There is a manifest improvement, for your other Correspondents intimates that they are now employing three rate teachers, and as far as the idea of change goes, here they are right, for no one from other towns will ever call for them, and we are sure to keep them. The only reason presented with any force by either of your Correspondents, why the Committee are not doing their duty, is simply that they have made a regulation for the purpose of keeping their children in school, not out. What a misfortune that our children should be obliged to obtain an education!

The average present term has been more than twenty per cent - a result which, has not been obtained for a long time, if ever. As Long was historic infamy by his slow torture, success upon the Imperial hero of Algeria, and before the Great Napoleon expired at St. Helena; has musical taste and talent - is a member of the celebrated Weymouth Brass Band; performs upon an instrument, which at a distance, a green horn might mistake for a Pan - but in fact, a pious drum - which, with his musical relative harmony, and finishing touch of accompaniment to bagpipes, flutes and trumpets, as the violin of the famous Ostend, (late of Boston) produced in a grand chorus of Mozart's Sacred Anthems. That our blessed c'entide dreamings, Nor longings deep and true, Like the finger which would point us, To the good we all may do; To the loving of each other, Words with kindness overgrown, Which we speak through deeds of humanness. To the sick and sad and worn.

MATTIE L. B. EWELL.

Quincy, Oct. 31st, 1865.

Scraps.

JUMBLE. One cup of butter, two of sugar, beaten together; one cup of milk, half a teaspoonful of saleratus stirred into the milk, and four eggs. Beat it well, add spice of any kind, and six cups of flour; roll thin; cut with a tumbler and wine glass to form a ring; brush them over with the white of an egg, set on a little white sugar before baking. Bake fifteen or twenty minutes.

GRADUAL DEATH. We do not die wholly at our death, we have moulder'd away long before. Faculty after faculty, interest after interest, attachment after attachment disappearing; we are torn from ourselves while living, year after year sees us no longer the same, and death only consigns the last fragment of what we were to the grave.

Isn't a dollar too much for two hours work saving a load of wood? queried an employer. Sah, replied the Ethiopian I charge fifty cents for the sawing, and fifty cents more for the know how.

The first day a little fellow went to school in Canton, last summer, the teacher asked him if he could spell.

Yes, indeed.

Well, how do you spell boy?

Oh, just as other people do.

A young gentleman whose lady-love suddenly left him in the lurch, mournfully prays that she will come back soon and take him out.

It was customary, ten years ago, to publish from the pulpit, in Connecticut, banners of matrimony. On one occasion an old man rose and said: "I forbid the banns." On being asked to state his objections, he replied, "I had reserved Dinah Crotch for myself. The objection was not deemed good."

During a marriage ceremony the bride was sobbing immoderately while the knot was being tied.

What is the matter my young woman? asked the officiant.

Oh! sir, replied the bride, it's because it's forever.

No, no, rejoined the parson, that's a mistake—a great mistake; it's not forever.

Death is an end to the engagement.

On hearing this the bride dried her tears and was consoled.

As we two are one, said a witty brute to his wife, when I beat you I beat half of myself.

Well, said the wife, then beat your own half, not mine.

The first lesson a business man should learn is the value of printers' ink. Let him be ignorant of that and all the knowledge he possesses will be of little value to him.

There are three things which I have always loved without understanding anything about them—painting, music and pretty women.

For the Patriot.

Dreaming.

In the Autumn's golden gleaming

When around the evening's breast

Are drawn in blue and amber,

The curtains of the west;

When the star-eyes, beaming o'er us,

Like the eyes of those we love

Look in brightness down upon us,

From their azure home above,—

Oh! then's the time for dreaming

With clasped hands and half-closed eyes,

We can sail o'er Fancy's river,

'Neath the blue of Love's own skies;

Far away from doubt and sorrow

Hope's fleet wing in gladness borrow

While her voice is sounding near.

How the day-dreams fast retreating

Seek oblivion's house awhile

And we know not we have wandered,

From our Queen Dream's sunny smile

We forget that we have suffered

Or ourselves have others grieved,

And we learn no more the mourning

Of the orphan unrelieved.

On the distant field in Southern,

Where true hearts are laid to rest,

We forget a brother perished,

Mid the trust and the best;

And those early blossoms faded,

Heart-hopes chilled by sorrow's blight,

We remember not the anguish

Of our old griefs darkness night.

All our misery is forgotten,

Clinging closely silver-binding,

Rises now a sweet refrain;

Like the music of the angels

Comes our youth's song of life,

Zephyr whispering—aye glad ones,

Seem we what we used to be.

Nearer, nearer, floating nearer,

Voices of the "long ago!"

See we now the olden faces,

With their dark eyes, silent glow—

Feel we now the soft hands' pressure,

And our being thrills with joy,

As we greet again the glad ones,

Happy girl and shouting boy.

Then from out the past's dear chamber,

And beyond the present hour,

We can see a Future, brighten,

We can feel a blessed power;

And though some may chide our dreaming,

Let us hope that something real

Is behind the Mystic curtain,

Pictured with our Soul's ideal.

That our blessed c'entide dreamings,

Nor longings deep and true, Like the finger which would point us,

To the good we all may do; To the loving of each other,

Words with kindness overgrown, Which we speak through deeds of humanness.

To the sick and sad and worn.

Miscellaneous.

The Panther's Den.

Take good care of my boy, said the fond mother, as she saw her only son stepping into a canoe with an old hunter, to take his first lesson in woodcraft.

Never fear for the boy, Burt Hammond

haint the one ter lead him into danger, was the cheery response. I'll bring him back safe and sound, if I die for it.

No, don't fear, mother, also answered Harry Curtiss. I'll be very careful, and he waved

the slender paddle around his head in token of farewell as the light bark shot into the little lake upon which the log cabin of the settler had been built.

Everything was new and wonderful to the boy just verging into his eighteenth year.

But a few months previously his parents had moved from an Eastern city into the most unbounded wilderness. For miles around the inhabitants were sparse indeed; and with the exception of the old hunter, whose home

had been for years on the banks of the beautiful lake, they rarely had seen visitors.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

ROBBERY, ARREST AND ESCAPE. On Monday night last, just before midnight, the clothing store of Mr. John Dinegan, of this town, was entered by a thief through a back window. Mr. Trainer, who slept there, attacked the robber as he was leaving with his booty, and after repeated struggles, he, with the help of two passers by, secured the man. Sheriff French was called and committed him to the Lock-up. Tuesday morning he was brought before Justice J. Q. Adams, gave his name as George Stormont, and pleaded that he was intoxicated at the time. After examination, he was bound over in the sum of $500 dollars to appear before the Superior Court at Dedham in December. Stormont was recommitted to his cell, whence he escaped about two hours after, by cutting his way out with a common table knife, furnished him by Mr. French to eat his dinner, which he converted into a saw, and in this manner, opened a communication, sufficient to admit the passage of his body, by removing a wooden bar, that separated his own cell from an adjoining one, which was unlocked, and through which he effected his escape. No blame is attached to officer French—the responsibility rests with the town, for not furnishing a place of better security, for the custody of its criminals—and the adroit rogue, who put his mechanical ingenuity to so successful an issue.

TEMPERANCE CONVENTION. The East Norfolk Union met at the Town Hall, Tuesday morning, President Elias Richards of Weymouth in the chair. Rev. Mr. Terry of South Weymouth gave an eloquent address and presented the advantages of prohibitory legislation, and the utter failure of the License System to protect society and limit drunkenness. Edwin Thompson, D. W. Waldron, J. M. Usher, C. T. Bissett, and Messrs. A. J. and C. W. of this town, spoke in support of a series of Resolutions which followed the address. In the evening a large audience filled the hall to listen to the Second of a Course of Lectures before the Quincy Temperance Society by Rev. S. W. Hanks of Lowell. Excellent order prevailed, and great interest was shown in the delineation of the downward course of the drunkard on the Black Valley Railroad. A still larger printing is preparing, and Lecture Committees will do well to secure the services of this talented advocate of Temperance.

RESOLUTIONS:
1. Resolved, That the undersigned, in the fullness of the revival of interest in the Temperance reform now so generally seen, and acknowledging the responsibilities which the providence of God has laid upon us as Christians and citizens at a time so full of promise, yet so full of danger.
2. Resolved, That in our efforts to aid the community of the appalling evils of the rum traffic, we regard a correct public sentiment as indispensable to perform what we mainly rely upon the presentation of Christian truth by the pulpit and the press, in the Sunday Schools and the family, accompanied by the power of consistent example, on the part of all the true friends of Temperance.
3. Resolved, That while we urge the universal employment of these moral appliances, we also solemnly invoke the power of law in the suppression of this illegal and noxious traffic, pledging at the same time our cordial support to the officers of the Commonwealth, especially the State Constable, and his Deputies, in their efforts to execute existing laws.

FOURTH MASS. CAVALRY. Adjutant General Schouler received a dispatch on Wednesday last, stating that the 4th Regt. Mass. Cavalry, then at Richmond, was mustered out of service and was to start for Boston the same day. Some twenty-five Quincy Boys are still attached to this gallant corps. In our next we hope to publish their names and safe arrival home.

PERSONAL. We are sorry to learn that our highly respected citizen, Noah Cummings Esq., has been confined to his residence for several weeks. He has a very dangerous and painful carbuncle on the back of his neck, and only for a strong constitution, his physician thinks his case would be very doubtful. It is thought that some months must elapse before he will be able to be in our streets.

A GAY WAGON. We noticed on Wednesday last a very beautiful market wagon in the Square. On inquiry we learned that it was built by the Messrs. Turrell, for our young and popular provision dealer, Mr. Crane. We never saw a more beautiful wagon for the business, and we are pleased to notice the prosperity of our young townsman.

GRAND CONCERT. The celebrated Barker Family offers to give one grand performance at the Town Hall in this place on Monday evening next. Their programme embraces a large variety of songs; also, panoramic views of the American Revolution; Broadway in New York; Assassination of President Lincoln, &c. &c., making a very interesting and profitable evening's entertainment to all who can make it convenient to be present.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 8.

SOUTH WYOMOUTH, Nov. 15, 1865.

The boot and shoe manufacturers of Braintree seem to be the queerest and most daring combination of sharpshooters we ever attempted to produce a steel engraving from; they survey the geographical boundaries of the town, and advance their lines for the coveted "pile" with as much assurance as the "trump" as the "On to Richmond" decree of Lieutenant-General Grant implied ginger and pepper, and the final triumph of union arms. Their locomotion is high pressure, discarding the bell-tolling of street-crossings, in the form of newspaper advertisements. Tell us not in Athens! Publish it not on "Mars' Hill!" But the fact is patent, that the shoe and leather dealers of Braintree, grow rich, sport dashing teams, have fine mansions, are socially exalted, yet never so much as lose a business card, or advertisement into the Quincy Patriot. These Monsters of high heel boots and vulgar brogans, if located out in eastern Illinois (Egypt) would be pronounced benighted, and Yankee presumption would force the conclusion that not one of the posse could read or write! Nevertheless, the successful clique are so verbally cute and smart, so adroitly cunning, "tight" markets and temporary obstacles, that "advertising" is not deemed of any value in the general "bill," and is accounted by them as a tonic, suited to venerable dealers in junk, whose wind has become rickety! Talk to these boot and shoe pignons, about advertising their wares—they would dispossess of the matter, in any morning edition of a daily establishment, without unfolding the sheets; the whole examination and perusal would hardly suffice as a bagatelle to their morning coffee and hot rolls.

In recent travels to and from Braintree in the Old Colony cars, we have observed a vast structure, (near the South Depot) in process of erection, the architecture whereof, is so imposing and unique, that for a time we were in a quandary as to the intended use of the building, as seen from the railroad view—stretching out its dimensions in squares and angles, with a brick spiral column rising from its base, mountain high. Our first impression was, that the fair and delicate architecture was designed as a chemical laboratory, to test the vitality and good faith of repentant rebels—and analyze their marvellous and sudden love of the union and anxiety to gulph down the "oath of allegiance;" but the massive block, it appears, is designed for no such use—it is a boot and shoe manufactory—the owner and proprietor is "master of the situation," he does nothing by halves; if his neighbors introduce steam machinery into their shoe establishment of forty horse power, he doubles the dose—fixes upon eighty; if they market thirty cases of boots weekly, he neither sleeps nor slumbers till sixty cases complete his six days' batch; he may not devote much time to solid literature—but just estate him with a few bales of French calf-skins—talk of oak-tanned sole-leather—white and pink sheep skins, linen webben, concave edges and elegant fitting lasts, etc., and you'll find glistering eyes, a willing hand, and a wallet purged out.

PROV. S. BRADFORD, ESQ., of Braintree, Mr. Bradford came to Braintree some twelve years since—graduating from the State of Maine, we understand. Like most of our successful young men, he commenced business on a small scale; but the judgment and extensive good taste to get a superior quality of goods, fine, nice boot; but the mark—became noted for the style and French finish. Now he is the boot "Don" of Braintree. Mr. B. is on the sunny side of forty. In person, if illustrated in oil colors, upon canvas, would make as ample a space, and as true by the pulpit and the press, in the Sunday Schools and the family, accompanied by the power of consistent example, on the part of all the true friends of Temperance.

MASSONIC. On Thursday evening last the following persons were installed officers of Rural Lodge for the ensuing year:—
Nathaniel H. Hunt, Jr., M.; William Parker, Jr., S.; W. L. Lewis, Jr., J. W. E. Esq. S. Fellows, Treas.; Seth Dewing, Jr., Sec.; Stephen S. Bradford, S. D.; Albert Keating, J. D.; Noah Torrey, Chaplain; Edward A. Spear, Marshal; Joshua H. Spear, Tyler.
The installation ceremonies were performed in an impressive manner by William Parkman Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Mass. After the services the members with their ladies in all numbering about 300 repaired to Mechanic's Hall where an excellent repast was awaiting them, to which they did full justice.

WE had the pleasure of a call on Tuesday last from Hon. J. M. Usher, of the Boston Nation. We are glad to learn that this enterprising Temperance organ is about to enter on its third year, enlarged in size and with an increasing circulation. It is an admirable family paper.

EARLY AND SEVERE SNOW. It is quite unusual to have snow in these latitudes so early in the season. In Maine, they have had sleighing for more than a week. In Vermont, on the 27th ult., a horse trot came off during a severe snow-storm. In New Hampshire, Vermont, and in the northern and western parts of Massachusetts, snow fell to the depth of several inches, Oct. 27th. In Vermont, on the line of the Vermont Central Railroad, over a foot of snow has fallen.

Our Public Schools.

DEAR PATRIOT: Pro Bono Publico is again in the field, endeavoring to explain his first communication. No one of common sense doubts the necessity of constant and punctual attendance at school, and he cannot point to a single instance of opposition to any School Committee in Quincy in any whole some measure for that purpose. But to say that finding fault with the foolishly absurd, and illegal "rule" insisted upon by the Committee, is as supinely ridiculous as the utterance itself. He says that he is not a member of the Committee; if he is not, he speaks understandingly, and it is not surprising that those who do not understand the wheels may be mistaken; but how any man in his senses outside of that body, can defend the greatest piece of folly ever enacted in Quincy, is surprising. Pro Bono declines the ten cent question, and says a condition, which, as it is not a difficult one to comply with, I hope we will have the benefit of its experience on that subject. The present condition of the Adams School (the bare South District) proves much better; that I can, "the intelligence or incompetency" of the Committee, is extremely surprising. He says that Quincy, an unfortunally high complaint to good teachers, no man, no woman, no child, in this town that they ever received before; and it was after graduating in Quincy, that their talents were so highly appreciated elsewhere. Either the atmosphere of Quincy, or the genius of its teachers, or the quality of the very highest order; some of them being little more than a week in town, when their superior qualifications becoming known, our more liberal, or more wealthy neighbors paid them more wages, and they left. It is not some to say that money is the cause of the trouble;—a South District, we call it. When the teacher of the Adams School, in last spring, an advertisement was put in some of the Boston papers, and soon after, some twenty applicants applied for the position. If the Committee were punctual, and competent, they could then secure the services of a good teacher, who would be glad to teach the school for at least one term. I am not sure that the school would not be in its present disgraceful condition. But the Committee were either negligent, or incompetent, or both, and the result is that it would be better for the children, and for the town, if the school was closed during the last three months. A gentleman has been teaching in Quincy, who is extremely favorable to intellectual development, or the genius of its teachers, or the quality of the very highest order; some of them being little more than a week in town, when their superior qualifications becoming known, our more liberal, or more wealthy neighbors paid them more wages, and they left. When the teacher of the Adams School, in last spring, an advertisement was put in some of the Boston papers, and soon after, some twenty applicants applied for the position. If the Committee were punctual, and competent, they could then secure the services of a good teacher, who would be glad to teach the school for at least one term. I am not sure that the school would not be in its present disgraceful condition. But the Committee were either negligent, or incompetent, or both, and the result is that it would be better for the children, and for the town, if the school was closed during the last three months. A gentleman has been teaching in Quincy, who is extremely favorable to intellectual development, or the genius of its teachers, or the quality of the very highest order; some of them being little more than a week in town, when their superior qualifications becoming known, our more liberal, or more wealthy neighbors paid them more wages, and they left. It is not some to say that money is the cause of the trouble;—a South District, we call it. GREAT CHANCE
WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT,
THE STANDARD
HISTORY OF THE WAR.
Complete in one very large Volume
of over 1000 Pages.

This work has no equal as a candid, lucid,
complete, authentic and reliable history of the
"Great Conflict." It contains reading matter
equal to three large royal octavo volumes, splendently illustrated with over 150 fine portraits of Generals, battle scenes, maps, and diagrams.
In the selection of matter for this great work,
the author has confined himself strictly to official data, derived from the reports of North-men and Southern Generals, the Report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, National and Rebel Archives, &c. &c.
He has carefully avoided the introduction of any matter not strictly reliable and official,
and has succeeded in producing what is universally admitted, a fair and impartial History of the War.

Returned and disabled officers and soldiers,
and energetic young men in want of profitable
employment will find this a rare chance to make money. We have Agents clearing $250 per month, which we will prove to any doubting applicant; for proof of the above send for circulars and see our terms. Address JONES BROS. &

VINELAND.
FARM AND FRUIT LANDS, in a good and healthy climate, thirty miles south of Philadelphia by Railroad, in New Jersey,
on the same line of latitude as Baltimore, Md.

The soil is rich and productive, varying from a sandy loam, suitable for Wheat, Grass, Corn, Tobacco, Fruits and Vegetables. This is a great fruit country. Five hundred Vineyards and Orchards have been planted out by experienced fruit-growers. Grapes, Peaches, Pears, &c., produce immense profits. Vineland is already one of the most beautiful places in the United States. The entire territory, consisting of fifty square miles of land, is laid out upon a general system of improvements. The land is only sold to actual settlers with provision for public adornment. The place, on account of its great beauty, as well as other advantages, has become the resort of people of taste. It has increased five thousand people within the past 3 years.
Churches, Stores, Schools, Academies, Societies of Art and Learning, and other elements of civilization and culture have been introduced.
Hundreds of people are constantly settling. Hundreds of new houses are being constructed. Price of Farm land, twenty acre lots and upward, $25 per acre. Five and ten acre, and Village lots for sale.

Fruits and Vegetables ripen earlier in this district than in any other locality north of Norfolk, Va. Improved places for sale.
Opportunities for all kinds of business. Lumber yards, Manufactories, Foundries, Stores, and the like; and Steam Power, with room, can be rented.

For persons who desire mild winters, a healthful climate, and a good soil, in a country beautifully improved, abounding in fruits, and possessing all other social privileges, in the heart of civilization, it is worth a visit.

New Skirt For 1885-6.
The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS,
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elipitic (or Double) Spring Skirt

THIS INVENTION consists of Duplex
(or two) Elipitic Pure Rubber Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and
firmly together, edge to edge, making the
skirt most flexible, elastic and durable.
The spring never bends. They resist bending break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful
shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can
be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elipitic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad cars,
Church Pews, Arm Chairs, or Promen-
ade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use, to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort
and great Convenience of wearing the Duplex
Elipitic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day cannot come back willingly to the old style of Skirts. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies
they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double
twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as
the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom
rods on every skirt are also Double Steel and
twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods, when deag-ing down stairs, stone steps, &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly cordoned, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical
Skirt ever made.

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS OF THE CELEBRATED MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veneer and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and durable set of Furniture, and at a low price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

"Buchu—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Catarrhus Affections and Dropsy."

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Nov. 25th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

AN AGED MATRON. We had the pleasure on Wednesday evening, of last week, of spending an hour very pleasantly in company with Mrs. Daniel Hubbard. Mrs. H. is a venerable relic of other days. Quincy has but few matrons of her age and celebrity. She was a very active member of society in her day and generation, and many of her disinterested acts of benevolence, no doubt, are still fresh in the memory of not a few of our readers. At weddings, she was the guest of honor; nobody like Mrs. Hubbard for making wedding cake; and to her charge was usually committed that important duty—she has furnished cake for over a hundred different occasions. At the house of mourning, too, she was a frequent; her services at such times were always in requisition. Her husband was a sexton—and the many delicate flowers which female experience were indispensable, enabled her to render him valuable assistance. She is now eighty-six years of age; enjoys excellent health—with a memory unimpaired, and talks exultingly of her riches, as grandmother of ten great-grandchildren.

SIDEWALKS. We are pleased to notice the improvement that has been made in front of the residence of the late George Nightingale, corner of Washington and Temple Sts. We wish it might be continued in front of Messrs. Shaw, McLehlan, Emerson and Dutton's—the sidewalk in front of the barber's shop is miserable.

PUBLIC LECTURES. We have heard much complaint, within the last two or three years, that there were no longer any Lyceum Lectures to stimulate the minds of our citizens, and cheer their winter evenings. And yet what scanty encouragement those persons have who attempt to supply this want, a recent trial bears abundant witness. Twice within a fortnight has an eloquent lecturer stood before a Quincy audience, composed of scarcely half a hundred people. The tickets for the course were placed at the low figure of fifty cents, and yet not enough have been sold to pay expenses, and the speaker will have to be paid, we understand, out of the treasury of the Association, under whose auspices the lectures are given.

We will not complain, however, but only express the hope that there will be no farther call for entertainments of this description, unless people are willing to support them.

THE WORK GOES BRAVELY ON. The contemplated improvements on Hancock street, between the Square and School street, has been taken hold of by the County Commissioners in earnest. The road is being surveyed, and a plan perfected to widen, straighten and take off the sharp angles, which has been the cause of so much complaint. The alteration will undoubtedly make innovations on the gardens and pleasure grounds of estates lying contiguous to the route; by taking off a little here—more there, removing buildings back, and thus bringing others more to the front; but all this is cheerfully acquiesced in—and there is but one feeling, that they should go ahead, and consummate what the public has decided as a great public benefit.

HANCOCK GLEE CLUB. This organization has been in existence but a few months, but from what we have been able to glean concerning the same, it is a good Association for the entertainment and improvement of the young men of this place. It is a strictly temperance organization, as all intoxicating liquors are prohibited by its constitution.

On Wednesday last one of its members gave a birthday party at their hall. It was a pleasant and happy gathering. Col. B. in a very appropriate speech invited the guests to partake of the bountiful refreshments spread before them. After doing ample justice to the supper, the company were entertained with speeches, songs, etc., until quite late. Long will the happy hours spent on this joyous occasion be remembered by all present.

LIEUT. TANSEY. We are sorry to learn that among the passengers who came to their death by the ill-fated steamer Atlanta, were Lieut. Wm. Tansey, son of Mr. William Tansey of this town. He enlisted first as a private in the fifth R. I. Artillery, and was promoted from time to time for his heroic deeds of valor until he became Lieutenant in the Rhode Island Colored Regiment. He was respected and loved in both regiments, and his untimely fate will be mourned by both officers and privates. He was a young man full of hope, energy and enthusiasm, and was returning to his home, conscious of having served his country faithfully in the darkest hour of peril.

We are glad to learn that there is to be a course of Sunday evening Temperance Lectures in this town under the auspices of the Lodge of Good Templars. The first will be given in December by the Rev. Miss Olympe Brown, of Weymouth Landing, in the Universalist Church, of which due notice will be given.

For the Patriot.

A Birthday-Letter.

Nov. 22d, 1865.

It is well to make a mark at one's birthday, — to write down, not a string of truisms which have come upon us, but to note the blessings which we have received during the year which has closed. That it has been a year pregnant with deep sorrow, and still fragrant with happy memories, I am forced to admit, on this 22d day of November, 1865. Who has not been afflicted, and who cannot see through the cloud the "silver linings"? Civil war has been closed, though by the sacrifice of heroic brothers on the altar of our country. It is a cause of shame to young men now at home, who did not go away at the first call for boys to defend their country; and especially humiliating is it when the thought is pressed home that the calls were never heeded. But few young men can be found who remained at home! It would seem that there must be no hesitancy, on the part of the Government, to carry out the wishes of the brave boys, who fought with such pertinacity on the field, to execute judgment upon rebels, and to dispatch all traitors to the gallows. It may have upon us for leniency of treatment, so that their voices and bodies may never be heard or seen again on earth. The war is not truly ended, if the causes of it are not totally suppressed. But at our standpoint, we are not supposed to be able to criticize fairly the action of the Government in allowing pardons to be bestowed so profusely upon rebels to day. It is a right which we have, to dissent from the policy, and to demand that justice be done by our rulers, humble though our protest may be. It will not be offered at every evening close of an old year, or be revived only at the expiration of a poor life employed in sin. The gallows is a swift machine for the execution of law criminals, while it is seldom adorned with proper objects of high criminal admiration. Shade of Andrew Jackson fall upon us. He would cause to be erected a Haman's gallows, with a very low drop; and well-clothed criminals would be allowed a private swing, such as they deserve. Costly cloaks cannot cover the crime which their wearers are conscious of having committed. The sin is deep laid; and its victims themselves, must secretly wonder at the tender care which they receive. A refusal to execute punishment upon traitors to their country, and the offer of amnesty, after the war has been quelled by the superior force of loyal arms, is the most sickly subject a true patriot can contemplate. The olive-branch was extended to rebels at the full-tide of their murderous operations—but they would not accept it. Our judgment may be very weak to be unable to see the beauty in the branch as it is now offered to traitorous hands by injured, wounded hearts.

But this birthday letter may be assuming a party hue; if such, I would not have it. If my views are narrowly confined to but few, then things must be suffered to be as they are; but, thank God, the whole people are awake. They read, think, and move! "Revolutions never come by backward steps." Reform is the word. No simple New Year's resolutions are allowed to be made, and broken every year; but they are constant, and ever present, to toil on, though the path be rugged, and beset with many difficulties. They will be removed. What glorious anticipations we may be permitted to entertain in behalf of our country's future. And once a year we may be allowed this public expression of our confidence in the sure triumph of right principles. It should be given in every intercourse of life, by living in such a manner that the truth is already triumphant in our own hearts. May not these meditations coincide with the thoughts of other days? This nation has a birthday,—it is born to liberty.

For the Patriot.

Social Nuptial Festival.

Mr. Joseph W. Lombard and lady, on Monday evening, gave a nuptial levee to their relatives and a few invited friends, at their residence, and it proved a most brilliant success in every particular—save one—viz: he wishing his accommodations were more ample so as to have invited a larger number of his numerous friends. The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed; music, vocal and instrumental—gayety and good humor, graced the occasion; there was a "Feast of reason and a flow of soul." The physical wants of the guests were also attended to; a most substantial table, loaded with luxuries and delicacies, which graced under the immense weight; embracing everything which thought could suggest, or the heart desire, for "refreshing the inner man." The company separated at a late hour—the minutes having flown on pleasure's wing.

"And all went merrily as a marriage bell." May they weave around them the wreath of prosperity, happiness and family, which shall prove more durable than the fine fabrics which he manufactures, and which ages cannot fade.

Here's respects to the bride and bridegroom, our respected entertainers, at this hymeneal feast.

With long life and happiness may they be blest, And the name of LOMBARD become legion.

NOTICE EXTRAORDINARY—FOR THE LADIES. "The great Invention of the age." "Bradley's new patent Hoop Skirts." Since the introduction of Hoop Skirts, —A. D. 1800,— (for rather the revival of a discarded fashion), numerous inventions have been presented to the public,—but none, in our estimation, for beauty, comfort, durability and convenience, will bear a comparison with the "Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt." In the parlor, ball-room, at home or abroad, they combine, artistically, all these excellencies in an eminent degree. Their superior make and finish, and the nature of the article from which they are manufactured, give them great strength and durability, and a flexibility and elasticity, which enables them to be compressed into any desirable shape—a convenience which will be duly appreciated in crowded assemblies. Our grandmothers had no such appliances, when they got up a fashionable spread; their daughters are more fortunately circumstanced. Mr. Bradley speaks by the card in another column of our paper to-day.

OUR FALL RAINS have commenced, and the springs are fast filling up. Winter is silently creeping upon us. It will be along about Christmas. Be prepared for it.

For the Patriot.

Is this a which I see before me?

We see that the authorities of Quincy have profited by the suggestion in your last issue regarding sidewalks, and have placed your correspondent on duty, at dusk, at the spot designated, with a sufficient posse of "ladies" in case of an emergency. But the public complain that the REMEDY is worse than the evil. It is somewhat doubted whether the worthy I. O. G. T. & Co., were placed there to guard the sidewalk (which they so do as to obstruct travel entirely on the side of the street) or to see that our worthy liquor agent does not make too free use of the town pump. But while we would not complain of this action of the authorities, we would venture to suggest that economy might dictate the choice of some one valiant enough to take the position alone and save the additional expense of the posse. It is suggested that they may not be all under pay—i.e., we cannot too strongly commend the conduct of those generous ladies who are willing to stand so long by their friend in his hour of danger and post of peril.

P. S. Since writing the above we have learned that on account of his recently discovered travelling propensities, and his intimate knowledge of that section of the town, our worthy dock police has been detailed to a remote section of the West District.

CLOTHING CHAP. It will be seen by a notice in another column that Mr. McLehlan has just purchased a good variety of pants and vests, adapted for the working classes, which he will sell at very low prices. Mothers can find good stout serviceable pants for their boys at very reasonable prices. He is constantly receiving new lots of ready-made clothing, and the mechanics in this and the adjoining towns will find it for their interest to give him a call.

INSTRUCTION ON THE PIANO, ORGAN AND HARMONY. We would call the attention of the reader to the card, (under the head of "Musical Notice"), of H. M. Smith, of Boston, to be found in another column of our paper to-day. We congratulate those of our citizens, especially the ladies—of the opportunity now offered, of perfecting their knowledge in these fashionable branches of education, under an accomplished instructor. Professor Smith comes to us with the best of recommendations, and his success depends in no small measure on their smiles and favors.

THE NEW YORK AND NEWPORT LINE. We learn from the North Bridgewater Gazette, that the favorite steamer Empire State, has just resumed her trips, having been thoroughly refitted. She has received new boilers and wheels and an additional number of state-rooms, with new furniture, bedding, and upholstery of the most elegant and fashionable patterns. One of the staunchest boats on the Sound, and especially calculated for winter weather, she is also one of the most luxurious vessels afloat.

TERPSICHOEANS. The second of the course of dances given for the benefit of the Charitable Societies in this place will take place at the Town Hall on Thursday evening next.

Probate Court will be held at the Selectmen's Room, in this place on Tuesday morning next, at 9 o'clock.

JACKMAN & MERRILL'S ESTABLISHMENT. The public long ago understood the well-known fact that Jackman & Merrill's establishment, Dock square, corner of Elm street, is one of the most enterprising, successful and popular in the city. Their clothing is noticeable for excellence of material, nicety of fit, durability of wear, and reasonableness of price. Everybody goes there a second time, which is the best proof of satisfactory bargains. In addition to their clothing, Jackman & Merrill have one of the best assortments of furnishing goods in Boston. In a word, well posted people, go straight to this well-known house when they want the best articles at the lowest prices.—Saturday Evening Express.

THE COTTON TRADE. Our shippers are almost daily in the receipt of cotton to be forwarded to New York or Boston. The principal shipping points are Cincinnati and St. Louis, and it is forwarded to this city both by lake and railroad. The dock from Columbia street to the Central Railroad Elevator was the other day strewn with bales of cotton awaiting transportation. It is coming forward in much larger quantities than at any time either before or since the rebellion.—Albany Argus, Nov. 13th.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL for December has some sterling articles of interest, which commend themselves to all classes of readers. The Journal moves in the literary world in an orbit peculiarly its own; it is a star among our monthly constellations of the first magnitude; and must exert a salutary influence on the moral and social condition of society wherever it shines. The subjects which it discusses, embrace, physically, phrenologically and spiritually, the whole nature and duty of man. It has reached its forty-second volume, which will be completed with the next number. On entering the new year, fresh energies and resources will be brought to the work, which will greatly enhance its value.

Published monthly, on a quarto sheet, at two dollars a year, by Fowler & Wells, 389 Broadway, New York.

THE STRICKLAND REMEDIES.—We have

for some time felt it our duty, or an agreeable privilege, at least, to say a word in favor of Dr. Strickland's Remedies; and simply for the reason that we know them to be good, all, we believe, that they are represented to be. Dr. Strickland resides in Cincinnati. He was a successful physician; and after thoroughly testing a few leading remedies of his own preparing, he concluded that he could do more good for the community (and probably quite as much for himself) if he would quit practice, and go to scattering some of these medicines throughout the country. For two years or more he has been doing this, and with success, we believe, seldom met with before in such enterprises.

Some of these remedies are advertised in our paper; but that is neither here nor there—we know them to be good, and can recommend them to the afflicted. Not long since we were in a town on the Wabash, and had occasion to prescribe one of these remedies—"Strickland's Pile Ointment." There were three drug stores in the place, and each of them had the remedy, but was out, and had ordered more. They told us that the remedy was very popular and that they could hardly keep a supply, it went off so rapidly. We have spoken of this remedy before—having known it to be thoroughly tested, in numerous cases during the past year, and with perfect success in every instance. And so it is with his remedy for Diarrhea or Cholera, and his Cough Syrup. They are all genuine, made to cure or to give relief—prepared by the Doctor himself, and may at least be classed among the best remedies that are put up for sale. Druggists now buy them, right out, and have no difficulty in selling them. George C. Goodwin & Co., Boston, sole Agents for A. Strickland & Co. of Cincinnati.—From Indianapolis Daily Gazette.

THE LADY'S ALMANAC FOR 1866. This beautiful gem in fine binding and gilt edges, is embellished with illustrations in lithographic colors, and contains a complete statement of the "Game of Croquet," illustrated. This popular Game is now extensively introduced in this country from England, and is played in the parlor in winter, and on the lawn in summer. The Almanac is also replete with pleasing literature and useful household Receipts. Price fifty cents, for which it is mailed, postpaid, by the publisher, George Colledge, No. 3 Milk street, Boston.

ROBBERY. We learn that about twenty hens and ducks were stolen from the residence of Messrs. Geo. and Rufus Littlefield at Hough's Neck on Tuesday evening last.

Marriages.

In East Boston on the 27th ult., by the Rev. Warren H. Cudworth, Mr. L. Beecher Duran of Boston, to Miss Elizabeth H. Brown of this town.

We acknowledge the receipt of a generous slice of the bridal loaf, and in return wish the happy couple a long peaceful and happy life, and when they shall have passed from this earthly sphere, may they be reunited in a happier home above.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 19th inst., Mr. Nathaniel Nash, aged 50 years.

On the 23rd inst., Elmer E. son of Mr. James and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Burr, aged 1 year and 12 days.

Musical Notice.

MR. H. M. SMITH, (of Boston,) teacher of the Piano, Organ and Harmony, would respectfully announce that if sufficient encouragement may be offered, he will receive pupils in Quincy, on Monday of each week, commencing Dec. 4th, 1865. Those desiring his services can secure them upon application to Geo. L. Gill, P. M.

Terms, $15.00 per Quarter, of 20 Lessons.

New Skirt For 1865-6.

The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS,
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elliptic (or Double) Spring Skirt.

THIS INVENTION Consists of Duplex
(or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel
springs, ingeniously braided tightly and
firmly together, edge to edge, making the
toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable
spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be
made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Corsets, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily as a handkerchief, or a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure and convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day will never thereafter willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double
twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as
the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rings on every skirt also Double Steel and twice or double covered to prevent the
covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c. &c., which they are constantly subjected to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly cordoned tapes, and are the best quality in every part,
giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect
shape possible, and are unquestionably the light-
est, most desirable, comfortable and economical
Skirt ever made.

A CARD TO INVALIDS.

A CLEVERLYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits.
Great numbers have been already cured by this simple remedy. Prompted by a desire to relieve the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine,
in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it.
Free of Charge.
Please inclose a post paid envelope, addressed to yourself.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A
Family Sewing Machine
Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.
It is beyond doubt the
BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing
Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful
appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling,
Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding,
Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No
other Family Sewing Machine has so much
capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make
our Family Sewing Machine most reliable,
and most durable, and most certain in action
at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known.
Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity,
can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in elaborate and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine
is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine
when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While
some of the Cases, made out of the choicest
woods, are finished in the simplest and chast-
est manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb
manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family
Machine in operation, so as to judge of its
great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family
sewing as our Manufacturing machines are
for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.
Send for a PAMPHLET.

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

P. S. We have also a complete assortment of Dining and other Tables, Chairs, Bureaus, Bookcases, Desks and Mattresses.

EXTRACT BUCHU.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU. HELMBOLD'S BUCHU. HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

THE ONLY KNOWN REMEDY FOR DIABETES,

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, CATARRH OF THE BLADDER, STRANGURY OR PAINFUL URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A single day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in saccharum and according to rules of PHARMACY AND CHEMISTRY.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded.

A DIURETIC Is that which acts upon the kidneys.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu ACTS GENTLY.

Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its actions.

FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL, See Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:—

"Buchu.—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic. Its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION, See Professor Dewees' valuable works on the Practice of Physic.

See Remarks made by the celebrated Dr. Physic, of Philadelphia.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business, where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. Wm. WEIGHTMAN, (Firm of Powers & Weightman.) Manufacturing Chemist, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.] We are gratified to hear of the continued success in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 23 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also well established in their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS.

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine Order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE PURE AND MAJESTIC—having Force for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

For the Patriot. National Thanksgiving.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Our thanks to Thee, our Father God, By kindred hands no more we die; No more the blood crimson'd sod Re-echoes with the battle cry.

Peace spreads her mantle o'er the land, And still the Clarion Trumpet's sound; While plenty lifts her magic wand, And bids her treasures gem the ground.

Freedom extends her guardian shield, From north to south, from east to west; Her charter with the blood is seal'd, Of sons the bravest and the best.

Their blood has not been vainly shed, From every battle field it cries; Respect the cause for which we bled, And bravely guard the well won prize;

Our veterans have returned again, To bless the land their courage saved; Beneath their feet the broken chain, That bound the trampled poor enslav'd.

Our Ship of State has met the blast, And safely rides in haven now; Her cables strong, her anchors fast, And safe from all the winds that blow.

To him who steth at the helm, Whose hand controls the land and sea; From all our undivided realm, Let grateful thanks ascend to Thee.

TO HIM WHO STETH AT THE HELM, Whose hand controls the land and sea; From all our undivided realm, Let grateful thanks ascend to Thee.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Dec. 2d, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

THURSDAY being the day designated by the President for a National Thanksgiving, we beg of our patrons and friends, to observe from all secular cares and duties on that occasion, by handing in their favors as early in the week as convenient, as we intend to put our paper to press—with their permission—early on Wednesday afternoon, in order that all in our employ may have the full benefit of the day—therefore this request.

THE ROGUES ARE HAVING A HOLIDAY. They have no fear of the law or its ministers. The only check to which they appear to have any aversion, is the presence of a good revolver. There must be something "rotten in Denmark" for this sudden outbreak of crime! Let the guardians of the peace, see to it! The well-being of society requires it. The rogues do not confine their depredations to any particular locality—city and country are the same to them. They have found their way into our village; many of our citizens have been assaulted on the highway, with more or less injury or fright. Mr. Eliza Packard, while on his way home, alone and on foot, from the south part of the town, Friday evening last, about midnight, was overtaken by three men in a carriage, near the junction of School and Hancock streets; when they came up with him, they alighted, and after some informal questions, commenced an assault—robbing him of between six and seven dollars, with which the scoundrels decamped. Mr. P. was not prepared for such a reception—but as it was, he made his mark.

TABLEAU. Scott's great sensational tableaux of the streets of Boston, by daylight and gaslight, or sketches of the life of a policeman, comprising forty tableau paintings, representing the different steps of crime, and the mysteries and miseries of the city, painted from accurate photographic views, will exhibit at the Town Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7 3/4 o'clock, and Tuesday afternoon at 2 1/2 o'clock for children. Admission, 25 cents. Tuesday afternoon for children 10 cents.

AN ERRONEOUS REPORT. The report which was quite current in our streets the first part of the week that an attempt was made on Sunday evening last, to rob E. C. Sargent, Esq., as he was going home from church is untrue. It appears that a son of Mr. Sargent, accompanied by his mother and two other persons were proceeding to their homes at Quincy Neck, when a man came from the bushes, which are quite numerous along the turnpike, and hollered—Whoo! but did not succeed in stopping the horse, which is quite spirited. From facts which we have gathered it appears that a man partly intoxicated was seen in the woods in that vicinity several times during the day by persons living in that neighborhood, and it is supposed that he attempted to stop the horse, more to get a ride than for any other purpose.

CONCERT. The concert of the Quincy Point Choral Society on Monday evening last, was a decided success. The Hall was well filled, and the entertainment, of rare excellence. In our opinion, there are few clubs containing better musical talent than the Quincy Point Choral Society. This club added the entire profile of the evening to the fund already raised by subscription for the purchase of a piano-forte for the Washington School. Enough has now been raised for the purchase of an instrument, which will be kept in the Grammar School Room, and will henceforth be the property of the Washington School. Three cheers for Quincy Point and the Washington School!

ROWDYISM. On Saturday evening last, as Mr. Rogers, proprietor of the Saloon, corner of Granite and Hancock streets, in this town, was preparing to close his place of business, he was assaulted by one John Williams, and the windows and doors of the establishment, broken by one John Hill. No cause is assigned for this act, but sheer rowdyism. It is but justice to Mr. Rogers, (who is a new comer in town) to state, that he is a quiet, inoffensive man; he has endeavored to keep a quiet and respectable place, and has succeeded well, as the neighbors and passers by can testify. No intoxicating liquors have been sold there since the place came into his possession, and we learn at the request of the State Constable, he abolished the sale of ale. Williams and Hill were arrested and convicted before John Q. Adams, Esq. The former was fined six dollars and costs, amounting to twenty-one dollars and forty cents. The latter was let off by paying costs and damages.

ASTONISHING. Many of our readers would be astonished if they were informed of the large amount of clothing sold daily at Jackman & Merrill's, 12 and 13 Dock Square. They have an immense assortment and are disposing of the same for a few weeks at reduced prices, preparatory to taking account of stock on the first of January.

Photographic Miniatures—No 8.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Nov. 29, 1865.

Professions of gratitude to our returned soldiers find echo in all loyal hearts—those who enlisted at the dawn of the rebellion, "without money and without price," desire to be as generously dealt with, as those latter day patriots, who died into line with a State bonus of some three hundred dollars. Ever long, no doubt, the statistics of the Commonwealth, with remodeled consistency, will proclaim the glad tidings—that, inasmuch as her Regiments, mustered in 1863-64, received a stipulated bounty, so indeed, shall those veteran Battalions who came to the rescue upon the fall of Sumter, be entitled to, and receive similar bonuses, although seemingly forgotten, by reason of their prior long service in the Union army.

Hush! hush! tread softly; behold that fatherless group, hastening to the school room—three boys, whose ages range from seven to twelve, buoyed up and tenderly watched over by a sister of fourteen. Their apparel tells a tale which costs their mother many suppressed sighs; they have no smart, cozy jackets, to sweet December's chills; no jaunty caps to grace their little heads; no dear cottage of their own; no titles to real estate; their monthly rent of six dollars, keeps Mr. Ma's trembling and agitated—it must come; when "Father" provided, all was well. Alas! the bugle sounded the alarm—the country was in danger; the last kiss was imparted, and ere the morning's sun, "Pa" was in martial array in the advancing column. Onward—onward, he goes—in the valiant "Webster Regiment;" he encounters rebel shell and cannon—falls—dies. This case is but a type of thousands scattered all over our beloved Massachusetts.

Is there any Centaph in yonder village cemetery, to honor the memory of the heroic dead? Not yet—not yet. Would soldier's widow and their orphan children, esteem it a privilege to kneel before the shrine of battle field victims? Indeed they would, and resort thither often.

Distinguished gentlemen, whose opinions are entitled to weighty consideration, are said to have suggested, lately, the project of erecting a stately Mausoleum at the shore town of our County, in honor of our husband-in-death veterans. The idea is grand; the proposed site imposing; but if this scheme contemplates a superfluity of Town Monuments, we humbly beg to dissent, from carrying into execution any such arrangement. Every town has many—many military mourners; they can steal an hour to while away, in their village "City of the Dead"—but a journey to the shore town of the County, few could afford—only jurors and Court attachés would derive profit and interest, if the thing were accomplished. But ask a friend, can all the towns in Massachusetts have soldiers' monuments? Most assuredly they can; this Commonwealth never forgets her patriotic defenders; those that fall in defence of liberty are not forgotten. Hearken to her voice, in General Court assembled; Session of A. D. 1864—Chapter 100.

"Be it enacted: Towns may at legal meetings grant and vote such sums of money as they judge necessary, for the purpose of erecting Monuments in memory of their soldiers who have died, or who may die, in the service of our country in the present war."

Our thoughtful Legislators, presumed there would be many families in too straitened circumstances to purchase tomb-stones, hence the permission—a town vote—the town Treasurer may purchase, and erect a monument on Plymouth Rock to the hills of Berkshire, throw up columns to the patriotic dead, that coming generations may learn the expense of life and blood it cost, to conquer slavery—and the marvellous achievements of freemen when battling for liberty.

As a sequel to these reminiscences, we most respectfully announce

JONATHAN FRENCH, ESQ., of Braintree.

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue.

This temporary custodian of Uncle Sam's income, is a native of Braintree; partly in fiction and partly in reality; he has seen sixty summers—yet retaining physical vigor and a sprightliness of intellect that would impress a stranger as the embodiment of Young America, in matured prime, just in the suburbs of forty-nine. If business people desire a pleasant, courteous, and upright gentleman, to hand their revenue cash to, to secure their paper, if the Government expects an officer of probity and long standing firmness of character, they've all they bargained for; none more suited to his task, or deserving the confidence reposed, can be found in the limits of his professional charge. Judge Huntington, the principal, was fortunate in the selection.

Our Photographs will continue.

KEOKUCK.

THE HOME MONTHLY enters on its 13th volume with increasing success. Rev. E. P. Thayer is associated with Rev. C. H. Pearson in the editorial department. The talented writers employed by them as contributors to its pages and the liberal premiums offered to new subscribers must attract extensive patronage. The Boston press speak of the Home Monthly in most flattering terms. Music and Engravings embellish each number. Correspondents are engaged on both sides of the Atlantic. Dr. Dio Lewis has a series of articles on health which add to the value of this already most excellent magazine for the home circle. $2.50 per annum or $2 to clubs. A beautiful Stereoscopic is offered to any one sending five new names and the money. See advertisement.

SOLDIER'S MONUMENT. The citizens of Dorchester, under the lead of the Pickwick Club, are taking measures for the erection of a monument to the memory of the soldiers from that town, who lost their lives by the war. Henry L. Pierce has contributed $500, and other gentlemen a generous amount.

Thirty thousand barrels of apples have been shipped from the village of Blacksville, N. Y., the present season. They have been purchased at an average of $1 75 per barrel.

A REMARKABLE GROWTH. A scion was set in a small apple tree, on the premises of Mr. Joshua H. Spear, in this town, last spring, which grew during the Summer thirty-two feet and seven inches. What we wish our readers to understand is that all the shoots and branches which grew from this apple graft measures 32 feet and 7 inches. This is the most remarkable growth that we ever heard of a scion making in one season. The tree stood in a very rich and moist place, and the season being hot and dry favored its immense growth.

ROBBERY IN THE CARS. An elderly gentleman, who took passage in the four o'clock train of cars, of the Old Colony & Newport railroad, on Thursday afternoon last, from Boston to this place, was relieved of fifty-seven dollars in greenbacks, somewhere on the route, by the light-fingered gentry. The name of the individual, the was probably a stranger here; or the particulars of the robbery we were unable to learn. Another warning to those, whom business or pleasure calls from home, to be on their guard.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES. Four societies of this town, viz: The First Congregational, Second Congregational, Universalist, and Methodist Episcopal will worship together at First Church on Thanksgiving Day. Sermon by Rev. S. T. Aldrich. Bell rings at 10:30. Service begins at 10:50. A collection will be taken up for the benefit of the Freedmen, in answer to the appeal of the American Freedmen's Aid Commission.

FURS. Ladies visiting Boston in search of furs will find a large and rich assortment at E. R. Cleaveland & Co., 12 Tremont Row. We believe it to be one of the cheapest and best places in the city for the purchase of furs.

LECTURE. The first lecture of the course, to be given under the auspices of the Lodge of Good Templars, will be delivered by Rev. Wm. M. Thayer, of Boston, the able Secretary of the "Mass. Temperance Alliance," on Sunday evening, Dec. 3d, in Mr. Thayer's Church, commencing at 7 o'clock. Mr. Thayer is well known to the public as the Author of the "Bobbie Boy," "Pioneer Boy," &c., and we can assure our readers that as a Temperance Lecturer, he manifests the same ability to please, interest, and instruct, that he possesses as a writer for the young.

He will faithfully and ably discuss the License Law question, as also other questions connected with the subject, which are now, and will be the coming winter, prominently before the people. Let him have a full house.

RETURNED SOLDIERS. Lieutenant John Parker, Jr., of the 24th United States Volunteers, (colored) and William H. Felts, arrived here one evening this week, having served in the army upwards of four years and a half.

The 4th Mass. Cavalry were paid off and discharged on Monday last. The following Quincy boys, who have followed the fortunes of this gallant Regiment, returned with it: 1st. Surgeon, Edward Russell, William Byrne, Thomas Caterson, John S. Farrell, John H. Dinegan, Timothy Daley, Patrick F. Maguire, Joseph E. Bowditch, William W. Pratt, John Brown, Jr., Charles L. Leavitt, Hugh Maguire, Edward F. Nightingale, Thomas Smith, James Seawell, Stephen Otis, William Pettigale, John O'Keefe.

The National Thanksgiving.

The President of the United States has set apart Thursday, the seventh day of December, to be observed in all places of religious worship as a day of NATIONAL THANKSGIVING for the great mercies of God to our nation during the year now closing.

It is customary upon days of Thanksgiving to remember those who have received fewer of the common comforts of life, and to manifest our gratitude for the larger favors vouchsafed us by generous gifts for the more needy.

It is therefore suggested for the consideration of pastors and churches who may not have provided already a better destination for this collection, that the NATION'S WARDS are as yet the NATION'S POOR.

For two hundred years systematically despoiled by State enactment and National consent, they have been tossed for the last four years upon the wildest waves of the fiery sea of war, until their very ragged were torn away; and now, in weary millions, they creep along the shore of Peace, and see, far inland, waiting cottages and fields.

But the winter makes haste, and will bury thousands by the way, unless Good Samaritan hands shall cover their nakedness, and give them shelter from the storm.

The President of the United States assures us that, so plainly is the relief of these, the NATION'S POOR, the national duty, that he shall cause reasons of food to be purchased and distributed generously, at the expense of the National Treasury.

For immediate relief, for the purchase of blankets and personal clothing, for the erection of temporary shelters, for the opening and maintenance of an hundred additional orphan asylums—not less than a million of dollars is needed.

It can be given in one day by the churches to whom this address will come, with the greatest ease, if the churches will.

We copy the above paragraphs from a circular sent us by the American Freedmen's Aid Commission, and are happy to say that the churches in this place have consented to worship together in the Unitarian Church as will be seen by an article in another column.

Some of the foundries in Birmingham, England, are doing a good business, in casting beaten goods for the India market.

It is reported that butter is accumulating in the interior of the State of Maine.

The New Congress.

The thirty-ninth Congress assembles at the capitol on Monday next. It will be the first to legislate for the nation and for the times after the close of the great rebellion. It is the first to meet the thousand complicated issues growing out of the cessation of war and the return of peace, the first to consider and act upon the great and important subjects of reconstruction and reunion, the first to encounter the momentous questions on the right settlement of which the strength and glory of the republic emancipated from the terrible weight and wickedness of slavery, is based. Notwithstanding the fact that we have regarded, and properly too, each successive meeting of the national legislature as occurring at the most important crisis in our history, no one can deny that the present is an epoch charged with graver responsibilities and demanding the exercise of a profounder wisdom, and a sterner patriotism, than any which have preceded it. It is a cause of universal congratulation to the nation that Congress can enter upon the consideration of all the important questions which engage the public mind, untrammelled by the policy of persistent wishes of the President in any one of them. His own plans of reconstruction have been both experimental, and it is well known that he is not altogether satisfied with their workings. It is well understood that he desires the adjustment of all plans for reconstruction to come before Congress as an open question and stands ready heartily to avail himself of all suggestions, advice and courses which the wisdom and statesmanship of the nation shall deem best adapted to the state of the times and the exigencies of the country.—N. Bridgewater Gazette.

HARRINGTON AT THE TOWN HALL. We are gratified to learn that the entertainment given by Mr. Harrington, at the Town Hall, last Saturday evening, drew, as usual, a large and appreciating audience. Professor Harrington on this occasion, never appeared to better advantage. His great powers of vortification and the comic traits of his character, were brought forward with masterly effect. He made a most happy impression, and carried with him into retirement, the best wishes of all friends of native talent, sustained by true genius and culture.

Ten thousand bales of cotton were at Galveston on the 7th ult., ready for shipment to Houston.

VINELAND.
FARM AND FRUIT LANDS, in a mild and beautiful climate, thirty miles south of Philadelphia by Railroad, in New Jersey, on the same line of latitude as Baltimore, Md.
The soil is rich and productive, varying from a clay to a sandy loam, suitable for Wheat, Grass, Corn, Tobacco, Fruits and Vegetables. This is a great fruit country. Five hundred Vineyards and Orchards have been planted out by experienced horticultural experts. Grapes, Peaches, Pears, &c., produce immense profits. Vineland is already one of the most beautiful places in the United States. The entire territory, consisting of fifty square miles of land, is laid out upon a general system of improvements. The land is only sold to actual settlers with provision for public advertisement. The place, on account of its great beauty, as well as other advantages, has become the resort of people of taste. It has increased five thousand people within the past 3 years. Churches, Stores, Schools, Academies, Societies of Art and Learning, and other elements of refinement and culture have been introduced. Hundreds of people are constantly settling. Hundreds of new houses are being constructed. Pure of Farm land, twenty acre lots and upwards, $25 per acre. Five and ten acre, and Village lots for sale.
Fruits and Vegetables ripen earlier in this district than in any other locality north of Norfolk, Va. Improved places for sale.
Openings for all kinds of business, Stores, and the like; and Steam Power, with room, can be rented.
For persons who desire mild winters, a healthful climate, and a good soil, in a country beautifully improved, abounding in fruits, and possessing all other social privileges, in the heart of civilization, it is worthy of a visit.
Letters answered and the Vineland Rural, a paper giving full information, and containing Reports of Sales Robinson, sent on application. Address CHAS. K. LANDIS, Vineland, P. O., Landis Township, New Jersey.
From Report of S. S. Robinson, Agricultural Editor of The Tribune: "It is one of the most extensive fertile tracts, in an almost level position and suitable condition for plowing, raising that we know of this side of the Western Prerives"

The Singer
SEWING MACHINES.
OUR LETTER A
Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.
It is beyond doubt the
BEST AND CHEAPEST
And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.
The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chaste manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.
It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.
It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.
The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
THE ONLY KNOWN REMEDY FOR DIABETES,
IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, CATARRH OF THE BLADDER, STRANGURY OR PAINFUL URINATING.
For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.
Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful of a day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.
Physicians and Others
PLEASE NOTICE.
I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in vacuo and according to rules of
PHARMACY AND CHEMISTRY.
These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded.
A DIURETIC
Is that which acts upon the kidneys.
Helmbold's Extract Buchu
ACTS GENTLY.
Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its actions.
FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL.
See Medical Properties contained in Diagnosis of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:
"RECHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Catarrhus Affections and Dropsy."

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. Wm. WRIGHTMAN,

Manufacturing Chemist
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.
[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 220 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of his class.
The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are
GENUINE PREPARATIONS,
And knowing that the intelligent refrains from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.
THESE PARTIES RESORT
To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.
The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE PURE and MAJESTIC—having Faith for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.
A WORD OF CAUTION.
Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

GREAT CHANCE FOR AGENTS.
WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT,
THE STANDARD
HISTORY OF THE WAR.

Complete in one very large Volume of over 1000 Pages.

This work has no rival as a candid, lucid, complete, authentic and reliable history of the "Great Conflict." It contains reading matter equal to three large royal octavo volumes, amply illustrated with over 150 fine portraits of Generals, battle scenes, maps and diagrams.

In the selection of matter for this great work, the author has confined himself strictly to official data, derived from the reports of Northern and Southern Generals, the Report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, National and Rebel Archives, &c.

He has carefully avoided the introduction of any matter not strictly reliable and official, and has succeeded in producing what is universally acknowledged a fair and impartial History of the War.

Returned and disabled officers and soldiers, and energetic young men in want of profitable employment will find this a rare chance to make money. We have Agents clearing $250 per month, which we will prove to any doubting applicant; for proof of the above send for circulars and see our terms. Address: JONES BROS. & Co., 14 Phoenix Building, Boston.

GET READY! A New Volume. Look out for January Pictorial Double Number of the Illustrated Patriot at Journal with Physiology, or "Signs of Character," and How to Read them; Edmology, or the Races of Men; Physiology, the Laws of Life and Health; Phenology, and the Temperaments, with choice of pursuits; Psychology, the Science of the Soul; Our Social Relations, including Love, Courtship and Marriage, and when to marry; Education and Self-Improvement, with such other matters as all ought to know, and can be found in no other publication. It is the best and cheapest work of its size and price.

TERMS: $2 a year; single Nos. 20 cts. New Volume begins now. Subscribers at once. Address: MESSRS. FOWLER & WELLS, $29 Broadway, New York.

PAPER BAGS.
 ALL KINDS. THE CROWN BAG CO. make the Best, and sell cheaper than any others. Send for Price List, &c. 12 Vesey Street, N. Y.

PACIFIC HOTEL,
 170, 172, 174 176, Greenwich St.,
 (ONE SQUARE WEST OF BROADWAY.)
 Between Courtlandt and Dry Streets,
 NEW YORK.

JOHN PATTEN, Jr., Proprietor

THE Pacific Hotel, is well and widely known to the travelling public. The location is especially suitable to merchants and business men; it is in close proximity to the business part of the City—is on the highway of Southern and Western travel—and adjacent to all the principal Railroad and Steamboat depots.

The Pacific has liberal accommodations for over 300 guests; it is well furnished, and possesses every modern improvement for the comfort and entertainment of its inmates. The rooms are spacious and well ventilated; provided with gas and water; the attendance is prompt and respectful; and the table is generously provided with every delicacy of the season.

The subscriber, who, for the past few years, has been the owner, is now sole proprietor, and intends to identify himself thoroughly with the interests of his house. With long experience as a hotel keeper, he trusts, by moderate charges and a liberal policy, to maintain the favorable reputation of the Pacific Hotel.

N. B. To prevent overcharging by Hackmen, the coaches of the Hotel are owned by the proprietor.

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS OF THE CELEBRATED MACHINE GRAINED Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bared wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at a low price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

The world-renowned author of this admirable Lecture clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effortlessly removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, blisters, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain, efficient, and, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and rad-

A Lady's Waterfall.

She wore a monstrous Waterfall the night
when first we met.

A roll half horse, half human hair, hung in a beaded net;

It rested on her shoulders, for the first time
put to use;

Or taking a good rearward squint at head and hair together.

Just like a horse with tail tied up in very muddy weather!

And she stooped beneath her burden she thought was passing fair,

With her dainty head drawn backward, and her nose turned up in air.

I saw her but a moment, so graceful and so tall,

Bending, sweating 'neath the burden of her cherished waterfall.

Oh, when will Fashion give us back the charms we prized so long.

The web of silken splendor—the theme of many a song—

The shining hair that kissed the brow in many an airy curl,

And gave the crowning beauty to every lovely girl!

When will sense resume its rule again—Fashion receive a check,

And our loved ones no more carry round a pillow on their neck!

A thing composed of horses' tails, of wool, of jute, of cord,

A monstrous mean disfigurement, by every man abhorred,

A load upon their shoulders, at home, abroad,
at ball,

A foolish bag—a senseless bump they call a WATERFALL.

Straps.

BREAKFAST CAKES. Three eggs, three cups of wheat flour, three cups of unbleached flour, a little salt, one quart of milk. Bake quick. Some use sour cream and soda instead of sweet milk.

TELEGRAPH CAKE. One cup of sugar, one and one fourth of flour, two eggs, four table-spoons of water, one teaspoonful of soda, and one of cream tartar.

ORIGIN OF THE WATERFALL. While Nash was in the Ark, for forty days and forty nights it was quite quiet, and Mrs. Nash and the rest of them not being able to comb their hair, presented an unusual object in the head-gear line, and she and the rest of the women were continually run by the rest of the crew. Mrs. Nash's undying reply was:
"Wait till the water flows," and as such the style was known. When the Ark struck ground, she put her head out of the door (and such a head!) and exclaimed at the top of her voice:—"Is this Ark-a-rat? And the impression was, and is to this day, that it is very much like it.

Hope is the ruddy morning ray of joy, revelation is its golden light; but the latter is wont to sink under the dews and dusky shades of twilight; and the bright blue day which the former promises, breaks midway,
but in another world, and with another sun.

"Dar are," said a sable orator, addressing his brethren, "two roads to the world: De one am a broad and narrow road dat leads to perfection, and de oder a narrow and broad road dat leads to sure destruction."

If dat am de case, said a sable hearer, discussed individual takes to de wood.

"Come here my little Edie," said a gentleman to a youngster of seven years of age, while sitting in the parlor where a large company was assembled, "do you know me?"

"Yes, sir, I think I do."

"Who am I, then?" let me hear."

"You are the man who kissed sister Angeline last night in the parlor."

Angeline fainted.

Mind the little things. A word, a look, a frown or a bright smile, are powerful for good and evil. Acts deemed unimportant as the foundation of inveterate and powerful habits. Great things compel attention, but little matters are too easily overlooked.

Your looking-glass will tell you what your friends never will.

The snail looks around his house and thinks it is the whole world.

Experience and Wisdom are the best fortune-tellers.

Vain glory is a flower which never comes to fruit.

Once give your mind up to suspicion and fear, and there will be found food enough for it.

In the stillest night, the air is filled with sounds for the ear that is resolved to listen.

Five great enemies to peace inhabit with us, viz: avarice, ambition, envy, anger, and pride. If those enemies were to be banished
we should infinitely enjoy perpetual peace.

The human heart is like an artist's studio.

You can tell what the artist is doing, not so much by his completed pictures as by the half-finished sketches and designs which are hanging on his wall. So you can tell the course of a man's life, not so much by his well-defined purposes as by the half-formed plans, the faint daydreams, which are hung in all the chambers of his heart.

Few things in this world trouble people
more than poverty, or the fear of poverty;
and indeed it is a sore affliction; but like all other ills that flesh is heir to, it has its anodyne, its reliable remedy. The judicious application of industry, prudence and temperance is a certain cure.

How good and desirable would it be, if our travelling companions and acquaintances were so pure that we might live freely and naturally, as the birds or the flowers, trusting without misgiving to our spontaneous sympathies and movements.

Miscellaneous.

The Difference in Families.

The Daytones are a large, easy-natured, joyous race, hospitable, kindly and friendly.

Nothing about their establishment is much above mediocrity. The grounds are tolerably kept, the tables are tolerably fair, the servants moderately good, and the family character and attainments of the same average level.

Mrs. Dayton is a decent housekeeper, and so her bread is not sour, her butter not flowy.

The food abundant, and the table-cloth and dishes clean; she troubles her head little with the niceties and refinements of the menage.

She accepts her children as they come from the hand of Nature, simply opening her eyes to discern what they are, never raising the query what she would have had them,—forming no very high expectations concerning them,
and well content with whatever develops.

A visitor in the family can easily see a thousand defects in the conduct of affairs, in the management of the children—and in this,
that and the other portion of the household arrangements; but he can see and feel, also, a perfect comfortableness in the domestic atmosphere that almost atones for any defects.
He can see that in a thousand respects things might be better done, if the family were not perfectly content to have them as they are,
and that each individual member might make higher attainments in various directions, were there not such entire satisfaction with what is already attained.

Trying each other by very moderate standards and measurements, there is great mutual complacency. The oldest boy does not get an appointment in college,—they never expected he would; but he was a respectable scholar, and they receive him with acclamations such as another family would bestow on a valdicator.

The daughters do not profess, as we are told, to draw like artists, but some very moderate performances in the line of the fine arts are dwelt on with much immoderate pleasure.

They throw a few tunes on the piano, and the whole family listen and approve. All unite in singing in a somewhat discordant and uncultured manner a few psalm tunes or songs, and take more comfort in them than many amateurs do in their well-drilled performances.

So goes the world with the Daytones; and when you visit them, if you often feel that you could ask more and suggest much improvement, yet you cannot help enjoying the quiet satisfaction which breathes around you,
but in another world, and with another sun.

Everything about their establishment is brought to the highest point of

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE. Owing to the crowded state of our columns, caused by the many favors we are constantly receiving from our advertising friends, we are unable to find room for the President's Message. We have therefore purchased of the Boston Daily Herald, supplements containing the President's Message; Report of the Secretary of War; and the Report of the Secretary of the Navy, which we are happy to present to our readers.

THANKSGIVING PRESENT. On our return to our office, after our noontide meal, on Tuesday last, we were agreeably surprised to find on our bank, (printers have banks—but not banks of discount) a fine fat turkey, which we were informed was a present from our friend, Joseph W. Lombard, Esq., to add to our stock of comforts on Thanksgiving Day! It was a fine fat—and will be cut to order. The generous donor has our thanks, and best wishes, for his kind consideration; and over his Thanksgiving repast, he may take the assurance, that those whose hearts he has thus made glad, will, in their Thanksgiving offering to the Giver of every perfect gift, hold him in grateful remembrance.

CONCERT. The entertainment offered our citizens by the Quincy Brass Band on Thanksgiving evening, appears to be of the first order. It will equal, we think, any thing given by this excellent corps of musicians on former occasions. Their programme is very interesting, and we feel confident that a crowded house will greet them on this occasion.

THANKSGIVING IS COMING. A fine flock of wild geese passed over our village on Sunday—numbering, it was estimated, between one and two hundred. They flew too high for our sportsmen—they attracted many a wishful eye—this they did not heed, but kept on their great flight toward the South.

TIRRELL & SONS ON HARCOCK STREET, have made a new addition to their business—Saddlery and Harness Making and Carriage Trimming; this completes the round; you have but to throw in an order, and out comes a finished carriage. The different branches now carried on by this firm in their establishment, are as follows:

Wheelwrighting—light and heavy; Blacksmithing, in all its ramifications—horse shoeing included; Painting—plain and ornamental; and Coach Trimming, Horse gear, etc., etc.

It is a perfect bee hive of industry; and from the amount of work they bring out, it would seem as if they would put everybody on wheels.

THE STEAM CARRIAGE for roads paid us another visit on Tuesday; it came up to the public pump to quench its thirst—then made a graceful curve, and shot off through the Square like a rocket.

GRAND RE-UNION. The past members of the Quincy High School, will hold a Social Lecture at the Town Hall, on Friday evening, 8th inst.—a re-union of its members for friendly greeting and social intercourse. The invitation has been extended far and wide; a large attendance is promised, and from certain indications, in the way of arrangements, we are satisfied it will be a most brilliant affair. The exercises for the evening will consist of speaking, vocal and instrumental music, etc., and Thanksgiving cheer in the matter of refreshments. It is a new idea, but a happy one, that those who have left their academic pursuits for other callings, should convene for mutual congratulations—to compare notes, strengthen the bonds of friendship, and their appeal to the community, we have no doubt will be cheerfully responded to. See advertisement.

CONTRACTION OF THE CURRENCY. The report of the Secretary of the Treasury has been looked for with a great deal of interest, chiefly in regard to his recommendations on the Currency Question. The Report opens with an able and statesman like argument in favor of the policy of contraction and resumption, with the following recommendations:

First. That Congress declare that the compound interest notes shall cease to be a legal tender from the day of their maturity.

Second. That the Secretary be authorized in his discretion, to sell bonds of the United States, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent., and redeemable and payable at such periods as may be conducive to the interests of the Government, for the purpose of retiring not only compound interest notes, but the United States notes.

It is the opinion of the Secretary, as has been already stated, that the process of contraction cannot be injuriously rapid; and that it will not be necessary to retire more than one hundred, or at most two hundred millions of United States notes, in addition to the compound notes, before the desired result will be attained. But neither the amount of reduction, nor the time that will be required to bring up the currency to the specie standard, can now be estimated with any degree of accuracy.

The first thing to be done is to establish the policy of contraction. When this is effected, the Secretary believes that the business of the country will readily accommodate itself to the proposed change in the action of Government, and that specie payments may be restored without a shock to trade and without a diminution of the public revenues or of productive industry.

For the Patriot.
Thanksgiving.

In our youthful days, we remember with what interest we watched the appearance of the Proclamation appointing a day for special Thanksgiving. It was looked forward to as a time when something unusual would be offered to tempt the appetite,—and when mother would depart from her usual wise habits, and allow us extra opportunities for "helping ourselves," which we did in such a manner as to make it sometimes painful to think of; but our mother had the future welfare of her children at heart, and was thankful that, once a year, she could practically illustrate to us the folly of partaking too freely even of the good things of life. It is not entirely a youthful passion,—that of considering well what the article of our diet shall be, and of indulging in it to excess, if it be particularly well served up. But we must be thankful if we have an appetite in the midst of our plenty. Many a rich man would give more to possess a feeling of the beggar than to possess a feeling of the beggar as its exchange. The poor have to be very thankful for what they have, and for what they have not; and are they not richer in thank-offerings than those who seem to suffer in worldly things? Oh! see to the poor, on this, another return of Thanksgiving Day.

How striking the contrast, when we compare the present Thanksgiving with that of a year ago! Then, expresses were run to convey to our brothers in camp something like the feast we were enjoying at home. But how poor the offering, and how singular were its recipients! No mother's hand to arrange the repast, or to wait at the board! But how frequent, though silently, were benedictions poured forth upon her honored head! Many a boy, perched on that camp Thanksgiving dinner with dear relief, hoping that, by the return of another Thanksgiving, he should sit around his table at home. Some are thus favored—very many; while others are giving thanks such as only those can who have fought the good fight, and have passed to higher scenes. Their chairs are vacant at the family board. They will be filled in memory. There we will hold a seat for them.

A year ago—and now! How great the change! Who dares insist on good has been done! Who so reckless as to assert that the present wrongs are more than overbalanced by the good that has been accomplished? Are there any who will not see the advantage our people are making, and have made, even during the year which has passed? Is it not a progress in right ideas? And for this, let us give thanks. Let each year be fruitful in goodness, that we may have future to correct, and every day be truly a Thanksgiving Day.

THE HOME JOURNAL. We would call the attention of the reader to a notice in another column of this most excellent and popular family paper. To the issues, in particular, it has special claims; and to all classes, who appreciate the pure, the beautiful, and refined in literary matters. Mr. Willis, the ostensible head, has long been connected with the press, and his name, in the circle of those who appreciate polite literature, has become a household word. There are few, who possess the happy faculty, like Mr. W., of putting down the scenes and occurrences of everyday life, and weaving them into a fascinating shape. We say, therefore, to all who wish for a good, sound, practical and intellectual family newspaper, to subscribe for the Home Journal.

A ROUND SUM. The whole amount of naval prize claims already adjudicated is $10,000,000 in round numbers. Of this, $9,000,000 has already been paid.

PAPER COLLARS. One paper box establishment has contracted with paper collar manufacturers to furnish 11,000 boxes daily for a year. This gives some idea of the extent of the paper collar business.

AN UNSAFE DEPOSITORY. A Providence man deposited one thousand dollars for safe keeping in an unused stove. He was called out of town unexpectedly, and the cold snap coming on, a fire was kindled in the stove, and the hard earnings of years were reduced to ashes in a moment.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, as a reward to two Blackfoot Indians who rescued two white women from hostile savages, has directed to be presented to each of the rescuers a silver medal, $150 in money, and an official document, with his signature, narrating the circumstances of their noble conduct.

DEMOREST'S ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY. The December number came early to hand, filled as usual with its handsome descriptive fashion plates, full size paper patterns, music and useful receipts. Ladies will find it a valuable assistant, not only in selecting, but in cutting and making their own and children's clothes. For sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

THE DIFFERENCE. An exchange paper says "a little lot of printing paper which was set in a pile upon the floor of the office, reached only to one's chin, was killed to by the other day at $240, cash, nothing off. Before the war the same quantity and quality would have cost about $80, four months' credit, without interest."

CHOLERA. The people of Chelsea have inaugurated measures to secure the erection of a suitable monument to the memory of the soldiers and sailors from that city who lost their lives in the Union cause during the late war.

A mortgage deed in Ohio recently required $1000 worth of stamps.

The total receipts from Internal Revenue for the five months ending in November, amount to $151,628,104.68. The recent report of the month of November, are $26,849,695.99.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

By and with the advice and consent of the Council, I appoint, THURSDAY, the 7th, day of December inst., as a day of public Thanksgiving and Praise.

Lifting up our hearts and voices to the "Lord God of Israel who only doeth wondrous things," let the people of Massachusetts, uniting with the whole body of their loyal countrymen, on this return of our Annual festival of Thanksgiving, swell with songs of praise the chorus of National gratitude and universal joy.

"He has crowned the year with his goodness; and his paths drop fatness; they drop upon the pastures of the wilderness, and the little hills rejoice on every side. The valleys also are covered with corn; they shout with joy, they also sing."

In a spirit of forgiveness and charity toward all,—while rejoicing in the gift of grace in time past to encounter the perils and sufferings of war for our country and for mankind,—let us adore the Goodness which has given such victory and such honor to the right; has restored peace to our land and the promise of liberty and unity for all the inhabitants thereof forever.

Let us register anew our solemn vows of fidelity to our country; to the memory of our beloved brothers and sons who have tasted death in her defence; to the claims of war, bereavement and sorrow; to the wives and children whose stay has been broken; to the fathers and mothers whose dim eyes explore the hopes of another world for the sons they shall see no more in this; to the millions delivered by our arms and their own from bondage, yet to be assured in the full enjoyment of the rights of freedom and manhood; and to all those in every land who have stood as our friends in the great day of trial. And in a spirit of fidelity even to our enemies, let there be peace in our hearts and the promise and assurance of abiding peace hereafter, to all men of good will.

JOHN A. ANDREW.

HAPPY MOMENTS. We have experienced many happy moments the present week. Many of our subscribers have called and paid their subscriptions. Some not feeling satisfied with our advanced price of two dollars fifty, have given us three dollars for the year 1866, and also spoke many kind and encouraging words in our ears. Others have presented us with good things for Thanksgiving. When subscribers call and pay their bills in advance, and leave presents to gladden our hearts, we think it is enough surely to make a publisher happy. May we continue to be worthy of the many favors we have received of late.

LARGE SALE OF HORSES, CARRIAGES, &c. It will be seen by an advertisement in another column, that the entire stock of the Hancock House Livery Stable will be sold at Auction on Tuesday next. There are some excellent horses and Carriages in this stable,—also Sleighs, nearly new, Harnesses, Robes, Blankets, &c. MERITORIOUS TABLEAU PAINTINGS. Being assured by Mr. Usher of the Nation, that Mr. Scott's Tableau Paintings were not a sham, but all that the bills claim, I dropped in at the Hall on Tuesday evening.

I was sorry to find that an entertainment at once so artistically meritorious, and morally instructive, should commend so small an audience. The entertainment cannot fail to vividly impress the mind of the youthful beholder with the dangers connected with a transition from a cosy and pure home in the country, to one in a crowded and metropolitan city; while the rapid descent of the once industrious and virtuous young man through the various haunts of vice, victimized at every step by his crafty and villainous associates, tells a true but fearful story of the shame and dangers of such a life.

Lines
On the Death of Nathaniel Nash, who died in Quincy on the 19th ult., aged 50 years.

Sweet be thy slumbers freed one,
Yes, freed from all sickness and pain;
Long hast thou suffered on earth,
And now know that our loss is thy gain.

Thou hast gone where loved ones will greet thee,
Over the river of Death,
And where the soft breezes will fan thee,
And bring back thy fainting breath.

For we know that thou still livest on,
In a world far better than this;
Then why should we mourn for thee here,
Or wish to disturb thy sweet bliss.

The friends thou hast left will ere long
Cross over the river to thee,
And when thou hast seen them safe over,
From troubles and trials set free.

'Tis then that the music of angels,
Will fall in rich tones on thine ears;
When the friends that thou loved on the earth
Are removed to the heavenly sphere.

Companion, and friends of the loved one,
Mourn not that his earth-life is o'er;
For long has he struggled and toiled,
To gain that bright peaceful shore.

He has gained it at last, and is placing
A light in the window for thee,
Though troubles assail and storms beat severe,
Still a mansion in Heaven you'll see.

MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsomer and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

STANDARD

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

Complete in one very large Volume

of over 1000 Pages.

This work has never been a candid, lucid,
complete, authentic and reliable history of the
"Great Conflict." It contains reading matter
equal to three large royal octavo volumes, splendently illustrated with over 150 fine portraits of Generals, battle scenes, maps and diagrams.In the selection of matter for this great work,
the author has confined himself strictly to official history derived from the reports of Notar-ies and Southern Generals, the Report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, National and Rebel Archives, &c. &c.He has carefully avoided the introduction of any matter not strictly and reliably derived from the sources mentioned, and has succeeded in producing what is understandably a fair and impartial History of the War.Refracted and disabled officers and soldiers,
and energetic young men in want of profitable
employment will find this a rare chance to make money. We have Agents clearing $250 per

If We Knew.

If we knew the cares and crosses
Crowding round our neighbor's way,
If we knew the little losses
Surely grievous, day by day;
Would we then so often chide him
For his lack of thrift and gain,
Leaving on his heart a shadow,
Leaving on our life a stain?

If we knew the clouds above us
Held but gentle blessings there,
Would we turn away all trembling
In our blind and weak despair;
Would we shrink from little shadows
Lying on the dewy grass,
While 'tis only birds of Eden
Just in mercy flying past?

If we knew the silent story,
Quivering through the heart of pain,
Would our unkind words do them
Back to haunts of guilt again?
Life hath many a tangled crossing,
Joy hath many a break of woe,
And the cheek tear-stained is whitest,
This the blessed angels know.

Let us reach into our bosoms,
For the key to others' lives,
And with love toward erring nature
Cherish good that still survives;
So that, when our disordered spirits
Stare to realms of light again,
We may say, "Dear Father, judge us
As we judged our fellowmen."

SKINABLE ORDER. It has been ordered at Moscow that, in all public buildings, the doors of the main entrances shall open outward, instead of inward, as hitherto. The reason of this arrangement is to enable people to have free egress in the event of any accident or panic occurring.

You know the story of the boy who would not cry, though the wolf was gnawing him beneath his sock. Most of us have sometimes been somewhere; but we are generally gnawed beneath our clothes, so that the world shall not suspect. The man who goes about proclaiming himself to be miserable, will be miserable but contemptible as well.

A QUESTION OF CLEANLINESS. Dr.
Channing, in his recent lecture before the Boston Social Science Association, said that the Russian peasantry had a way of washing which he had not seen related in any book of travels. They took a mouthful of water from the pump, and, after holding it until the chill was well off, poured it, with a lively jet into the hands, and applied it briskly to the face. Towels they have none.

The following is said to be a sure cure for neuralgia: Take two large table spoonfuls of cologne, two table spoonfuls of fine salt, mix them together in a small bottle; every time you have any acute affection of the nerve or neuralgia, simply inhale the fumes from the bottle, and you will find immediate relief.

it refreshes, and it improves; if immoderately
it withers, it deteriorates and it destroys.

The directors of the East of Prussia Railway are now having iron boxes made, which will be fixed in front of the locomotives, and which will serve to keep the engine cool, and prevent the engine from overheating. The boxes are to be made of iron, and the sand falling on the rails gives the necessary purchase for the wheels.

It is said that a piece of blotting paper,
crumpled together to make it firm and wet, will take stains out of mahogany. Rub the spot hard with the wetted paper, when it instantly disappears; and the white mark from the operation may be immediately removed by rubbing the table with a cloth.

like 'em." Grandma took time to think.

Miscellaneous.

Hannah Gneidt's Door Step.

Hannah Gneidt leaned upon her broom and looked out from the low kitchen door across the wintry fields and the ice-glazed streamlet which lay between her home and the little village of Greenock, with its one tapering spire and slope-roofs and blank white walls, bare now of the summer verdure. She had done her household work, polished every article capable of polish, and soaped and sanded all the rest. At the last she had swept clean her door-stone, and now felt free to do what she chose, to rest, or gossip, or sit down to needle-work—a thing impossible to her while a spot beneath her roof was out of order. Just now she felt neither like gossiping nor sewing; her heart was very full, and she found it necessary to stand still and think a while. Only that she was not used to it, she would have cried, she was so very sad. It seemed to her that the happiest people were those who lay in their green graves in the church-yard, with crossed hands upon their bosoms, and feet quiet from all earthly going to and fro for evermore.

Not that Hannah Gneidt was tired in body, or weary with the toil of household duty; for she was strong of frame, and her health was perfect, as her hands were willing. It was on her humble heart the burden lay, her spirit that was worn with earthly travail.

Twenty-three years to-day I've been his wife, she muttered, and I've loved him well,
and worked hard and faithful to keep things decent, and it's come to this at last! Things had been better, says he, if he'd married Miss Lester.

Yes, that was what farmer Gneidt, harassed by toil and debt, had said to her that very morning; and it seemed to Hannah like the confession of a long repentance, forced from her husband's lips at last.

Poor man! I wish I could help him, she sighed, leaning on her broom beside the door.
I don't like him right about Miss Lester.

With that her eyes fell and rested by chance on the door-step.

I can't mend that, any how, she said; and I have time, for work is done.

So she hung the broom up, and peeped into her oven, and set the kettle on, and then, hooded and shawled, crossed the fields to where the farm joined that of Simeon Gray.

On one spot were men at work, and stones lying about.

Hannah Gneidt nodded to the old Farmer,
and he came to meet her.

I want a stone, she said; may I have one?
I wish you'd take 'em all, said the Farmer;
what of rubbish. You see I'm clearing away
what they call the old grave-yard at last.

Wife talks to me of sacrifice and disturbs bones. Bless you, there ain't been none for years; and these, hard times a man can't let land go to waste. I tell wife she don't know nothin' about it. What d'ye want to do?
Pave a little round the well?

No, I want a step, said Hannah. That great white one is just the thing. And she pointed to a slab hard by.

I shall bring it over to-night, said the Farmer.

No, said Hannah, I can roll it along.

And her arms, strong as most men's, went to work at once, and the slab was rolled, and pushed, and lifted on its way. It was toil for a laborer, but it did Hannah good. She tugged away, pushing, and lifting, and adding woman's ingenuity to man's strength—so that at last it was at her own door. There she let it rest, and dug the old stone out, and afterward brought water to wash the slab with; while as driven snow, for the most part, with some little yellow weather-stains about the edge, and on one side the black inscription—a name, a line of eulogy, and dates—Hannah stared with the curiosity of one who can not read.

I wish I could tell what that was, she said.
Some one's name and age. Ah, there were sore hearts when that was new. I hope when I die Oliver will have written over me that I was a good wife. I've tried to be. I ought to know that big letter—wait a bit, I believe it is Z.

Then she turned the inscription downward,
and washed the other side, clear and white,
and fitted it into its place.

She received little credit for her work.
Oliver only muttered.

You needn't have published the fact that
I couldn't afford a porch to all the place.
And no one noticed the step afterward save Hannah when she scrubbed it.

Matters were very bad at the Gneidts.
Oliver brooded over the fire in speechless sorrow, and grew grayer and balder with each passing day. Hannah kept run off a little by making a home of the poor house, for the feet of the humble fare by her house-wife's skill. She might have been cheerful but for the memory of that luckless speech.

Working in her garden one day, when the first spring grass was growing green, Hannah heard footsteps, and lifting her head, saw two gentlemen beside her; she arose precipitately, with womanly anxiety about her ankles, not strictly covered perhaps by her cotton gown.

The nearest gentleman, an elderly man, with bright dark eyes, addressed her.

Mrs. Gneidt, I presume.
Yes, sir.
She asked him to walk in, and he did so,
the other following.

In the little parlor they sat down.
You are Mrs. Hannah Gneidt, Oliver
Gneidt's wife.

Yes, sir. Is it about—about—excuse me,
you look like a lawyer, and I fear it's more trouble for Oliver.

Re-assure yourself, said the gentleman.
Re-assure yourself, madam, your husband is not concerned, save through you, and that I hope pleasantly. Your name was Burns before you were married?

Yes, sir. Hannah Burns.
Do you remember dates well?

No, sir.
You have perhaps, records of family events;
your own birth, your parents' marriage, your grandfather's death?

Hannah Gneidt wonderingly replied, I have mother's Bible

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Dec. 16th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

THANKSGIVING. The weather was unfavorable for out door diversions, and it also had the effect to greatly diminish the attendance at church, which always is very small.

Most of our religious societies were represented in the united service held at the Unitarian Church. After a few brief and fitting words of welcome by the pastor, Rev. E. P. Thwing read the Scriptures and offered prayer. Rev. S. T. Aldrich then preached from Psalm 112: xiv-xv, and reviewed the causes of gratitude seen in the prosperity enjoyed, the rewards of mechanical labor, agricultural and commercial enterprise; deliverance, thus far, from the pestilence which has desolated other lands the past season; the return of peace and the blessings of union, freedom and national supremacy. The duty growing out of these signal favors was then held up to view, namely to "pay our vows" unto the Lord and show our gratitude by cheerful obedience.

Rev. Z. A. Mudge, of the Methodist Church closed the exercises with prayer.

The singing of the choir was excellent, and reflected credit on Messrs. Hayward, Smith and others who took pains to prepare choice selections of music for the service. We wish that there had been a larger audience to listen to and join in this and in the other exercises of the occasion.

ACCIDENT. As Mr. John Dingman, merchant tailor, of this town, was turning the corner of Granite and Hancock streets, on Friday last, he incautiously stepped on a piece of ice, his foot slipped, and he fell heavily on his left side, dislocating the hip joint. We are pleased to learn that he is comfortable under the circumstances, and slowly recovering.

TEMPERANCE MEETING. The lecture of Rev. Mr. Park of South Dedham on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall was scantily attended—the weather and the walking being very unfavorable. The speaker urged the claims of the temperance reform—showed in his relations both to those who are victims of the cup and to those who are imperiled by the crime, and taxed by the prostration of the intemperate.

LECTURE. We learn that Rev. George H. Heyworth of Boston, will deliver a FREE LECTURE before the citizens of this place, in behalf of the United States Freedmen's Commission at the Town Hall, on Friday evening, Dec. 22d, at 7 1/2 o'clock. We trust that a full audience will greet this well-known and eloquent speaker.

JURORS. Messrs. Jeffrey R. Brackett and Richard Newcomb, have been drawn to serve as Petit Jurors, December term of the Superior Court, for Norfolk County.

AUCTION. By a notice in another column, our readers will notice a sale of old building materials this afternoon. These are just the sales to make bargains, and those having the cash should be on hand.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. A brakeman on a freight train on the Old Colony Railroad, was killed on the 7th inst., by striking his head against a bridge near the Atlantic Station. He lived a short time and could walk and speak after his injuries. The bridge at this place has proved fatal to several brakemen.

BRIDGE RE-BUILT AND OPENED. Under an act of the last Legislature, the County Commissioners of Norfolk County took possession of the Granite bridge across the river between Dorchester and Milton, and have rebuilt it in a thorough manner at an expense of $18,000, to be called the Norfolk Bridge. The bridge has been completed and is now open for travel, free. The old bridge was the last toll bridge in the county.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS. Our young merchants the Messrs Read have made large provisions for those in pursuit of holiday presents. Many fancy productions very pretty to hang on the Christmas tree, or to put in the Christmas stocking, can here be found. Call and examine for yourself after reading their notice in our columns.

HOLIDAY GIFTS. If our readers will glance within the jewelry store of Mr. John O. Holden, their attention will at once be attracted by the glittering lustre of burnished silver, and the elaborate and delicately finished workmanship in the more precious metal. Here are holiday presents of a most attractive character, napkin rings, tea and fruit knives, besides a rich assortment of gold and silver watches, pins, rings, and all the interminable bijouterie on which the feminine eye loves to linger, and which forms so acceptable an adornment to the feminine form.

COUNTERFEIT FIVES. Hingham Bank, Hingham, Mass., are circulating. Vigorously in left center, eagle and shield; in right center, female and large V. No genuine bills of this plate are now in circulation.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 9.

SOUTH WYMOUTH, DEC. 13, 1865.

In last week's Patriot, we noticed original portrait effusions, emanating no doubt from the brain of some veteran hobby, who, in its temerarious campaign has received more medals than the ladies' sewing circles of Quincy transmitted during the rebellion, to our gallant soldiers in the army. Indeed, dear Patriot, your bump of benevolence must marvelously preponderate to receive in your cautious type such ebullitions of spleen and grizzly bear sentiments as

"A LADY'S WATERFALL."

"She wore a monstrous waterfall the night when first we met. A roll half horse, half human hair, hung in a beaded net; It rested on her shoulders, the first time put to use, And she looked like a Digger squaw when laughing a pappoose."

Very cultivated! Exceedingly polished! "She wore a monstrous waterfall the night when first we met."

When first you met! Why, you seely old simple partner, we doubt if ever you were shrouded in respectable, genteel apparel; ever touched the lily white hand of a lady; been invited to a village fair; attended a fashionable church; or ever looked a Yankee school marion in the face! "Ladies' waterfalls!" You shivered at the mention of "Lewiston," did you mother know you are out? Who pronounces upon the fit of those meal-bag styles of breeches, which encase those pipe-stem legs of yours? Where's the elegance of that shoddy balloon looking sack coat, hardly covering your "valley of dry bones"—haunches. Who was ever enamored by the presentation of your pug-nose plus—labeled "bar hair," a pappoose—and about as accustomed to the couch as the hide of a panther? What comeliness—old Mr. single-blessedness, think you, ladies can discover, in that late fashion of the covering of the head's-bean-pot looking hats? or seeing the punched slapjack looking Koskutzky?

Hear your Thanksgiving week poet again.

"With her dainty head drawn backward, and her nose turned up in air."

"A monstrous man disfigurement, by every man—abhorred!"

Your nose, Mr. Fidelity old singleness, is not often in contact with fresh air; quite likely you are striving to master the polished vocabulary of the bar-room, and snuffing the sweet perfumes issuing from a platoon of granite-workers' tobacco-charged pipes; or lounging around some exclusively male billiard saloon, where the crowd, after a thorough soaking with Old Medford and questionable whiskey, can trust their dizzy heads from attic windows and rascals!

"See that lady coming! Ain't her waterfall a whopper? He, ha! See it! Gee, he, oh, ha, ha! Well, Mr. old poetical, single rascals; laugh, giggle, chuckle, and point if you please; you can't carry a corporal's guard of gallant young men, in your tattered livery always have the good sense to conform to the fashions of the times—in apparel and the arrangement of their hair. No gentleman would esteem that tail which can only ventilate itself at the expense of the female form—the secrecy of her toilet—the curling and adjustment of her cap-sione of ornaments—the hair.

In contrast to the aforesaid poetical buffoon, we invoke the attention of ladies to a young gentleman who was ushered into being at South Weymouth, soon after General Lafayette landed at New York, as the guest of the Nation, in the United States ship Brandywine; who, when a little lad, without family prestige or moneyed surroundings, resolved to be a man—in moral courage, mental culture and vaulting ambition; who, like Cicero, could see beauty in the fields, strength and utility to the plow, and the science of natural laws in voluminous books; who, when not yet eighteen years, as a member of the "South Weymouth Lyceum," astonished the Doctors of elocution, in that learned temple, by his depth of thought, logical presentation of ideas, arsenal of words, and euteness of successfully storming the vulnerable points of his opponents' argument. We never shall forget how he brought down the house one evening, when the question for debate was: "Does anticipation afford more enjoyment than participation?" We took the affirmative—he the negative. The Hall was honored with a splendid array of ladies. Our argument ran on worldly honors, visions of wealth, &c., &c. His admitted weakness of imaginary dience, &c., &c.—but contended that foresters at joys, however exuberant, were as nothing compared to the silken tier, loving glances and unalloyed delight achieved by participating in matrimony! His reputation henceforth was established. Among the disputants and members of said Lyceum, were Mr. for General Appleton Howe, Hon. B. F. White, &c., &c.

We now have the pleasure of introducing

E. GRANVILLE PRATT, ESQ.,

Counsellor at Law of Weymouth, now located at Quincy.

In stature, he is about five feet ten inches; in person, compactly built, with the finest steel sinews; has the Henry Clay air and carriage; an expression of countenance reminding one of Count Nesselrode, late Prime Minister of Russia, when Lord Wellington was Premier of Great Britain; he studied law and Latin ere he reached his majority; at twenty three he was Town Clerk and High School Committee of Weymouth; he is no visionary theorist—when he forms a legal opinion, he is assured Blackstone, Story and eminent jurists are in accord with his decisions. If trusts are committed to his charge, then his moral honesty, firm as adamant, will vouchsafe to the last farthing whatever you have reposed in his charge.

His manner, urbanity of manners, Christian deportment and polished address, is sought after, in a flourishing village, then Quincy has gained—Weymouth lost.

Our Photographs will continue.

KEOKUCK.

FIRE AT NEPONSET. A building used for drying damaged cotton owned and occupied by Chas. Hunt, at Neponset, was burnt on the 8th inst. The loss on building and cotton was about $2000, and not insured. Caused by wooden tunnel taking fire through the intense heat.

High School Re-Union.

We were rejoiced a few days since at the advertisement of a proposed re-union of the High School Alumni.

During the thirteen years of the existence and pleasant prosperity of the School, each class, on its appointed time, has finished its preparatory studies, and speaking the "farewell," has "turned its grow outward," never anchoring to make new soundings, and exchange renewed congratulations till at the festive gathering of last week. We are glad these re-unions have been inaugurated, and we trust the success of the first, will prove to be but an auspicious omen of an established annual festival of the kind.

Friday, December 8th will be a pleasant day in the annals of High School reminiscences. A large share of the Alumni was present—and these with the invited guests quite filled the Hall. It was truly good to be there. The talent, beauty, and genial spirits of the town came together, which united in rendering the entertainment a high-toned, social and enjoyable festivity. The re-union was occasioned, we were informed, at the suggestion of members of the Memorandum Society, which was to meet in the afternoon of Friday; of the existence and object of this society, we were made intelligible by the President of the evening.

The assembly was called to order a little after eight o'clock by Mr. George Randall, who stating that the meeting was partially under the auspices of the Memorandum Society, proposed Mr. A. F. Nightingale, President of the Society, as the presiding officer of the evening. It met the approval of the assembly. Mr. Nightingale on taking the chair, after thanking his "old friends" for the honor conferred, addressed the audience in an eloquent, forcible and finished speech, which was well appreciated and applauded.

He alluded in beautiful language to the past, present and future; spoke of the nation's history—cultured the devoted dead, who had fallen from their ranks in the late struggle, and closed with an eloquent appeal for individual earnestness and usefulness, doing great credit to himself, the Society, and the host of Alumni whom he represented. Mr. N. is, we are informed, about finishing his college course at the Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut. Why does not Quincy send more young men of talent to college? He was followed by some very interesting and congratulatory remarks by Reverends Mr. Wells, Mr. Thwing and Mr. Aldrich. The latter attributed the cause of the war, partially to the comparative ignorance of the South, and spoke very forcibly in favor of the educational system of Massachusetts.

Mr. Adams, who has recently resigned the Principalship of the High School, favored the audience with some pleasant, humorous, and well-timed remarks, closing with an exhortation that they should not "eat too much." We were also especially interested in the poem furnished, on request, by Mr. George Randall, and which he had prepared for the meeting of the Memorandum Society in the afternoon. It was a beautiful rhyme, giving in a happy, pretty style, a brief history of the Society since its organization in 1850. He alluded very touchingly to the death of two of its members—and very pleasantly of the three young ladies whom Cupid had made victims—enquiring what the gentlemen could be thinking of? And telling us that another of the ladies was to join the "trio" in the spring. Who is she?

This poem was one of the gems of the evening. But we would not forget to mention, without which, all such entertainments would be dull—the excellent music furnished. It was enlivening, elevating, grand. The songs and choruses were executed by Misses H. A. French, Churchill, Porter and Southern, assisted by the fine basso voice, by request, very kindly favored the company with the song, "Kathleen Mavourneen," which was most appropriately applauded. Nor did the Hall echo to vocal music alone. A very superior instrumental piece was finely executed by Miss Emma Russell, as also a duet by Misses Porter and Southern. Chickering's grand piano gave charming music beneath their skillful fingering.

But the "inner man" was not forgotten; and about half past nine o'clock the audience were invited to the Lyceum Room, to partake of the homely refreshments which kind friends had lavished, and which the ladies had arranged into a beautiful "spread." It was truly a prolongation of the Thanksgiving feast. After spending about an hour in such physical exercise, all returned again to the Hall, where another hour soon flitted away. Here a few kept beautiful time to the music of the piano in a delightful waltz and polka. The whole entertainment was a rich success, reflecting much credit upon the Committee of Arrangements.

The social hours closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne." If the enjoyment of all was commensurate with ours, there will be in Quincy many such re-unions—and we hope always to be privileged as one of the INVITED GUESTS.

CALL FOR CHARITY. Charles Tappan, Esq. of Boston, wishes us to call attention to the distress of the Freedmen, many of whom are widows and orphans of union soldiers. Just at the beginning of winter thousands of them are rejected from their homes, that the late rebel owners may repossess them. Seventy thousand are thus suffering in East Virginia alone. Disease and death have already begun their work. Help must be immediate. Clothes, blankets and supplies of all kind, or money, may be sent to Charles Tappan, 114 Washington street. Those who find it more convenient can leave their donations at the Post Office, care of George L. Gill, Esq. or at Mr. Clapp's store, to-day or Monday. We hope an immediate response will be given by our generous citizens.

"DON'T BE FOOLISH." You can make Six Dollars from Fifty Cents. Call and examine an invention urgently needed by everybody. Or a sample sent free by mail for 50c. that retails easily for $6 by R. L. Wolcott, 170 Chatham Square, New York. 16y

SINGULAR WILL CASE. The following will case is now under advisement before Judge White of the Norfolk Probate Court. Win. Watson Davis, son of the late Judge Davis, for some time a resident of Weymouth, Mass., but formerly an inhabitant of Boston and of California, in February, 1849, being then unmarried, made a will giving the bulk of his property to one of his brothers. During the month of November, 1865, he was married and died immediately afterwards, without making any apparent disposition of his property, which consisted principally of personal estate of the value, it is stated, of about $30,000.

The widow now claims a right under the law of Massachusetts, to waive the provisions of the will in order that she may procure her third of both the real and personal property.

Another brother also appears and claims that the will of 1849 is null, and that the property should be divided amongst the heirs at law. The following questions are therefore to be passed upon by the Probate Judge:—

Can a widow waive the provisions of a will in which no provision whatever is made for her.

Does simple marriage alone, without issue therefrom, revoke a will. Messrs. Procter and Ware appear for the widow; Subier and Welch for the brother to whom the estate is bequeathed by the will of 1849, and William H. Russell for the other brother and the heirs at law—Traveler.

A DORCHESTER HEROINE. Mr. S. Parkman Dexter and family of Dorchester passed Thanksgiving day with some relatives leaving the house in charge of the domestics. In the evening one of them, a female, had occasion to go down to the dining room, and discovered a man near the table. Upon seeing her, he leaped through an open window, near the ground, and she followed him by the same means, pursuing him a short distance from the house. But before assistance reached her the man escaped. Upon returning to the house she ascertained that her strange visitor had packed up the silver ware in one of Mr. Dexter's overcoats and in a few minutes more would doubtless have succeeded in removing the articles.

A short time since she detected a man attempting to steal a valuable harness, caused him to drop it and gave chase to the thief but he also escaped. Gov. Andrew thinks of giving her a major's commission. Traveler.

The Pastboard Mills at South Dedham, owned by J. Ellis & Co., were nearly consumed by fire on Wednesday last. Loss estimated at $20,000; insured for $8000.

Collector Hamilton at Boston has about a thousand names of applicants for berths in the custom house than there are places.

A Chicago doctor offered a condemned murderer $50 for his body for dissection. The "body" refused.

The new steamer "Old Colony," of the Newport line, made her first trip from Newport to New York, Monday night, with great success.

Joseph Ashton of Fall River, made a hog of himself on Thanksgiving day, devouring at a single sitting eight and three quarters pound turkey, and won a wager of $25 by the operation.

PACIFIC HOTEL,
170, 172, 174, Greenwich St.,
(ONE SQUARE WEST OF BROADWAY.)
Between Courtlandt and Dey Streets,
NEW YORK.

JOHN PATTEN, Jr., Proprietor

THE Pacific Hotel, is well and widely known to the traveling public. The location is especially amenable to merchants and business men; it is in close proximity to the business
part of the City—is on the highway of Southern
and Western travel—and adjacent to all the principal Railroad and Steamboat depots.

The Pacific has liberal accommodations for over 300 guests; it is well furnished, and possesses
every modern improvement for the comfort and convenience of its inmates. The rooms are spacious and well ventilated; provided with gas
and water; the attendance is prompt and respectful; and the table is generously provided
with every delicacy of the season.

The Suburban, who, for the past few years, has been the leader, is now sole proprietor, and
intends to identify himself thoroughly with the interests of his house. With long experience as a hotel keeper, he trusts, by moderate charges
and a liberal policy, to maintain the favorable
reputation of the Pacific Hotel.

N. B. To prevent overcharge by Hackmen,
the coaches of the Hotel are owned by the proprietor.

Manhood;
How Lost,
HOW RESTORED.

JUST published, a new edition of Dr. Cul- verwell's Celebrated Essay on the Rudical Cure (without medicine) of SPERMA-TORRHEA, or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Impairment, Impediments to Marriage, etc. also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents.
The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every young man and every man in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRI-

MACHINE GRAINED
Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Padded Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this navigation the actual veins
and fibres of the natural grains are molded
from the real wood, from which is impressed
a perfect fac simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any point of our wood surface
a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity
and with natural and more trust-worthy beauties than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not found in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at the same time to give the customer a choice of all the Machines-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, being rapidly introduced into all the

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.
It is beyond doubt the
BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing
Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful
appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling,
Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding,
Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No
other Family Sewing Machine has so much
capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make
our Family Sewing Machine most reliable,
and most durable, and most certain in action
at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known.
Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity,
can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine
is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine
when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While
some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and eluest manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb
manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family
Machine in operation, so as to judge of its
great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family
sewing as our Manufacturing machines are
for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

Lines

On the death of Miss Lucy C. daughter of the late Mr. Isaac and Mrs. Eveline Leach, of Weymouth, aged 24 years and 10 months.

Dead thou in sorrow, the fair one hath passed, Weep while the morrow grows dim o'er the waste,
For the light of her footsteps hath passed away
And the morning of hope is wrapped in decay.

The beautiful vanish and fade from our view,
Like Him, our Redeemer, who our infirmities
No; fadeless, and priceless, they bloom ever
there,
As live in yon Heaven the sainted and fair.

Jesus hath hallowed the tribute we pay,
And wept o'er the grave where a Lazarus lay;
So the fond ones now weeping for the loved
that have gone,
While they bend to the chaster, still weeps and loves on.

Thy cross now so heavy in faith meekly bear,
Like Him, our Redeemer, who our infirmities
bore;
Thy burdens cast on Him, he invites us to come And "thy will Heavenly Father, not ours be done."

Disappointments and sorrow, privations and death,
Are germs of the flowers of eternity's wreath;
Thou mourn not the loved ones now lost to thy view.
In beauty unfolding their bloom shall renew.

When the shadows of death from thy spirit have rolled,
And glories celestial all radiant unfold;
How sweet to be welcomed to Heaven and bliss,
By the voices and smiles of the loved we so miss.

Scraps.

A GOOD CAKE WITHOUT EGGS. One cup sugar, one butter, one nutmeg, one cup milk, two ounces currants, (or not), one teaspoonful dry cream tartar, one half teaspoonful soda dissolved in milk, four enough to make a batter.

SCOTCH CAKE. One pound brown sugar, one pound flour, one half pound butter, two eggs, cinnamon. Roll very thin to bake.

DO YOUR DUTY. Do daily and hourly your duty; do it patiently, thoroughly. Do it as it presents itself; do it at the moment and let it be its own reward. Never mind whether it is known or acknowledged or not but do not fail to do it. Do not think of yourself as a mortal, but as an immortal.
Fear nothing but sin; fear nothing but a mean action.

ETERNITY. Eternity has no grey hairs.
Flowers fade, the heart withers, men grow old and die; the world lies down in the sepulchre of ages; but time writes no wrinkles on eternity. Eternity! Splendid thought!
The ever present, unborn, undecaying and undying, the endless chain composing the life of God—the golden thread entwining the destinies of the universe. Earth has its beauties, but time shrouds them for the grave;
its honors are but the sunshine of an hour;
its palaces, they are but the gilded sepulchre;
its pleasures, they are but as burning bubbles.
Not so in the untiring hour. In the dwelling of the Almighty can come no footsteps of decay.

GOODNESS. Those persons who do most good are least conscious of it. The man who has but a single virtue of charity is very much like the hen that has but one chicken.
That solitary chicken calls forth an amount of clucking and scratching that a whole brood seldom causes.

Once upon a time a clergyman in a small parish was about to lose one of his parishioners, who asked a letter of dismission to a sister church. The clergyman questioned him as to his motives for leaving. Have you any faults to find with my preaching, brother?
Not for myself, was the reply. What objection has your wife? followed up the inquisitor. Oh, none at all! Where then is the trouble, my friend? Why my son says that he can't understand what you mean!
The minister looked sober for a moment and then rejoined—Well, brother, I suppose you must go for I can't preach and find brains too.

A nobleman, anxious for the education of his son, asked a philosopher the first thing he should learn. The extent of his own ignorance, said the sage.

Never parade your good luck, nor bad, before men; the first sight will make them think less of you, and the second will make them think more of themselves.

Experience proves to us that happiness without alloy falls to the lot of few; in fact we question it, in the literal sense of the word,
it has ever been the destiny of any—and wisely not; for were it so, the affections would enchain us so closely to this world that we should find no time to think of another.
As it is, not a tie is broken, or a being we love torn from us, but earth loses some portion of its hold, and the memory of the dead renders the idea of the grave less terrible.

The marriage of a flaxen-haired girl to a silver-haired man only shows that silver can buy flax.

There is room for many things in this large world of God's, but none for vacuums.

If a "still tongue proves a wise head," then the wisest of mortals must be dumb persons.

The strongest man feels the influence of a woman's gentlest thoughts, as the mightiest oak quivers in the softest breeze.

Ill news is swallow-winged, but what is good news on crotchets.

Why is love like a fire? Because it burns brightest when everything around is dark.

Miscellaneous.

Farmer May.

JOSEPH! roared farmer May's stentorian voice outside the kitchen door, where he was knocking the snow off from his great boot-nailed shoe. Joseph, you great lazy rascal, come and unharness this horse!

Out of the windy wood-shed came Joseph, reluctantly, into the biting Christmas time
air. Joseph was farmer May's bound boy, who did the chores, and carried the wee May children on his back to school many a time.

I don't think he's got any heart at all! exclaimed Joseph, passionately, as his numb fingers loosened the harness, and bitter tears stole down each pale cheek. And this is Christmas time! Oh, dear, dear! why didn't God make a beautiful time for me, too! Work, work, work, and never a kind word! I ain't good for any thing; I never shall help any body, or do any good, as long as I live; and I suppose God knows it. Oh, I pray every night, that I may help somebody,—and then, may be, I might get time to love me, or drop a kind word once in a while.

Here Joseph paused, and looked over his shoulder into the broad kitchen window. Oh, what a sight there was within! you ought to have seen it. One square patch of sunshine lay right in the middle of the snowy floor.
The beams were hung with long strings of scarlet peppers, and queer, crooked-necked, yellow squashes; besides, a beautiful branch of burning-bush sprang out over the chimney-piece. The great square table was piled high with golden-colored pumpkins, rosy apples, (just the hue of Tiny May's cheek, bless her!) and fragrant quinces. And clustering around, "just to see," were little variegated curly heads you might have mistaken for a bunch of marigolds; their eyes big with anticipation of the dainties in progress. How they laughed and shouted every time Hetty
May gave a vigorous chop at the obstinate meat-meat, and sent her curls flying off in a straight line from her head!

Dear me! cried mother May, in a flutter,
that Santa Claus tart is a burning! I'm sure,
and my hands in this dough, too! Joseph!
you Joseph! come here, and mind the tart.

Joseph, here, there everywhere! Why, there was not a member of the whole May family but was perfectly convinced that Joseph Craig had not a spark of feeling in him. He never hung up his socks; no, indeed! And little children, he never had a kind mother to put her soft hand under his chin, and lift his poor, pale face to her loving eyes. There is a beautiful little brook in every one of your hearts, that loves to have kind, smiling faces reflected in it, and pleasant words, like wild flowers, dropped into it. To be sure there is.

This was the day before Christmas; and at night, when the little ones were safe in their beds, farmer May threw a fresh pine knot into the wide-mouthed fire-place, and Santa Claus began invisibly to fill up the four long red woolen stockings hanging beside it. Good gracious! what a dancing and diddling there was about that kitchen floor
the next morning, when the beautiful sun revealed what Kris Kringle had been about! Even twelve-year old Hetty danced a polka
in a pair of new rubbers and a pretty silk hood, with delight. Thomas's blue-wheeled cart kept tripping everybody up, as he went careering round the room; and Tiny's great waxen doll stared at young and old with its impudent blue eyes. But the greatest general of the day was soldier Harry, with the shining new skates Santa Claus had just presented him. Already he was strapping them on, and explaining the bucking to the silent, patient Joseph.

Hurray, Joseph! hurray, every body! look out of the windows; I'm off to the big pond for a skate.

They were all so proud of handsome, careless Harry! Mother May was dreadfully busy preparing the Christmas dinner—for all the May relatives were to be there;—but she left the peeling of the turnips and onions, and,
with her wet hands behind her, peered out with the rest to see her promising son.

God bless the boy! cried out the Farmer,
in his hearty way; and the children's eyes glistened. Joseph's hand was on the windowsill, and farmer May's accidentally dropped on to it, gathering the slim fingers into his broad, warm palm. Joseph thought his heart would burst, and a sweet glow of pleasure stole over him. But the hand and pleasure were instantaneously removed, and the sunshine faded out of his eyes.

The weather had been unusually mild for two or three days before Christmas, so that the water lay on the ice of the big pond.
But during Harry thought he could brave it;
'twould be a pity to spoil the fun now, and so many admiring eyes fixed upon him, too.

He made a bold dash; his little figure, upright and graceful, was poised upon the ice.
Then there was a crash; the treacherous cake gave way; and with a loud cry Harry fell amid the rush of ice and water.

The group at the window seemed for a moment paralyzed with horror; then there was a scattering for the pond, and a screaming and crying from one and all.

He's under the water! Father! father!
Harry's going under the ice!

Every particle of color had left farmer May's face; he trembled in every limb, and threw up his hands wildly. His strength seemed to have ebbed away in the tide of grief. God help me! he cried. My boy!
my boy! and I can't swim!

But I can, shouted a voice brave and clear
as an angel's; I can swim, and I'll save him.
And dashing past weeping mother May, Joseph Craig plunged headlong into the freezing water, swimming for dear life.

How they watched him, breathless and excited, their hearts hanging by a thread. How they saw him grasp once, twice, at a dark object under the water, and then rise, his face gashed and bleeding from contact with the ugly ice-corners. He was far out now, and made a third dive; then there was a faint hurrah, and, breasting the ice, he swam up with one arm embracing poor Harry.

My child,—my child. Thank God,—cried
the happy parent, folding him in his arms.
They bore him to the roaring fire in the sitting-room, and rubbed him until he opened his eyes and smiled. Pretty soon he was able to sit up and laugh and talk naturally.

And where was Joseph all this time? Sitting on the kitchen floor, squeezing his wet clothes, and rubbing the great painful gashes in his arms, from which the blood was still streaming.

Joseph! He listened; it was farmer May's voice, unusually soft and tender. The bound boy shook like a leaf. Before he was aware,
a strong arm came around him, lifting him from the floor. He found himself, as if by magic, sitting beside Harry, and Harry's bright head resting on his bosom, with great tears rolling down the grateful boy's cheeks.

If there's anything you could wish for now
Joseph, said the farmer, huskily, anything you'd like to have, just name it, my boy.
You've saved us many a year of sorrow, and given us cause to remember this Christmas before all others. Come, speak out, my boy.

How could he speak, and be so happy?
Twice he essayed to gulp down the sobs rising in his throat; sobs of joy they were.
Only be kind to me, sir, he gasped out at last; only drop a kind word now and then;
for I haven't any mother, like the rest.

How was it now with farmer May? He was conscious of a great lack in his own-wise kindly heart. It quite broke him down—that appeal to his better nature; so he leaned on mother May's shoulder, and sobbed aloud.
Joseph sat in a dream; his beautiful Chris-mas had come at last. No more hunger and thirsting of spirit now. How the joyous red spikes of firelight ran up the white wall, the whole room shining. Harry squeezing him tightly with one arm, and Tiny, her cheeks flushed with crying, thrusting her pretty doll
into his lap, whispering:

There; there; keep it, Joseph; I don't want it—indeed and double-deed, I don't.

And then running away in the corner, her face turned to the wall, lest, by looking back, she might repent the immense sacrifice. Well, well, children, tears cannot always last; and the May family were soon bright and smiling again, Joseph the happiest of all. Why, I don't believe Kris Kringle, even, with his merry, frosty old face, looked more shining than the bound boy.

There was a great Christmas dinner, you must know, with all sorts of good things;
mother May couldn't keep Joseph's plate high enough with sweetmeats, and every one at the table drank his health in a brimming goblet of egg-nog. Oh, it was all fairy land, and his cheeks kept tingling with proud bashfulness all the time.

Farmer May gave Joseph his freedom, and sent him to school with Harry. He had good reason to be proud of him, too, for there never was a better or more studious boy.

So you see, little children, that God never neglects even the humblest. He held little Joseph in the hollow of his hand, and put him on the road to happiness.

Many a blessed Christmas has farmer May had since then, and may be, if you could look in upon them now, you might see them all seated around one of mother May's plum puddings,—farmer May in the middle, rosy
and smiling; handsome Harry on one side, growing up to noble manhood; and Joseph Craig on the other, with the promise of great good in his sunny blue eye,—all these thanking God for this happy, happy Christmas.

Manners.
Manners are more important than laws;
upon them in a great measure the law depends. The law touches us but here and there, now and then. Manners are what vex or soothe, corrupt or purify, exalt or debase, barbarize or refine us, by a constant, steady, uniform, inescapable operation like that of the air we breathe in. They give the whole form and color to our lives. According to their quality, they aid morals—they supply them,

or they totally destroy them.

Practical Joking.

A few days since, writes an attorney, as I was sitting with Brother C— in his office in Court Square, a client came in and said:
Squire, D— W—, the stabler, shaved me dreadfully yesterday, and I want

as his conceits. Let him make trial of the contrary; let him endeavor to think in long stretches at the same time he breathes in fits and he will find that it is impossible; that in this case the chopping lungs will still mince his thoughts.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Dec. 23d, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

Our Schools.

We learn that two or three changes have lately taken place in the administration of our schools. Mr. William E. Zandick has been elected to the office of Principal of the Adams Grammar School. Miss Augusta C. Foster has succeeded Miss Fuller as teacher of the Willard Intermediate. In the Adams Second Primary, Miss Emily H. Fisher taken the place of Miss J. J. Adams, who has been elected Sub-Master of one of the Boston Grammar Schools, at a salary which, beginning with $1600 per annum, increases yearly till it amounts to $3000 per annum.

CHRISTMAS. Another turn of the wheel of old Time, has brought us round to this ever-honored festival. Its associations awaken emotions to gladden the hearts of the old and the young. To the old, that they have been spared to witness another dawn of the day, and enjoy its many blessings. To the young, in the happy expectancy of the reception of some memento, from lover, friend or parent—a token of esteem, friendship, or parental love. The day, thus inaugurated, for religious and social communion, bids fair to be universally observed. Our shops are well filled with almost every kind of presents, to gratify the taste and inclination. Reader, let us tender you the congratulations of the season, by wishing you a MERRY CHRISTMAS.

FIRE. On Saturday afternoon last, a dwelling house on Main street, owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Dwyer was nearly consumed by fire. Cause accidental. We cannot learn that it was insured.

PERSONAL. Capt. B. F. Meservey, formerly of this town, and better known as Captain of Co. K. 18th Regt., has recently been brevetted Major for gallant and meritorious services while in command from the North Anna river to Petersburg.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT. The body of a man was taken from the top of a New York car, at the Randolph station, on Monday evening last who was supposed to have been killed by coming in contact with Cyprian's bridge, in Braintree. His name was Wm. G. Allen, and he enlisted in the United States Cavalry in Boston, on Saturday last, and at the time of the accident was on his way to the Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

CHRISTMAS TREE. We understand that there is to be a Christmas tree, and appropriate religious services, at the Universalist Church in this place, on Sunday evening. We also learn that there is to be a Christmas tree and other good things at Roger's Chapel.

THE REV. Z. A. MUDGE. of this place, will lecture on Temperance, in Lyceum Hall, next Tuesday evening, commencing at 7:12 o'clock. His lecture will be mostly to the young.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES. Services appropriate for Christmas Eve, will be held at Christ Church, on Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock.

ON MONDAY. (Christmas) services will commence at 10:12 o'clock, A. M.

THE ARCTIC OVER-SHOE. This celebrated Over-Shoe is made with rubber buttons and cloth top. The uppers being entirely water proof as well as the bottoms. Those having cold or wet feet, would never be without these Over-Shoes after having one trial of them. A full assortment for both ladies and gentlemen's wear to be found at Curtis's shoe store. See advertisement.

THE RIGHT MAN IN THE RIGHT PLACE. The legion of friends and former patrons of our indefatigable Deputy Sheriff, Washington M. French, Esq., will be pleased to learn that the Livery Stable so popularly conducted by him for 11 years, has again passed into his hands after an absence from it of nearly two years. By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that he has a stock of first class horses and carriages which he will let at reasonable prices. We learn that he has added to his stock an excellent hack and a pair of greys to match, which is just the thing required by our citizens on the occasion of marriages, funerals, &c. We also learn that a new office is to be built for Mr. French early in the spring which will afford better accommodations for the proprietor, "Steve" and his dog Jack, "Old Mingo," and the hosts of our citizens who have so long made an "Exchange" of the old office while waiting for the cars.

FRUIT, FLOWER AND SEED STORE. We would call the attention of our readers to the first class fruit, flower and seed store, of Messrs. Washburn & Co., on Tremont street, Boston. Their establishment is one of the largest in the city. All kinds of choice fruits, both foreign and domestic are kept constantly on hand. They also have one of the largest assortments of flower and vegetable seeds to be found in this country. Splendid flowers for marriages and funerals kept constantly for sale. See advertisement.

In Europe they keep boys to sweep the street crossings. Here the ladies do it with their trailing skirts.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 10.

SOUTH WYOMOUTH, Dec. 20, 1865.

Before the issue of another Patriot, Christmas will dawn upon us with all its attractions and amusements. Lads and misses will be upon the tip-toe for presents. Uncle and aunts will be caressed and patted—as only blooming youth so well know how to do, when souvenirs, that cost money, are desired. Parents in the fulness of their joys, will not overlook one of the darlings of their charge. Little girls and little boys are returning to rest, will swing their stockings from the chimney corner, having implicit confidence that Santa Claus will descend from the clouds and shower them with gifts.

Little ones! were you ever taught that there is a greater than Santa Claus? That high—high up in the clouds—aye, in the heavens, sits the Star of Bethlehem? That the Saviour of lost men was born eighteen hundred and sixty-five years ago, near Jerusalem, in Judea? That all Christendom join in commemorating his birth? That the annual festival is called "Christmas"? It is even so, children. To Him must be ascribed all praise; those sweet lines for youth, you so often chant, are for Him; thus:

"Twinkle, twinkle, little Star,
How I wonder what you are;
Up above the world so high,
Like a Diamond in the sky!"

Wishing all abundant pleasure during the Holidays! Trusting that the boys may all be presented with a superb pair of skates—and the girls with choice books and fine albums; young ladies over thirty years, with sweet assurances! fast young men with a new code of morals.

We remain with our Photographic apparatus in Status quo. KEOKUCK.

1866. Those who have not secured a copy of the Old Farmer's Almanac for 1866, should do so at once. They will find a few more copies left at the Quincy Bookstore.

SANTA CLAUS HEADQUARTERS. The store of J. A. McEllan, is filled with articles adapted for Christmas and New Year's Presents. Those of our readers in search of gifts will find loaded counters to select from.

THE NATIONAL BAZAAR opened Monday night at Faneuil Hall. The Quincy Band and played and Hon. Josiah Quincy, with others, addressed the audience. The Fair continues two weeks.

BREVETTED. Col. S. M. Quincy, now in New Orleans, has been brevetted brigadier-general for meritorious services—an honor eminently deserved, and which will be very gratifying to his host of friends.

NORRIS GIFT. The Superintendent of the National Soldiers' Home, of this town, informs the Quincy that L. B. Schwabe, Esq., has made to the institution the princely offer of a valuable library of several thousand volumes, historical and miscellaneous, together with all the papers, periodicals, and other needful appurtenances of a reading-room including carpets and furniture. The Count also proposes to decorate the walls with portraits of our prominent naval commanders.

Mr. Wentworth, of Illinois, introduced in Congress on Wednesday last a bill in relation to Mrs. Lincoln, the passage of which is required by the dignity as well as the generous spirit of the country. It provides for the payment to the widow of the late President of the full salary that would have been due for his four years' term of service. In paying this salary the country has an opportunity to make one material recognition of the services of the great martyr to the public cause.

No handsomer present to give a lady than a pair of those splendid Burt's New York Boots, or for a gentleman, than a pair of handsome toilet slippers to be found at Curtis's. See advertisement.

THE LAST INVENTION. Among the patents issued last week was one to William Tapper, of New York, for a bed bug trap, consisting of a braided frame made of split willow.

BIO STORE. We asked Mr. Campbell the other day how many bound volumes he had in his store. After counting the shelves, he estimated that there were fifty thousand; a pretty good assortment we thought to choose from. See advertisement.

Quincy, Dec. 23—tf

WELL DONE WYOMOUTH. We are indebted to a contemporary for the following, which was copied from the Philadelphia Times of a recent date. The occasion to which it alludes, was one of a public character. It thus discourses:

"Brass Bands. Last Monday morning more than ninety bands of music were assembled in Philadelphia, numbering probably over fifteen hundred instruments. They were gathered from all parts of the country. Washington, New York, the great cities of the West, and the small towns of the East. In this great congress of brass, the right of supremacy was stoutly contended for by an organization from a Massachusetts village, and awarded to it, too, by many competent judges, notwithstanding the celebrity of Doherty, the fame of the Washington Marine Band, the excellence of the Chicago Band, and the brilliant tone of our own corps of performers. The one to which we allude is called the 'Weymouth Brass Band,' and marched with the Humane Engine."

Who after this, will say, that Old Norfolk has not given the key-note to the "Music of the Union"? The challenge was honorably met, the award impartially conceded—and the best musical critics and judges yielded her the palm.

The Weymouth Brass Band was organized in 1844; and has rapidly progressed in public favor—rivaling in the accuracy and expression of its performances the most famous bands of the country. It was truly said of them:

"They seem to have more enterprise, more spirit, and to be actuated by a real love of music for its own sake, rather than from the profit to be made from the exercise of their talents."

Those who know this musical organization, know also, that what is here said, is all literally true—they have a living soul of music—that when it speaks, either in martial strains, or more plaintive accents, it awakens a spirit of melody, which finds an echo in every heart.

We feel proud of our neighbors; of those who have contributed so largely to her musical fame; of her enterprising and active population, and social and literary institutions—and when, ever opportunity offers to speak aught in her favor, we shall cheerfully improve it.

"HAPPY MOMENTS." The Hingham Journal says: "The fair address of the Quincy Patriot, a well conducted sheet, has, according to last week's issue, recently enjoyed a blissful reverie of 'happy moments.' This state of things seems to have arisen from the fact that some of her subscribers have not only paid up for their paper for the next year, but have paid even more than the regular subscription price, which is $2.50 a year. And in addition to this, some have not only sent her letters of encouragement, but have forwarded her presents as substantial tokens of their friendship for her, and interest in her success. Happy address! happy subscribers! we congratulate the Patriot upon its good luck. If any of our subscribers should happen to catch the 'quincy' and do likewise we will not murmur, we will bear it with all the fortitude becoming a man. Happy 'Patriot'! hope on! still labor, and your pains shall not go unrewarded. We do not despair; we still hope that in the due future there is a publisher, whose pen, shall, of life, which shall yet be met with, and which shall cause us to rejoice over just such 'happy moments.'"

We thank the Editors of the Hingham Journal for their congratulations. We have often thought when reading the Journal that its publishers were deserving of just such "Happy Moments," for their energy, zeal and untiring labors. We hope a good West wind will blow the "quincy" directly into their midst, which will cause the Hinghamites to load their editors' Sanctum Sanctorum with all the good things requisite to their earthly enjoyment. We wish them a MERRY CHRISTMAS.

MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

my pocket, occasionally trying the things on, and every time experiencing some new emotion. One day they would feel as much like a great horse-shoe, with nails in, as any thing else, and again I would be certain that I had a great circular wheel glowing under my lips. Some of my experience was very comical. They served me so, many times, and I was getting rather tired of my bargain; but by perseverance, I have become used to their ways, and now they can't get away from me, as I know just how to manage them, and how to bite on them, and bless from the bottom of my heart the inventor of false teeth.

CHRISTMAS EVE AT THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH. Rarely, if ever, have we had the pleasure of seeing a finer tree, or one containing more valuable fruit, than that of the Universalist Church on Christmas Eve. The day had been so stormy and tempestuous, it was generally supposed that the meeting would be postponed; but the church was two thirds full, and the services proceeded according to announcement. Many valuable presents were given by the members of the Society, besides those designed for the Sunday School; but the crowning feature of the distribution of presents was the presentation by the Superintendent, -Wyman Abernethy, Esq., in behalf of the Society, to their pastor, the Rev. S. T. Aldrich, -a complete set of the new American Cyclopaedia (library edition) accompanied by most feeling and appropriate remarks. Whoever heard both the remarks and the response from the surprised but happy recipient, must, we think, be fully convinced, that the bonds of fraternal sympathy, and Christian regard, that bind pastor and people together, are of the strongest material.

The lecture at the Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening, by the Rev. Mr. Mudge, and before the Quincy Temperance Society, was both interesting and instructive; and we only regret that the evening was so unpropitious that but a few were present to hear it.

THE CONCERT. The Town Hall was crowded on Christmas evening to enjoy an entertainment offered by the Hancock Glee Club of this town; and we are happy to say that the audience were not in the least disappointed. The songs and dramas were excellent; and "Galen" done his best, and received the crowning applause of the evening. After the concert was over those who wished engaged in dancing for several hours.

LECTURE. We would remind our readers that the second lecture of the Sunday evening course under the auspices of the Good Templars, will be given by the Rev. Olympia Brown, of Weymouth Landing, next Sunday evening, in the Town Hall, commencing at 7 o'clock. She will of course have a full house.

THE PUBLIC DEBT. It is estimated that the statements of the public debt for the month of December, will exhibit a reduction in the debt amounting to nearly twenty millions.

CHRISTMAS Oration. A large company assembled last Monday night to witness the Christmas trees, so beautifully loaded with presents, for the members and friends of the "Children's Progressive Lyceum." The trees, three in number, were beautifully arranged, and the Chapel elegantly trimmed. Rev. Mr. Aldrich addressed the assembly in his usual frank and liberal manner. His address was well received. The singing was good, and added much to the entertainment. The Superintendent or Conductor, L. S. Richards, introduced several features of the Lyceum, which afforded much instruction as well as pleasure.

STOPPING A NEWSPAPER. The worst economy in the world, says the Lewiston Journal, is stopping your local paper. Its cost is trivial—but you must be a peculiar man if it won't pay for itself twice over, in the information it will furnish you now and then in your business, by which you may take advantage of this or that movement in the markets; this or that new discovery; this or that property offered for sale; this or that new enterprise; and so on through a long list of affairs. It may be set down as a rule that the man who can't afford to take a paper, blindly denies himself scores of opportunities for improving his material condition.

SALUTES FOR THE ABOLITION OF SLAVERY. Gov. Andrew, regarding the Emancipation Proclamation as the virtual abolition of Slavery, followed up by the amendment of the Constitution, has ordered salutes to be fired on Monday next, Jan. 1st, as the anniversary of emancipation to connect it with revolutionary and other historic events. Salutes will be fired on Boston Common, at Plymouth, Dorchester Heights, Bunker Hill, Concord, Lexington and on North Bridge, Salem. The 1st and 2d companies of Light Artillery are charged with the execution of the order, and flags will be suspended on all the public buildings and at all the military posts of the Commonwealth.

Scene in the Town Hall.

Years ago when the Whig party was in the ascendancy in this State, an anti-Slavery convention was held in the Quincy Town House. The meeting was not largely attended; very few realized the importance of the question under consideration, or were aware of the intellectual ability and talent of those who were to address the meeting. John Quincy Adams attended the evening session, accompanied by his friend, Edmund Quincy, Esq. Mr. Quincy first addressed the meeting in his usual serious and earnest manner, giving utterance to many stern truths and facts. Mr. Adams remained unmoved. Wendell Phillips next came forward and addressed the audience in his style of unsurpassed eloquence. Mr. Adams still remained unmoved as though he was familiar alike with the subject and the orators. Parker Pillsbury next took the stand. His eloquence was moderate and majestic—like the swell of the ocean, occasionally bursting forth, as when a huge wave meets the opposition of a hidden rock. He was remarkable for his peculiar style of speaking and original ideas. It was probably the first time Mr. Adams ever heard this gentleman address a public assembly. The speaker dwelt upon the treatment that Massachusetts had received from some of the Southern States. Her colored seamen had been imprisoned. Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Hoar (conservative gentlemen) had been driven, one from Charleston and the other from New Orleans, where they had been sent by the State of Massachusetts on legal and lawful business. In the opinion of Mr. Pillsbury, the State had too quietly submitted to the insult. Alluding to this subject, Mr. Pillsbury gave utterance to the following remarks:

"Next January, when the time comes for the Legislature of Massachusetts to assemble at the Capitol of the Commonwealth, let every man of them take a shovel and a pick, and instead of going up to the State House, let them assemble themselves together at the landing place of the Pilgrims, and then and there, commence, and dig a grave from Plymouth to Charlestown. Let Bunker Hill Monument be the head-stone and Plymouth Rock be the foot-stone, and bury in that grave the departed liberties of Massachusetts; and let the 'Old Man eloquent' be the only lawful mourner."

Mr. Adams smiled; deep emotions evidently pervaded his breast; blood rushed to his face—he dropped his head, leaned forward, and remained in that position for some length of time, as though he fully comprehended the terrible condition of his country, and the unenviable position of his native State.

No burst of applause followed this remark of Mr. Pillsbury; but it was a scene long to be remembered by the thoughtful and observing ones who were present on that interesting occasion.

CHRISTMAS TREE. A merry party of old and young assembled in the Coddington Grammar School, on Saturday evening last, to share in the festivities of the occasion. Three handsome Christmas trees occupied a commanding position on the platform, whose boughs were bent beneath the rich load of gifts which loving hands had hung. After some very appropriate remarks from Messrs. Henry Barker, S. T. Aldrich, E. P. Thwing, and E. Granville Pratt, the distribution of presents was in order, and by the smiling faces of both teachers and scholars we should judge their hearts were gladdened by the numerous gifts they received.

REMARKABLE STATEMENT. We learn from the New York Evening Post, that Dr. Bellows made some statements at the late New England dinner in that city, which are particularly worthy of note. He said:

"No less than thirteen millions of money passed through his hands for the relief of the widows and orphans of the brave men who fought these battles in the late struggle. He would state a circumstance that would scarcely be believed unless it came from authority, that no less than ninety per cent. of the army who fought through the war were purely American. More than the more than ninety per cent. of the claims of wounded soldiers and soldiers' widows came from those of foreign birth. He did not say this to reflect upon the gallantry, loyalty and bravery of the Irish and German and other people who so nobly fought for the Union and the country they had adopted. He merely did it at this time—at the close of the great events through which they had passed—to vindicate the character and patriotism of the native element, and to disabuse those powers abroad who imagined or wished to please themselves or their subjects with the idea that the great American struggle and the great victory which closed it was achieved by the foreign element in the country. This was not so. With all thanks to the Irish, German and other elements that entered into the struggle, he was bound to make this declaration at the present time."

ACCUMULATION OF FLOUR. The receipts of flour in Boston for the past few weeks have been quite large, the amount by the Worcester route alone being some days recently at the rate of seven thousand barrels per day. A large part of this flour is stored, and will probably not come upon the market for some time yet. The rate of freight from Chicago is still enormously high, $2.40 and $2.70 per barrel. We do not look for an immediate and decided decline in the price of the necessities of life, but the tendency is now in that direction. -Traveler.

There will be a free lunch at the Merriam Saloon this evening.

Letter from a Virginia Lady to a Friend.

ON HER RETURN FROM A VISIT TO BOSTON.

The writer of the subjoined letter has always lived in Richmond. She remained there during the four years of the rebellion, and was thoroughly loyal, sympathizing heartily with our cause, and devoting herself to alleviate the sufferings of our prisoners confined in Richmond, by which course she exposed herself to ill treatment and insult, and narrowly escaped being actually thrown into prison.

Soon after the close of the war, she came with her mother to visit Boston for the first time. They were received with kind and grateful hospitality in the homes of many of those whom they had befriended—and the following letter was written to a friend in Richmond, with a deep sense of the mistaken impressions of most of the Southern people with regard to our New England character and feeling towards them.

YONKERS, SEPT. 25th, 1865.

"My Dear Friend: To Boston—beautiful, kind Boston—we have just hidden away, receiving free transportation to New York. I can neither express nor record the unmixed and unfeigned conduct of the kind people of Boston to us. We carry home hearts full of pleasant, thankful memories of the Governor, the Mayor, Judge Warren, the private citizens, the beautiful homes of taste and refined simplicity, lovely cultivated women, courteous and elegant gentlemen. We were pressed to spend all our time at private houses, at proffered passing part of it at the Tremont House. When we asked for our bill it had been paid privately, and to us, anonymously. There was a tender, considerate kindness shown to us in everything, which brings the tears to my eyes as I think of it. We were a week ago at a beautiful hotel, lovely—youth and orange flowers. To-day the father in that very home lies dead, and the fair young bride has a life-long sorrow in her heart. If General W. R. Lee is not the best, he is certainly one of the best men I ever knew. He has proved himself a Christian warrior, a whole confederate in one of our prison cells as a hostage for our prisoners, suffering every indignity and cruelty that treason ruling could devise. Never a harsh or vindictive word passed his lips, and many a rebel prisoner could testify to his kindness. To know, to appreciate the principles, the patriotism, which actuated such men as went from Massachusetts, you should see the hearts which are desolated, the heart-ties which are sundered, and the homes to which the survivors have returned. There is something higher, was the noble reply of a young husband and father to his mother as she urged all the claims, beauties and duties of home-life, and with his brave brother went forth both to suffer and to die, and both to die upon the battle fields. They died, and we are enjoying, in our present peace and our blessings, what they gave up life to secure us. I saw their noble father, aged eighty-eight, full of sublime patriotism."

"Our people are entirely mistaken in their idea of the low class of men who went from New England. Massachusetts gave her best blood, and building their city on their new made land. They counsel Nature to subside; they think, 'We know how the case is and was with us. Why, these people have conquered Nature. Such a people can never be conquered. They have wrestled from vast beds the rocks, and made a fertile soil, and now such by inch they are driving back the ocean, and building their city on their new made land. They counsel Nature to subside; and they counsel boys and girls to go to school. To see the number of imprisoned transients on Deer Island, looking healthy, happy, and at their books, was certainly to us a novel and amusing sight. We visited Fort Warren, and had an interview with Mr. Stephens. He is a very feeble, and prison life at best is hard. I earnestly hope, and trust, that his release may be speedy. It cannot be at all necessary that the dignity of the Government requires his imprisonment for the name he held, when blatant, bold, persecuting, defiant, original secessionists are pardoned, and others who have been secessionists and held high office under rebel governments are given work to do in the business of reconstruction. Mr. Stephens exerted himself to procure the release of Mr. Calvin Hason, of Rochester, who died a prisoner, but without success, because without power. Mr. Stephens was always suspected by the rebel Government as being unbound—was always obnoxious to it, and of very little, if any, party value. He is a true patriot, and his whole country—and would do all in his power to harmonize the different sections, and is a man wanted now in the Southern States. Had I either power or influence it should be his."

"But see how long a letter I have written you, and I have not told you half. Our trip to Plymouth Rock, our visit to Quincy; the schools; the libraries; the prison system; the hospitals; the city stables—only think of it; sixty excellent horses well fed, well groomed, well cared for in every respect, we saw in one elegant stable for the every-day purposes of the city. To remove will—to remove any and every thing—for public duty. Many things were to us a wonder. I never felt so gratified and thankful for our masses as I did here. They are not as responsible, because not as enlightened as these people. On horseback, Heaven's blessing, on horseback, free labor brings blessings in the family, in the community, in the government."

"My letter is unconnected; but I wrote most of it on the boat, in the Sound. We shall never forget Boston and its warm hearts. I wish our people knew it in its simple broad-heartedness, and without any art, our received opinion of its ultraliberalism. Its freedom, its ideas, and fanatics and ultraliberal are good, and a necessity as pioneers in human progress, but there is too much light and liberalism to permit ultraliberal of any kind to be the average sense of the community. I would you knew these people as they really are, dear friend. They should not be judged by the Yankee secessionists throughout our Southern States, nor condemned because differing in many things from us. There is a possibility that they may be right and we wrong."

"I must say one more word about Massachusetts, and then good bye. It's just a paradise for bachelors. Why, according to Governor Andrew and the census, there are thirty-nine thousand majority of women in the State; and such women—gems from seventy to sixteen—young widows, looking like pearls in black settings—maiden, fresh, fair, mature and sallow. The most confirmed bachelor might be excused for Benedict's change of mind. Selfish Massachusetts!"

"We are staying now with cousin E., at her beautiful home, overlooking the Hudson. A dreamy, lazy loveliness of air and scene is around us. We shall be home before long, and then I can tell you a volume of pleasant things."

Most truly yours, *****

A Boston firm bought 100,000 yards of sheeting, in 1861, at eight cents a yard, and sold it in 1862, to another firm at forty cents a yard, making $32,000. This firm made $30,000 on by selling it at sixty cents a yard to another firm, who sold it to another firm at 62 cents a yard who lately sold it out at 19 cents, incurring a loss of $43,000.

QUINCY FREEDMEN'S COMMISSION. This new Society is an auxiliary to the American Freedmen's Commission, which is doing a great and noble work amongst our suffering countrymen. We are sure our generous people in Quincy will give the claims of the Commission a hearty response and that, without delay. Rev. J. D. Wells is President, Rev. E. P. Thwing, Secretary, and Rev. S. T. Aldrich, Treasurer. The Constitution and list of officers and committees will be circulated to-morrow in the churches, and those appointed, it is hoped, will without further notice, take steps in collecting subscriptions as the District Committees, after mutual conference, may determine upon.

SUNDAY SERVICES. Rev. J. A. Albro, D. D., is expected to preach to-morrow at the Hancock St. Church. Hours of service are now fixed at 10:30 A. M., and 2:30 P. M.

THE LEGISLATURE. The General Court of Massachusetts, so called, will convene on Wednesday next, and then we shall know who is to preside in the Senate and the House of Representatives.

RAILROAD DIVIDEND. The directors of the Old Colony and Newport railway company have declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent. payable on and after the first of January.

SENATOR SUMNER'S PROPOSITION. The Chicago Tribune, the leading Republican journal in the Western States, expresses the opinion satirically in regard to one of Mr. Sumner's propositions, that in all States where one-sixth of the population are colored, one-half of each Grand Jury shall consist of colored men, should be amended so that, in places where two-sixths of the population are black, all the jurors shall be colored, and where one-sixth of the people are mulattoes, one-half of the jurors shall be colored women.

AN EXCELLENT INSTITUTION. A coffee room for workmen has been opened in Cincinnati, by the Young Men's Christian Association. It is furnished with small tables and chairs, at which, at all hours of the day and late in the evening, hot coffee and crackers, or a plate of hot soup, can be procured for the small sum of five cents. The reading room is furnished with all the leading daily papers and European periodicals, and is free to all.

There is a French Episcopal Church in New York where the contributions are collected by young ladies, and wicked people call it "the pretty water girl's church."

ADVERTISING. A gentleman who recently inserted a "Want" in a Chicago paper, received six hundred and thirty-two answers. Who says the people don't read the advertisements.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN FOR 1866. The best paper in the United States for Mechanics, Inventors and Manufacturers, is the Scientific American. It is the largest in size, and has by far the widest circulation of any other paper of its class in this country. It is published weekly. Each number contains sixteen pages, with numerous illustrations. The numbers for a year make two volumes of 416 pages each. It also contains a full and complete list of the principal inventions and discoveries of the day. Also, valuable illustrated articles upon Tools and Machinery used in Workshops, Manufactories, Steam and Mechanical Engineering, Woolen, Cotton, Chemical, Petroleum, and all other manufacturing and producing interests. Also, Fireworks, war implements, ordnance, war vessels, Railway machinery, electric, chemical and mathematical apparatus, wood and lumber, machinery, hydraulics, oil and water pumps, water-wheels, etc.; household horticultural and farm implements—this latter department being very full and of great value to Farmers and Gardeners. Articles embracing every department of Popular Science which everybody can understand, and which everybody likes to read.

As distant lands beyond the sea,
When friends go thence, draw nigh,
So heaven, when friends have thither gone,
Draws nearer from the sky.

And as those hands the dearest grow,
When friends are long away,
So heaven itself, through loved ones dead,
Grows dearer day by day.

VINELAND.

FARM and FRUIT LANDS, in a mild and healthy climate, thirty miles south of Philadelphia by Railroad, in New Jersey, on the same line of latitude as Baltimore, Md.

The soil is rich and productive, varying from a sandy loam, suitable for Wheat, Grass, Corn, Tobacco, Fruits and Vegetables. This is the best country. Five hundred Vineyards and Orchards have been planted out by experienced fruit-growers. Grapes, Peaches, Pear, &c., produce immense profits. Vineland is also one of the most beautiful places in the United States. The entire territory, consisting of fifty square miles of land, is laid out upon a general system of improvements. The land is only sold to actual settlers with provision for public adornment. The place, on account of its great beauty, as well as other advantages, has become the resort of people of taste. It has increased five thousand people within the past 3 years. Churches, Stores, Schools, Academies, Societies of Art and Learning, and other elements of refinement and culture have been introduced. Hundreds of new houses are being constructed. Price of Farm land, twenty acre lots and upward, $25 per acre. Five and ten acre, and Village lots for sale.

Fruits and Veg. Tables ripen earlier in this district than in any other locality north of Norfolk, Va. Imported places for sale.

Opportunities for all kinds of business, Lumber yards, Manufactories, Foundries, Stores, and the like; and Steam Power, with room, can be rented.

For persons who desire mild winters, a healthful climate, and a country beautifully improved, abounding in fruits, and possessing all other social privileges, in the heart of civilization, it is worthy of a visit.

Letters answered promptly. The Vineland Rural, a paper giving full information, and containing Reports of John Robinson, sent to applicants.

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A

Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.

It is beyond doubt the

BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gusseting, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chastest manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with the silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

PACIFIC HOTEL,

170, 172, 174-176, Greenwich St.,
(ONE SQUARE WEST OF BROADWAY.)
Between Courtland and Dey Streets,
NEW YORK.

JOHN PATTEN, Jr., Proprietor

THE Pacific Hotel, is well and widely known to the travelling public. The location is especially suitable to merchants and business men; it is in close proximity to the business part of the City—on the highway of Southern and Western travel—and adjacent to all the principal Railroad and Steamboat depots.

The Pacific has liberal accommodation for over 300 guests; it is well furnished, and possesses every modern improvement for the comfort and entertainment of its inmates. The rooms are spacious and well ventilated; provided with gas and water; the attendance is prompt and respectful; and the table is generously provided with every delicacy of the season.

The subscriber, who, for the past few years, has been the lessee, is now sole proprietor, and intends to identify himself thoroughly with the interests of his house. With long experience as a hotel keeper, he trusts, by moderate charges and a liberal policy, to maintain the favorable reputation of the Pacific Hotel.

N. B. To prevent overcharge by Hackmen, the coaches of the Hotel are owned by the proprietor.

Manhood; How Lost, HOW RESTORED.

JUST published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Radical Cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA, or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, &c. also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents.

The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—putting out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

The Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

TO FEMALES in DELICATE HEALTH.

Dr. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7
Essex Street, Boston, is consulted daily
by all diseases incident to the female system.
Prolaps Uteri or Fluor Albus, Suppression,
and other Menstrual derangements, are all treated on new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a very few days. No invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience
in the cure of diseases of women than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice for the cure
of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledge no superior in the United States.

of the year on a half sheet.*

See the editorial notice.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 6th, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

A HAPPY NEW YEAR. Perhaps our readers may think from the manner in which we appear before them, that our greeting is not from the heart—but a divided one. To correct any such impression, we would assure them that it is sincere—heartyly given, as we hope it will be received. That the return of peace will bring with it prosperity and its attendant blessings, is an era of better times. We feel under present appearances, that an apology is due our subscribers. The truth is, it was our intention, on the opening of the New Year, that the Patriot should appear in a new dress—for by the increasing favors from our advertising friends and others, it has outgrown its old one. Accordingly, new type and other materials had been procured from the foundry, for the change; and an order sent to New York for a press of larger size—on which to spread out the dimensions of the new dress. But alas for human calculations; the press did not arrive per agreement, to our disappointment; and the matter which was put in type, intended for this number, consumed so much time, that at the last moment, rather than break the chain in our weekly communications, and concluding that "a half loaf was better than no bread," we felt obliged to adopt as our only alternative our present course, and throw ourselves upon the indulgence of the reader.

"All's well that ends well."

And if our patrons will bear with us a little longer, we promise them that we shall soon be in a situation to make ample amends for all our shortcomings.

Advertisers will please accept the above for the non-appearance of many of their favors. It is all we have to offer. The truth is, we are in a terrible tight fix—never was worse cornered—but by another week we hope all things will be set right—and then all complaints will be cheerfully attended to.

PRINCE. A small frame dwelling house, on Summer street, in this town, owned and occupied by Mr. Daniel Dinegan, was discovered to be on fire, about three o'clock, yesterday morning, and was entirely consumed, with its contents, a barn and a small barn belonging to an adjoining owner. The inmates were only aroused from their slumbers, and a sense of their danger, by the smoke and flames bursting into their apartments, in season to save their lives. Mr. Dinegan, in the excitement of the moment, had seized a trunk, containing $130 in money, a watch, and other valuable, which he was obliged to drop, and which were lost, to attend to the safety of his family. Every thing was swept away—not an article of furniture was saved; and in this situation, father, mother and children, were turned into the street, on a bleak, cold winter morning, with only what they had on their backs. It is a hard case, but more so, when it is recollected that this is the third time, within a few years, Mr. D. has suffered from a similar cause. The wind, at the time the fire broke out, was blowing brisk and freezing, from the northwest, and the engines, (the Niagara and Tiger), which were promptly on the spot, had to keep in constant motion, to prevent their machines from freezing up; but they rendered efficient services, and by their fiery energy checked the progress of the flames. The occupants of the surrounding buildings were for a season under some apprehensions, for the sparks and cinders flew in every direction; the next house below, tenanted by Messrs. Reed and French—the one to which the barn destroyed belonged, had its paint defaced, and its wood-work some what injured. This was the extent of the damages.

The fire probably was accidental. The house only was covered by a small insurance at the Insurance Office in Dedham.

NEW YEAR'S TREE. Although we were not present we learn that there was a large gathering at the Hancock Street Church Monday evening. The tree we are told had a good yield and everybody seemed delighted. Music and recitations came first, reflecting credit on those taking part. One of the pieces recited was a touching story of a soldier at Andersonville, written for the Home Monthly. It was so admirably rendered as to bring up the Editor present, who evidently with "a brave business," turned the incident to account, by commending the Monthly to the patronage of those present. More than one hundred their names to him after the service.

Why want some of our young friends "read up" our Poetry columns, when preparing for their celebration, so as to give somebody a clever chance to advertise the Patriot?

THE LADIES' FAIR "AT BRAINTREE. We would call the attention of the reader to the "Ladies' Fair" which is to come off at the Town Hall, at Braintree, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, of next week. The Fair is for a most praise worthy object—to raise means to aid in erecting a monument in commemoration of the patriotic services of those of her citizens who fell in battle during the late war. A tribute of respect to the living for the dead. To preserve the memories of her lamented heroes, that future generations may learn their noble deeds, and emulate their virtues. The Hall will be splendidly trimmed and decorated; and the other accompaniments customary on such occasions, will be on an extensive scale, and of a most attractive character. The Committee of Arrangements—Messrs. Hobart, French, Alcorn and Arnold, have the matter in hand, and will spare no exertion to make the exhibition one of unusual interest, and well worth a visit. Braintree sends greeting to the patriotic sister towns; let it meet with a cheering response.

MINISTERIAL PRESENTATION. Rev. Nathaniel Hall, Dorchester, was presented on Christmas day, by several of his parishioners, with a sum teaching nearly $3000.

Notes from the life of a retiring Merchant.

Quincy, Dec. 30th, 1865.

The following brief sketch of the life of one of our most esteemed fellow-citizens, we cheerfully transfer to our columns. Mr. Brainerd, it will be seen, has been before this community as a business man, for fifty years. And during that long period, by industry and perseverance, integrity, and the more ennobling virtues, has secured a handsome competency, and raised up a host of friends, whose best wishes he will carry with him into his retirement, and those upon whom his mantle has fallen.

At the close of this year, I retired from business. The new year, 1866, opens a new and different scene before me. As I have made the change, and given the situation which I held in my store to my grandson—I thought I would give a brief account of my first experience in business.

I remained at home, with my parents, on the Mount Wollaston farm, (which my father occupied at that time) until I arrived at the age of sixteen years. I then went to Boston, and lived with Mr. Samuel Bates, nephew of the late Stephen Bates. I remained with him a few months only—his place of business was on Broad street. He did not carry on a very extensive business, and I came to the conclusion that I should like more to do; for that reason alone, I left him. For a short season, my time was wholly unoccupied—But Providence smiled upon me. I found a situation at the South End, with Mr. Lemuel Packard, Jr.—and here I found plenty of work. Business was carried on to a great extent at the South End at that time. I remained with Mr. Packard nearly six years. In 1815—April 25th—my father bought the place where I now reside, of Mr. Eliza Adams, of Boston. On the first day of January, 1816, my father and myself commenced business together. We continued the connection until May 3, 1831, at which time I purchased of my father the whole estate, and all the stores contained. The store being very small and inconvenient, I concluded, in 1837, to build a new one; better adapted to my purposes. From the time I commenced business in Quincy, up to the present date, will be fifty years.

In closing, I wish to thank all my friends for their kindness toward me, during my sojourn here, and hoping to meet with them often, I wish them all a Happy New Year.

JOHN BRINKLEY.

SCHOOL FESTIVAL. A Christmas—New Year's festival was held in the Washington Grammar School room, on the afternoon of last Monday, January 1st.

The room was most tastefully decorated with evergreen, the trimmings being of a very high order of excellence. All the Teachers of the several Washington Schools were present, and quite a large number of the friends of the school. The scholars of the Intermediate and First Primary Schools were marched through the room and given an ample opportunity to view the beautiful tree and its valuable fruiting. This tree, (the first tree that grew there) was beautifully laden with some four hundred presents, most of them being articles of utility, and quite a number of them of no little value. We think no one of the school was overlooked in the disposition of presents, while many a heart beat with gladness at the reception of needed and well-selected gifts from the hands of their friends.

Misses Amelia Mead, Louise Simpson, Lillie Starbuck and Nellie Hersey, and Messrs. Eddie Souther, Frank Hayden and Henry Mudge, entertained the company with select readings and recitations, with credit to themselves.

The exercises in gymnastics was very fine, and the singing by the school was worthy of the musical genius of Quincy Point.

The Principal of the School, (Mr. C. W. Carter), was presented with a beautiful copy of Willis's poem and other valuable gifts, and the Assistant, (Miss D. A. French) was the recipient of well selected, useful and ornamental tokens of the friendship and esteem of her scholars.

Well chosen remarks were made by E. G. Pratt, Esq., and H. P. Smith, Esq., and caustic remarks by the Principal. The festival was pronounced by all present, a decided success—and will no doubt be renewed every year hence.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL. The Washington Intermediate School had a Christmas Tree on the afternoon of Tuesday last at their school room. The tree was laden with pleasing gifts for the members of the school, and the occasion was one of interest to teachers, scholars and parents. The school room was finely trimmed, and every thing passed off pleasantly.

A Good Pig.

On the 13th of May, 1865, I purchased a pair of Pigs of Mr. Hail, Kitter Street, they then being just six weeks old. On the 22nd of Dec. they were killed, being eight months and fifteen days old. One of them dressed and was sold for three hundred and forty pounds.

The breed is a cross between the Chester and the Columbia County.

If any one has raised a better pig taking the age into consideration, I hope this will call out a report of it.

GEO. H. ARNOLD.

REAL ESTATE IN NORTH DISTRICT. The dwelling house recently erected by H. W. Blanchard, on Quincy Avenue, near Atlantic Station, has been sold to Mr. George W. Billings.

The cottage on Atlantic street, built some years ago by Col. Isaac H. Wright, has recently been purchased, improvements have been made about the premises, and it is now occupied by the owner.

Mr. E. H. Perkins, of Dorchester, has commenced a house on Walnut street, making the sixth built in that part of the town, since the commencement of the war.

Two gentlemen from Boston, owners of lots on Pitt street, are making arrangements to build early in the spring.

Every bank in the State has become a national institution with the exception of the North Bridgewater bank.

Quincy Charitable Society.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

We deem the following letter worthy of insertion in your columns, as exhibiting a generous thoughtfulness on the part of one of our absent townsmen, well worthy the imitation of those who remain at home. Let every man who has failed to become a member of the CHARITABLE SOCIETY, by paying the requisite fee ask himself whether he has done his duty by the Town's Suffering Poor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28, 1865.

To the Treasurer of the Q. Charitable Socy. "KIND FRIEND: I am inclined to the opinion that I did not pay my assessment a year ago. As it was due about the time of my getting ready, I might have forgotten it, I herewith enclose two dollars for last year and this. Please acknowledge the receipt, and inform me if I did or did not pay a year ago. I hope, as far as you are able, there will be none allowed to suffer for the wants of life during the winter that is approaching—as we live among a poor people, and in a country that brings forth abundantly and in regard to which, we can adopt the language of the Psalmist:

"Our lines have fallen on pleasant places—God has given us a goodly heritage." "With my respects to the President, and other officers, and to all the members, I am, your most obedient servant,"

"JOSEPH G. BRACKETT."

STATE GOVERNMENT OF MASSACHUSETTS FOR 1866. Messrs. B. B. Russell & Co., 55 Cornhill, Boston, have issued a copyright photograph under the above title, representing the State House in the centre, with portraits of Governor Alexander H. Bullock, Lt. Governor William Claiborn, Secretary of State, Oliver Warner, Treasurer, Jacob H. Loud, Auditor, Henry S. Briggs, Attorney General, Chester L. Reed, artistically arranged around it—the whole forming a fine picture, and a happy group of intellectual faces. The design is tasteful, and the artistic execution of the highest finish. They are published in two styles—a smaller size, for albums, at 15 cents, and a larger, for framing, at 50 cents. Those who would like to obtain a correct and life-like likeness of these distinguished personages for other purposes, can do so by addressing the publishers.

THE MALDEN MURDERER. In the case of Edward W. Green, the murderer of young Converse, teller of the Malden Bank which has been before the Executive Council for some time, it was decided by a yeas and nays vote, after a long debate Tuesday forenoon, not to commute his sentence to imprisonment for life. Six Councilors voted against commutation and three in favor. The matter therefore goes over to the new Council, the murderer in the meanwhile lying in jail.

TEMPERANCE meeting in the Town Hall next Tuesday evening. The usefulness of "Secret Temperance Societies" will be the subject for discussion; and the second number of the paper—the "Temperance Star" will be read. There ought to be a full house.

RE-ELECTION OF OFFICERS. At the regular annual meeting of the Stockholders of the National Mount Wollaston Bank, held on Tuesday last, the following were re-elected Directors for the year ensuing, viz: Wm. S. Perry, Lewis Bass, Joseph W. Robinson, Edward Turner, William S. Mott, Francis M. Johnson, John Q. Adams, Eleazar Frederick, Edwin B. Pratt.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors, Edward Turner, Esq., was unanimously re-elected President.

LOSS OF A FAVORITE HORSE. As a young man in the employ of Warner & Nash, was driving a horse yesterday, which had been in the possession of Mr. Brainerd for over ten years, he stepped into a deep rut, breaking his leg, making it necessary to kill him.

Marriages.

In Milton, on the 1st inst., by Rev. A. K. Teele, Mr. George T. Russell to Miss Mary Blackman, all of Milton.

In Yarmouth Port, on the 25th ult., by Rev. V. Lincoln, Mr. Alonzo A. Nightingale, to Miss Anna C. Ryder, of Barnstable.

In Leominster, (Mass.) on the 31st ult., by Rev. William J. Butt, Corporal Frank G. Carter, to Miss Mattie Stevenson, all of that place.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 27th ult., Mrs. Margaret, wife of Mr. James Fury, aged 38 years and 2 months.

In Brighton, on the 30th ult., Mr. James Newcomb, formerly of this town, aged 65 years and 8 months.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Webster's Spelling book is in such great demand for the reconstruction of the South that American printers cannot supply the demand, and the publishers have sent to Europe to get it printed. Over one million copies have been sold since April, and orders are now one hundred thousand in advance of the supply.

Well! said a senator after he had heard read the message of the President, "if a man educated on a tailor's workbench can write such a document as that, of what use are universities and colleges?"

Some members of Congress are receiving $1,100 mileage this session.

The colored people of Richmond had a mass meeting in the African church on Monday, to celebrate the anniversary of their emancipation. In Petersburg the negroes celebrated the day by a grand procession, with banners and public speaking.

In clearing out the Mashpuz ice houses at Providence, R. I. a piece of ice was found which was housed 14 years ago.

It is asserted that not less than $750,000 of counterfeit bills and one hundred dollar United States Treasury notes are at present in circulation. They are so well executed as almost to defy detection.

The number of postage stamps made by the National Bank Note Company for the year 1865, has been about four hundred millions. The number of three-cent stamps used is about one million per day. The stamps are printed, perforated, gummed and packed for twelve cents a thousand!

Seamens of the Alabama arrived in Washington on Friday. He is at present confined in the Penitentiary building, where the assassination conspirators were tried, but probably be placed in the Old Capitol prison. His trial will begin January 8th, in the Navy Department building.

It is stated that from two to three million dollars worth of boots and shoes have been imported into this country from Europe, within a few weeks, in consequence of the high price of those manufactured at home.

Edward F. Ketchum, the New York banker, and swindler, has been sentenced to the State Prison for four years and six months.

Boston was once the home of tea importers but New York now monopolizes the entire trade. Thirty million pounds, about a pound to each person, are annually imported into this country.

A seizure of about six hundred dollars worth of spices and brandies together with a team was made Monday last week, by the Custom House officer at Newport.

Two boys in Roxbury, Mass., got drunk on Sunday, and were left in an out of the way place by their companions, where they were found some time afterwards insensible from the cold.

Mrs. Mary Clay a lady 75 years of age, residing in Lexington, Me., has spun 515 skeins of fine woolen yarn during the past season, and is still at work.

General Grant was presented on New Year's Day with a carefully selected library, from fifty Boston gentlemen, headed by Hon. Samuel Hooper. The gift cost $5000.

Tom Thumb, having neglected to make a return of his income to the English commissioners, has been doomed to pay a tax on $60,000 a year.

The current price of hicks in New York for New Year's Day was $40 each, and they were scarce at that figure.

They are trying to find a young man in Chicago who is heir to $100,000. Several young ladies in other cities are looking for one just like him.

Philadelphia has appropriated $20,000 to maintain inspectors to see to the condition of the city as to cleanliness.

During the past twelve months 171 pedestrians were killed in New York by being run over by vehicles; 163 were drowned and 62 mangled or wounded so severely that death soon ensued.

It is proposed to propel the street cars on the Albany and West Troy track by the use of compressed air, to be supplied to a reservoir in each car from a great reservoir at each terminus. It is said that a car can carry enough compressed air to propel it ten miles at a proper rate of speed, and that it can be run at a cost of two dollars and a half per day.

The proprietor of a New York dining saloon made a Thanksgiving cake for the five Point men, weighing 400 pounds, and containing 120 pounds of sugar, 100 pounds of flour, 70 pounds of butter, 60 pounds of fruit and 850 eggs. It is 9 feet long, 21 inches wide, and 10 inches thick.

The National Bank Note Co., during this year, has furnished Government with four hundred million postage stamps, of denominations ranging in value from one to ninety cents each. During the month of March last, one hundred and two millions nine hundred and twenty-six thousand six hundred and thirty stamps were delivered to the Government, representing in value three millions five hundred and seven thousand one hundred and ninety-six dollars.

A man recently separated from his wife because she used a pound of tea a week. He found he had liked to her with all the elegance of a Cicero but without a dollar.

A man living in Atlanta, Ga., sent to a newspaper publisher the sum of $50,000 in gold and silver money, with the inquiry whether that would pay for a subscription to the paper for one month.

Five eclipses will take place in 1866, three of the sun and two of the moon. Two of them will be partly visible in Paris—one of the moon, March 30, and another of the sun, October 8.

Last year the stove trade of Troy was immense. Sixteen thousand tons of iron were sold, and one hundred and fifty thousand stoves were sent to market.

Mrs. Jennie Varney is now living in Ossipee, N. H., one hundred and two years old. Her mother lived to be one hundred and four.

A fat man in Paris sold his body to the surgeons for 1200 francs, went on a spree with the money, died, and was immediately cut up.

The Providence Bulletin gives a detailed account of the achievements of a hen, in the town of Warren, R. I., from the 28th of April last to the 23rd of November last. In that period the busy biddy laid seventy-six eggs, besides incubating twice, once bringing off five turkeys and three ducks, and the next time hatching eleven chickens. The money result of dame Parlett's labors was $26.37: her rations for the seven months cost $9, and the balance to profit was $17.37.

President Johnson, it is estimated, received about 3,000 "calls," on New Year's Day, in the blue room of the White House. Negroes were admitted to the reception for the first time.

Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, The Best and Safest Company IN THE UNITED STATES.

Why is it the best and safest? Because it has more than double the cash assets of any Life Insurance Company, and will earn more than any Company in this country for the policy holder.

Read, are you insured? If not please call upon the undersigned and take a policy, or leave your name and residence, and be waited upon there.

AN EXAMPLE!

Showing the working of a Policy of Life Insurance in

The Mutual Life Insurance Company,

OF NEW YORK.

Which has just been paid, as follows:—

The late Hon. DAVID PERKINS, of Bridgewater Mass., took out a Policy in 1854 for the benefit of his family for $5,000, upon which he paid annually $148.20. Previous to our last dividend in 1865, he had paid in all nine payments amounting to $1,333.80. The dividends added to his policy like the interest added to a Savings Bank book, were $1,661.05, being $327.25 more, than he had paid on his policy, making the worth of his policy at our last dividend $6,661.05. Still another payment will be due when we make our next dividend in 1866, which will exceed the two payments made since.

If the $148.20 paid annually in this case had been deposited in a Savings Bank paying 6 per cent. compound interest, the amount due the depositor after nine years would be only $1,953.39, against the present worth of this policy $6,661.05. Difference $4,707.66.

The above example proves that money placed in the MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, earns far more and is safer than if deposited in our best Savings Bank, as the policy holder gets the advantage of the large surplus and assets of $14,000,000.

LINES

Inscribed to Mr. and Mrs. Parker of New Haven, Conn., on the death of their only remaining son.

How lonely will seem the old dwelling
The house with its roof bending low,
The trees and the flowers and berries,
Where Merritt once wandered, you know.

How the eyes of the parents run over
With tears that are glistening like dew,
As they look on the chairs at the table
Once crowded, where now are but two.

I remember the words of his blessing,
When first I was spoken a bride,
How his spirit invoked love's caressing,
Whatever my feet may betide.

I remember it now, and I'm weeping,
In union with those who must mourn,
For the eyes that are closed in their sleeping,
Where the gaze that is fixed ne'er will turn.

But oh! stricken mother, remember,
Though the tears that are fast falling now,
You may look through life's opening vista,
Where glory encircles his brow.

Remember a rainbow of promise
Is set in the blue of the sky,
And the colors which shine in their beauty
Are made from the purest of dyes.

The sun that's eternal, shines ever,
And beams slant athwart the warm tear,
There's a light in the heavens forever,
And its glory—your promise is here.

Mrs. M. L. B. EWELL.
Quincy, Dec. 24th, 1865.

Scraps.

Cocoon Straps. Take Iceland moss two ounces, four poppy heads, four tablespoonful of barley, put in three pints of water; boil it down to two, and strain it. Add one pound of sugar. Dose, a tablespoonful whenever the cough is troublesome.

Another: Boil down thoroughwort to a thick syrup, and sweeten with molasses. This cures when other remedies fail.

A traveller relating his experience in the East Indies, alluded to the great number of servants employed by gentlemen in that country. To take care of my pipe, said he, I had four servants. Is it possible. Yes; it was the duty of the first to bring me the pipe; the second filled it; the third lighted it. And what did the fourth do. The fourth smoked it—I never could bear tobacco myself.

A Paris correspondent tells the following story:—A newly made doctor, practising in the suburbs of Paris, was called in by a small shopkeeper to see his child, suffering from a sudden illness. He gave a prescription, went away, and called again in two days after. The woman met him at the door wringing her hands, with her face bathed in tears. How is the child? Dead, was the agonized answer. Dead! what with? The mother gasped at weeping mother. Mosles? thundered the doctor; wretched woman, you have killed your child. If you had only told me that it was the measles I could have prescribed for it directly.

A shrewd preacher, after an eloquent charity sermon, said to his hearers: I am afraid from the sympathy displayed in your countenances, that some of you may give too much. I caution you therefore, that you should be just before you are generous; and I wish you to understand that I desire no one who cannot pay his debts to put anything in the plate. The collection was a rare one.

Blessed are they that are deaf, for they never lend money nor listen to tedious stories.

Many persons confess their depravity, but defend their conduct. They are wrong in general, but right in particular.

A horse dealer, describing a used up horse, said he looked so "if he had been editing a daily newspaper."

Many years since an Eastern man, on his way to Boston, was stopped on the highway by a robber, and requested to hand over his money, or have his brains blown out. Oh, said the traveller, quietly, blow away; it is better to go to Boston without brains than without money.

A Dutchman's heart-rendering soliloquy is described thus:—"She loves Shon Mickle so petter as I, because he has got a couple tollars more as I has."

The reason why woman has her way so much oftener than man, is that both he and she are conscious that her way is the best.

He is happier who has little and with that little content, than he who has much with impatience for more.

If you would pass for more than your value, say little. It is easier to look wise than to talk wise.

Men often attempt, by the light of reason, to discover the mysteries of eternity. They might as well hold up a candle to see the stars.

Men often are not aware of what severe and unfruitful labor they are capable, until they have made trial of their strength.

In a country church-yard this epitaph may be seen:—"Here lies the body of James Robinson, and Ruth his wife," and underneath, "Their warfare is accomplished."

Those who feed on slander are always hungry.

Miscellaneous.

The Old Clock.

The sunset was piling its temples of fire and amethyst over the dark hills that seemed to touch the flaming West: the whippoorwill moaning its plaintive cadence on the ruinous fence beyond the old mill, was answered by the ripple of the stream in the sweet, dream-like repose of a summer twilight.

Ralph Vane had stood waiting at the moose stile for two long hours—waiting and watching in vain.

"She is coming at last—at last!" he muttered between his set teeth, as a slight rustling in the bushes struck his ear.

No—it was but a robin darting homeward to his nest, half terrified at being out so late, and once more the deep, peaceful quiet brooded over the silent meadows.

"It's too late," he said, as the village church spire chimed nine. "She will not come now, and I have the ineffable satisfaction of knowing that I am a fool. She never loved me—she never cared for me, else she would have come here to tell me good bye. It may be the last time she will ever look upon my face. Much she cares, pretty, deceiving little coquette—yet I fancied, blind block-head that I have been, that she loved me."

He dashed a suspicious drop of moisture from his eyelashes as he spoke, and plunged in the dense, fragrant woods, as if he would fain bring himself away from human ken.

"Such magnificent wild strawberries as I have found down in the pasture lot, mother. Only look!"

And Rachel Bensley held up her apron full of scarlet berries blushing through silver-green leaves.

She was a pretty, rosy girl, with shining black hair, and brown eyes, that had the velvet softness of a gazelle's—a rustic beauty, whose sun bonnet was tied as coquettishly under her chin, as if it had been a French chip hat that had cost forty dollars.

"Put them down daughter," said Mrs. Bensley. Widow Moore has been here, and what do you think she says?"

"I don't know."

"She says that Ralph Vane has enlisted and gone off to the wars. He left the village last night."

Rachel sat down, the rosy bloom dying out of her cheeks, and leaving a ghastly pallor behind.

"Mother," she wailed, "do you believe that it is true?"

"I am afraid so, daughter. Do not fret—he isn't worth it, to leave you in this sort of way—you that he was as good as engaged to! Oh, Rachel, I couldn't have believed it!"

Rachel laid aside her bonnet, and began mechanically to punch the green stems from her strawberries, but she said no more. From that moment she never mentioned Ralph Vane's name; and all the tears she shed, were wept in secret.

And father Bensley, leaning against the porch pillar, drew a long breath of relief.

"She don't take it very hard, after all," he muttered, "I'm glad it's well over. Ralph Vane never would have made a good husband for her."

Three years passed away, and Captain Vane was walking up a crowded city street absorbed in his own meditations, when suddenly he stopped.

"Now what was it brought the wide old kitchen at Farmer Bensley's so suddenly to my mind just then," he thought. "I could take my oath I saw the old clock, just as it used to stand above the chintz covered settee."

And—hallo! there it is!

There it was—ticking monotonously away in the window of a dingy, little second-rate pawnbroker's establishment, on the corner where two narrow streets met.

Following the first impulse of the moment, he opened the door and went in.

"What is the price of that old fashioned clock in the window?" he asked.

"That clock?" said the Jewish-looking individual in attendance.

"Well, you can have that clock cheap bein' there's somethin' ails the striking apparatus, and it was such a shabby old thing we didn't care to have it overhauled. Two dollars for that clock is sayin' pretty fair."

"I should think so," observed Captain Vane, "as it cost no more than that when new. However, I will take it—for the sake of old times," he murmured to himself.

"Yes sir; I'll do it up directly."

"By the way, where did you get it?" he asked; with an affection of carelessness which he by no means felt.

"Well sir

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 13th, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

OUR SITUATION. The prospect now is, that we shall be able to carry out our contemplated improvements in the course of next week. We are only waiting the press, and that we learn is on its way.

COLD WEATHER. Those sanguine mortals who were congratulating themselves, from certain unfailing signs, that we were to have a remarkably mild winter, were brought to sorrow and disappointment, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of last week, and Sunday and Monday of this week. The weather, with but few exceptions, had been unusually pleasant, up to that time; but here, Nature, in one of her freaks, reversed the order of things. The thermometer began rapidly to fall, and by Monday had reached a point, which it was not safe to contemplate only over a good fire. It is said to be the coldest snap experienced for sixty years. It was accompanied by a drifting snow-storm, and appears to have extended with more or less severity, over a large portion of the country. At Washington, on Monday morning, the thermometer was a number of degrees below zero. On Sunday, in consequence of the storm and the extreme cold, there were no afternoon services at our churches.

PICK-POCKETS. Boston has not improved much in this respect, notwithstanding her new police regulation; her reformation is not to be effected in a day; strangers should use caution when they have occasion to mix with her population. One of our citizens, Mr. Charles P. Tirrell, had business which called him to the city, on Saturday last; and while in the act of entering the cars, at the Old Colony Depot, Kneeland street, on his return trip, a genteel dressed person, approached, and accosted him, in a most friendly and courteous manner—"Old gentleman take care of yourself!" Mr. T. thought he had no occasion for such advice, and paid no attention to it at the time—but almost immediately after, on feeling in his pocket, for his wallet, containing five dollars, he found it gone, and with it, his quondam friend and counsellor; whom he supposes in his apparent anxiety for the safety of his person, had taken the opportunity to relieve him of his money. Mr. Tirrell had prudently taken with him from home, only what money he would require for his immediate use—otherwise he might have had greater cause of complaint.

This Depot seems to have become the headquarters of a nest of pickpockets. Since preparing the above, we have heard of other cases of their dexterous art. Mr. Jacob Hersey, of the Point, had his pockets picked, recently, at the same place, of fifteen dollars; and other of our citizens have been bled in a similar manner. Let the Directors of the road, for their own sake and the public safety, attend to the matter.

THE LATE FIRE. We are glad to perceive that the sympathies of the community are being awakened in behalf of Mr. Dinegan, who was so great a sufferer at the late fire on Friday morning last. This is as it should be. By this calamity, Mr. D. lost almost every thing—house, furniture, money, and even clothing. Mr. Dinegan is a hard working man—has a large family to support—was one of the veterans of the late war—and if any one has a claim on our bounty—to the support and encouragement of a liberal community—no more worthy object can be found.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE. There appears to be numerous sales of real estate in this place of late. Quite a number of houses have been purchased by H. H. Faxon, Esq., those we have heard of are situated as follows, viz:—

House in Maple Place; house on Edward's Hill; house at Point Holes; house on Kidder Street; house at Braintree Neck.

APPOINTMENTS. John W. Thomas High Sheriff of this county, entered upon his fourth term of official service on the 3d inst. Sheriff Thomas has appointed the following Deputies who have been duly qualified, A. B. Endicott, of Dedham; George W. White, Jr., of Weymouth; Rufus C. Wood, of Canton; William H. Warren, of Randolph; Washington M. French, of Quincy; John J. Merrill, of Roxbury; John Robie, of Dorchester; John D. Bradlee, of Milton; John B. Ingalls, of Wrentham; V. R. Coombs, of West Medway; Alexander Fairbanks, of Medway.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK. At a meeting of the Stockholders, on the 9th inst., the following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year.

Charles Marsh, Jesse Buntin,
Josiah Brigham, Charles R. Mitchell,
Daniel Baxter, Edwin S. Bradford,
James Torrey, John D. Wincher.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Mr. Charles Marsh, was re-elected President.

Our Weymouth readers will find two interesting articles from their place on our first page.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 11.

South Weymouth, Jan. 10, 1866.

The inhabitants of "China" discard improvements; here, there is no occasion for a patent office; they are an agricultural people, yet their implements are three thousand years behind advanced civilization. Old cories live and die, content on the achievements inherited from their sires. The men of mark, and the autocrat of thought, are progressive—hurl off original ideas and bides the sequence. Such have been the master spirits, in the world's drama, since Titus made Jerusalem tremble and fall with his one horse "battering ram." Hannibal, the Carthaginian Field Marshal, in crossing the Alps and beleaguering Imperial Rome, executed a "dodge" never contemplated by the sages of his haughty realm. Martin Luther, in questioning the infallibility of the Holiness the Pope, and in annihilating the cories of Saint Peter's Vice Regent, unheeded the admonitions of learned savants, and spurned the trodden paths of old profound theologians. Lord Admiral Nelson, became the lion of naval warfare, by exploding old rules of combination, and substituting, rapidity of evolution, concentration and dash; Robert Fulton astonished the natives and all mankind, by inaugurating the first flank movement with steam—propelling a boat up the Hudson River! frightening the old Dutch Knickerbockers into an idea that Beitzebub was unchained, and final accounts not far off Dr. Franklin, when he grappled with fork lightning, and handled the sulphur flashes of light with steel ribbons, jumped over all prior essays on electricity; left in abeyance, promulgated science, and the research of favorite professors. Henry Wilson, the "Natick Cobler," by New Hampshire presumption and vulgar back-bone, has, against Court usages, knocked hereditary succession, from high, elective position, in this Commonwealth, by consenting to have his son, named as United States Senator, in competition with first families, and Harvard University classical scholars. General Benjamin Butler did not heed Scott's military code, when he gave orders for the glorious Mass. 7th Regiment to march through Baltimore and succor Washington, against Maryland's semi-forgotten Governor and frightened demurer; or in connecting the salt-petre gunboat magazine, for the conservation and capture of Fort Fisher; the boldest and grandest scheme projected during the rebellion—only for West Point negative agencies, in the closing finale.

In this vein of soliloquy, our imagination becomes fixed upon a gentleman, who has performed herculean labor, still looks young; who proverbially executes whatever he undertakes; never reverses the engine till head quarter station is reached; who in matters of choice roadsters is esteemed an expert; who, when seen on business thoroughfares, reins a steed, whose proud, elastic steps, would indicate that Professor Carey had been whispering ambition and the art of portraiture in the animal's ear, and that the component part of his nourishment, were oats, crackers, sponge-cake and eggs—with carriage and harness to correspond; who for some fifteen years has been proprietor of a lively stable in one of the prettiest and most flourishing villages of this Commonwealth; his management thereof, close application to duties, kind regard to the wants and comforts of patrons, secured extensive and remunerative trade, and hosts of friends, who believe in the Napoleonic idea of progress; thus acting, we find him, a year or two since, disposing of his best estate at auction, at a fair margin over original outlays; with the dawn of A. D. 1866—Presto! the veteran Marshal of the whip reappears at the old stand—Captain, General, and Executive Officer of the best appointed Livery Establishment south-east of Boston; new harness, new bachelors, rockaways, chaises, charmingly beautiful sleighs, superb mounted harnesses, Russia fur robes, etc.

At this juncture, having business at Napoleon, and proffered transit thither, in the easiest and fleetest turnouts we ever remember to have been in a "dead-head" in, with grateful, heartfelt emotion, we have the honor to introduce our friend and right-hand companion:—

WASHINGTON M. FRENCH, ESQ.,
Deputy Sheriff for the County of Norfolk.
Deputy French in stature, is about five feet eight inches—age apparently forty-one years; in person—robust, muscular and erect; figure and expression, reflecting in sculptural phraseology, a picture approaching that of George Sennott, Esq., the distinguished legal advocate at the Boston Bar—as seen in the artist's studio, on Tremont Row.

Mr. F. is a gentleman in deportment, bland and attentive to customers—punctiliously exact and honorable in business transactions; justly and meritoriously esteemed as a citizen. Success to his energy and perseverance.

Our Photographs will continue.

KEOKUCK.

ATTEMPT TO ROB A POST OFFICE. On Thursday night of last week an attempt was made to break and enter the post office at Mattapan, Dorchester. The noise of the thieves awakened Mr. McCondy, the Post-Master, who pursued and caught them.

The name of Messrs. Geo. W. BENTLEY & Co., Nos. 1 & 2 Holmes' Block, Haymarket Square, and from 93 to 99 Friend St. Boston, may have attracted the attention of our readers, having appeared frequently in our columns. They are among the most extensive manufacturers and dealers of Furniture in this country, and such are their facilities that very few houses are able to compete with them. We recommend their card to the attention of dealers in their line.

A NEW IDEA. The Quincy Railroad Company have recently obtained, from the Selectmen of Quincy and Dorchester, commissions as Special Police, for their Conductors for the better preservation of order in their Horse Cars. Appropriate badges will soon appear.

NATIONAL SAILORS' FAIR. The following is the final statement of the receipts and expenditures of this Fair:

Total amount of cash received	$274,236 84
Expenditures	24,716 88

Net amount transferred to Wm. Perkins, Esq., Treasurer of the National Sailors' Home $249,519 96

A HAPPY THOUGHT. It is stated that His Excellency Governor Andrew has procured the erection of a monument in the cemetery of Dedham, over the remains of the soldiers who died in camp at Readville. The shaft is of plain granite, the names of the deceased volunteers being inscribed on tablets thereon.

DANCING AND CALISTHENICS. Mr. W. E. Greene, of New Bedford, an experienced artist in his profession, proposes (it will be seen by a card which appears in another column of our paper to-day) to open a school at the Hancock House, when sufficient encouragement is given—for instruction in dancing and calisthenics—or the science of motion and elegant deportment. Mr. Greene's method of teaching is claimed to be entirely new—one peculiarly his own—which has the advantage over the old system, of enabling the scholar to make more rapid and thorough progress. The school will be composed of two classes—one for adults, and the other for minors of a certain age.

Dr. Channing was an enthusiastic admirer of this branch of education—and thus beautifully alludes to the subject:

"This exercise is among the most healthful. The body as well as the mind feels its gladdening influence. No amusement seems more to have a foundation in our nature. The animation of youth naturally overflows in harmonious movements. The true idea of dancing, entitles it to favor. Its end is to realize perfect grace in motion; and who does not know that a sense of the graceful is one of the higher qualities of our nature."

A CARD.
The undersigned takes this opportunity to tender his grateful acknowledgments to those of his fellow-citizens and members of the Fire Department, who so promptly came to his aid, and whose noble exertions were so freely exerted to save his property from the devouring element, on Friday morning last; also, to those sympathizing neighbors who threw open their houses to give shelter and protection to his homeless family. Their God-like deeds will ever be held in grateful remembrance.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The Treasury department is preparing plates for a new issue of fractional currency of 50, 25 and 10 cent designs, entirely original, and the notes will be nearly oval in form.

A diamond pin, containing thirty diamonds and worth many hundred dollars, was found at Bangor, Me., the other day, in a lot of tags imported from Smyrna.

The Liberator of last week contains the valedictory of Wm. Lloyd Garrison, who announces that this is the last number, the paper having been published thirty-five years. He says the object for which the Liberator was commenced has been gloriously consummated.

There appears to be considerable difficulty at the mint in putting on coins the motto "In God we Trust." The officers are afraid that everybody will read it "In Gold we Trust," which is much nearer the fact.

The latest Boston notion is a "paper hat" company, which is now forming. Waterproof paper hats are to be made for from eight to twenty-five cents.

A fire occurred in Philadelphia on Jan. 2d, destroying property to the value of $1,000,000. It was the fifteenth anniversary of an immense fire on the same spot.

The "restoration" of twenty lighthouses destroyed during the rebellion, is reported.

The foreign crops having been unusually good during the past season, wheat is now selling in France for less than one dollar per bushel, and it commands only about one dollar and nine cents in Great Britain.

The Chinese, who are firm believers in foreordination, when their houses or property may chance to take fire, squat themselves complacently on the ground, and with limbs skinned, gaze upon the flames—deeming it useless to attempt extinguishing them.

The Springfield Republican says in the winter of 1855 there were eight carrier boys employed to distribute that paper in Springfield. Three of these boys are now cashiers of banks in or near Springfield.

President Johnson was a lucky man on New Year's day. Somebody in Stamford, Conn., sent him a turkey which weighed 47 pounds.

The Supreme Court of this State has decided that towns have no right to raise money by tax to reimburse individuals for money paid to procure substitutes during the war.

AN ARTIFICIAL SNOW STORM. The intensity of the cold in New York, Monday morning, was demonstrated by a very singular phenomenon. It was a snow storm formed by steam. At the Fulton Ferry house a pipe of the heating apparatus carried the exhausted steam into the air; and the end of the pipe pointed upward, and the force with which the steam issued caused it to ascend thirty or forty feet. While in the air it was not only condensed but congealed, and came down in beautiful flakes of snow. A somewhat singular instance was recently reported to have occurred at a ball-room in Russia.

A COOL PROPOSITION. The Concord Bank robbers, who are doubtless in some foreign country beyond the reach of extradition treaties, have offered through some third party to give up the stolen United States securities (amounting to some three hundred thousand dollars,) upon the receipt of forty thousand dollars.

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS

OF THE CELEBRATED

MACHINE-GRAINEDChamber Furniture.

We are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.

Dr. Dow, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7
Edinboro Street, Boston, is consulted daily
for all diseases incident to the female system, Prolapsus Uteri or Floor Ailms, Suppression,
and other Menstrual derangements, are all treated
on new pathological principles, and speedily relieved in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the alllicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience
in the cure of diseases of women than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice for the cure

DR. SHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP SEA WEEED TONIC, AND MANDRAKE PILLS.
For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Dec. 16

Dedicated to Mr. & Mrs. Jos. Hayden, Jr.
On the death of their children, LONOTHEMUS and JOSEPH HAYDEN, who died Dec.
22d, 1865, aged respectively
11 and 5 years.

Weep, ye bereaved ones, from whose heartstrings these flowers have faded; for thus, perchance, may your sight become clearer to discern the glories of immortality! Weep, for thus did the Master, at the grave of one he loved! Weep, but oh, not for the bright and blessed ones united by sorrow, unaccompanied by sin. Weep, not for the beatified spirits in heaven—but weep rather for yourselves,
that your heavy hearts may thus find relief!
Pure and blameless were their lives—patient and happy their closing scenes.

Without one murmured word, dear Father,
They yielded their treasures up to Thee;
And joy, that in Thy love forever
From pain, from sickness, they are free.

Few summer's suns have come and waned,
Calling the blossoms into birth.
Since death first snatched the golden chain,
That bound those parents' love to earth.

Two darling girls—sweet, precious babes,
Death's messenger then bore away;
In two short weeks, both forms were laid,
To moulder in the silent clay.

But when their spirits soared above,
God graciously did impart,
The tenderest mercies of His love,
To heal their wounded hearts.

To them He sent more little buds,
To chain their love, in hours of gloom,
And hush them live for joys above,
Beyond the darkness of the tomb.

But, death alas! has called again,
And plucked the flowers from the dawn,
Into the midst of that bright land
And plucked two cherished hearts.

The first-born and the youngest son,
Two angels in one brief day,
Pure emblems of thy heavenly home,
Serenely in one casket lay.

Now together they rest, in love's fond embrace,
And sweetly they will sleep side by side;
Those hearts so truly united on earth,
Gentle death could not cruelly divide.

The oldest was far too frail, too fair,
To travel o'er life's rough sea,
Too tender the storms of earth to bear,
Thus gentle spirit soared to Thee.

We stood beside his dying couch,
With pain we watched his parting breath;
Yet when the light of life went out,
We could not wish him back to earth.

Escaped from his lips his sufferings severe,
Yet seemed glad when the hour of death would draw nigh,
And with his winged spirits a happier sphere

With a look of sweet peace on his dear patient face,
Where the angel of suffering had left its deep trace;
To the parents and loved ones, who wept by his side,
He smiled his last farewell—then gently died.

But to the pet, no heart had e'er deemed Death was so near, and so soon would bring Tie shroud and pall, for one who seemed
A picture of health, and lovely as spring.

His life was like the sweet May flowers,
Like them, he could not stay;
He came, he smiled, and suffered too,
And then he passed away.

His sweet voice is hushed, his bright eyes are closed,
And his home will know him no more;
But yet how sweet, in his placid repose,
To think all his sufferings are o'er.

The smiling seasons of the year,
When winter's chilling storms are o'er,
Whisper again, with light and bloom,
But those who mourn, return no more.

From God, from God, to earth they came,
To Him all souls return;
His smiles like stars of silver flame,
O'er all their pathway burn.

The happy birds will sweetly sing,
The flowers brightly bloom,
The stars, with eyes that never dim,
Will watch their peaceful tomb.

Until the Almighty Father's voice,
Shall read to a gloomy sky,
Then all His children will rejoice,
For death is but a truce.

Food father, stricken mother, a happy band,
Will soon welcome you to that better land,
And lovely brothers tread that straight narrow road,
And be blessed forever in the presence of God.

To the aged grand-parents now kind Father draw near,
Oblivion the sorrows, the burdens they bear.
And in Thy great mercy, blessed being of love,
Unite all their children in Thy mansions above.

And Father bless thou, all suffering hearts,
Who lay their hopes within the grave;
From doubt, from darkness and despair,
Oh, let Thy love be strong to save.

H. F. M.

A young and beautiful, but poor widow,
was about to marry an old rich widower.
Her friends wished to know what she was about to marry him for. She facetiously replied: "Pure love; I love the ground (meaning the farm property) on which he walks, and the very house in which he lives." There is platonic love for you. There is none of your school-girl foolishness in that.

Frogs do not croak in running water, and active minds are seldom troubled with gloomy forebodings. They come up from the stagnant depths of a spirit untried by generous impulses or the blessed necessities of honest toil.

A man once ordered a painter to draw his picture, and to represent him standing behind a tree.

Miscellaneous.

The Clergyman.

Miss Jellaby rose at six one beautiful August morning, and throwing open her chamber window, sniffed once or twice, at the fragrance coming up from the roses in the garden below. Then she hunted a moment for her spectacles upon the bureau, and putting them on looked eagerly at Randall Cottage over the way. A very modest, pretty little house it was, with roses and springing growing under each window, and jessamines climbing over the door; but Miss Jellaby was not admiring its beauty just then. She looked up at a front window on the second floor and gave a vicious snort.

As I expected! She isn't up yet, and here it is six o'clock! And where is he I wonder?

Before she had time to answer the question, as it was asked—mentally—the front door of the cottage opened and Miss Jellaby, shrinking behind her curtain, saw a handsome, sun-burned man come out, and go down the garden walk with a cigar in his mouth. It was easy to see by the slight roll in his walk that he was a sailor, though for the matter of that, his bearing, a handsome face, and frank hearty manner, would have told the tale, if he had never stirred a step.

With his hands in his pockets, he surveyed among the roses, bending down now and then,
as if to say good morning to the fairest, and always removing the cigar from his lips
when he did so.

He couldn't do no more if he was speaking to a woman, said the spinster, applying her eye to a hole left purposely in the white curtain. The man is mad about flowers, I do believe, and she is a touch beyond him, if such a thing can be. Ah, there she comes—and dressed in a blue gingham, too. I wonder what her morning gowns cost her every year! And her slippers—oh, mercy, there they go right through the wet—well,
there—

Words failed the worthy spinster. Meanwhile the owner of the slippers—and very pretty little affairs they were, bronzed-laced and all—was a spry old man, some thirty dew drop—tipped down the walk, so lightly that the gentlemen did not hear her step, and coming upon him as he bent over a bed of violets, gave him a push on his face among them. To see her laugh—to see him blunder up and chase her through the alleys—to see him kiss her, when he prisoned her at last in his strong arms—and to see her pretend to box his ears for it—was a sight for a loving heart to watch—but Miss Jellaby, over opposite nearly fainted away with horror. She rang her bell violently, and a square-faced, sour-looking woman, who had lived with her
for years made her appearance.

Susan!

Well! said the amiable domestic, briefly.
Before Miss Jellaby could speak, the unconscious pair in the opposite garden, transgressed against propriety again.

Walking up and down in broad daylight, with his arm around her waist—just look at her Susan! Do you mean to stand there and tell me that that man is only her brother?

Dear me, ma'am—how can I tell? I only know how they look alike, and that they have the same name—Helen and Philip Graham. I was told so.

Humph! Is my opinion that some one ought to speak to Mr. Fullerton.
The minister? What for?

Are you such a fool, Susan, as not to see what it all means. They are no more brother and sister than you and I are.

Well, what are they then?

That remains to be told—the wretches.
But Mr. Fullerton will soon set them to rights.
I shall go and see him after breakfast. I don't know what the poor man would do without me.

Have some peace, I suppose, muttered
Susan, under her breath, as she followed Miss Jellaby down to the parlor.

Breakfast being over, Miss Jellaby saluted forth to the paragonage.

The clergyman was a quiet, peace-loving man, somewhat timid and, and the spinster always overpowered him with her arguments when she attempted to do so. She stayed nearly half an hour with him; at the expiration of that time people who were on the look out saw her conveying the unhappy person in the direction, and, at last, through the very gate of Randall Cottage.

A tidy looking old servant admitted them into a pleasant nursery room, and said she would go and tell her mistress of their arrival.
Mr. Fullerton sat on the edge of his chair, very uneasy in mind, and wishing with all his heart that he was at home again. Miss Jellaby strode up and down the room like a dragon, eyeing every thing about her, and making observations in an under tone, which however, he could not help hearing.

Such extravagance! Look at that carpet,
now—all roses and lilacs, and straggling

green vines. Why can't they be contented with a druggist, as I am?

She took another turn.
And a gutter! Spaniards, I don't doubt;
or Italians; and the rest follows as a matter of course. Mr. Fullerton, I do believe these people are heathens!

Hardly, I think, or they never would have come to church last Sunday.

Oh, you don't know that; perhaps they had some private end to gain by it, said Miss Jellaby.

The spinster's unreasonable suspicions, tickled Mr. Fullerton beyond measure. She saw him laughing, and grew indignant.

Let those laugh that win, I say, Mr. Fullerton. I don't doubt you will feel more like crying before this business is settled.

No! I said the minister, with rueful look.

A crucifix! as I am a sinner, she murmured
a moment afterwards. There, Mr. Fullerton, what did I tell you! hanging on the wall
here in broad daylight. Shall I pull it down?

Are you beside yourself, Miss Jellaby? said
Mr. Fullerton, springing up and arresting her hand just in time.

The sound of voices and laughter in the garden prevented her giving him what she called, "a piece of her mind."

There was a race up the broad path, that sobered into a walk when the young couple nearly the windows, followed by the old servant, who had been in the grounds to call them.

They entered the room both together,
flushed with their frolic, but looking happy
and pleased to meet the clergyman.

Sin wears a different face than that, he said
to himself, as he shook hands with them.
They turned to the spinster who had bolstered herself up against the chimney piece, and stood eyeing them with sour disdain.

Your neighbor, Miss Jellaby, said Mr.
Fullerton, adding in a low whisper to her, as she sought about the room for easy chairs:
It's all a mistake, my good creature—there's nothing wrong here. I'll have nothing to do with the matter. Say nothing, and let this pass as a morning call.

Say nothing, indeed! Mr. Fullerton, I am astonished at you, as the clergyman heard it,
though he was too courteous to look surprised.
Pray take this easy chair, Mr. Fullerton, said Helen, who wondered inwardly at the strange behavior of her guests.

No, my child, said the clergyman, kindly;
sometimes I hope to come again. I can only express my sorrow at having been persuaded against my better judgment to enter these doors on such an absurd errand—and leave
you.

My dear sir, forgive me, if I do not quite understand! exclaimed the Captain, while Helen made up her mind that both her visitations were mad.

I will tell you at another time, said Mr.
Fullerton, nervously. I will only say, in explanation of this intrusion, that it has been caused by a most ridiculous mistake. Miss Jellaby, will you allow me to accompany you home?

Miss Jellaby folded her arms, looked at them all viciously, and thundered out—No!

Is she mad? whispered Helen to the cler-gyman. What does it all mean?

Miss Jellaby heard her.
It means this, madam, this and nothing more, that if Mr. Fullerton is to be censured by a pretty face, and frightened out of doing his duty, I am not!

Was there ever such an unfortunate piece of business! Miss Jellaby, I cannot allow you to commit such an act of folly, or to insult these young creatures. I command you, as your master, not to speak.

I take no orders from a man who shrinks
from his duty, said the spinster loftily.

My dear sir, (turning to the Captain), it seems that I cannot spare you this induction, so I

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 20th, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

Fair in Braintree.

The debt of gratitude and honor the country owes its defenders in the great struggle for national existence, is no where more deeply felt than in old Braintree—over forty of whose citizens have fallen in the service of their country. To commemorate the deeds of these men, and constantly to keep their names in grateful remembrance, was deemed a sacred duty; and accordingly measures were early taken into consideration for the erection of a monument which should be an honor to the town as well as to her fallen heroes. Messrs. F. A. Hobart, H. Abercrombie, E. W. Arnold, Asa French and L. W. Hobart, were appointed a Committee to initiate such proceedings as might be deemed proper in the case; and their deliberations resulted in a Fair—which, through their exertions has been a most complete success. The Town Hall was tastefully decorated with appropriate inscriptions; Chinese lanterns, streamers and flags; while midway up the Hall, were recorded on painted monuments, the names of Braintree's departed soldiers.

The Fancy Tables presented a tempting display of articles of every variety and description; curiosities from the four quarters of the globe; wax flowers, jewelry, silver plate, wearing apparel, toys, needle work and elegant furniture; such a combination of the useful and ornamental, as to prove attractive to the most fastidious, and leave no taste ungratified.

Meanwhile, the wants of the "inner man" were carefully attended to, and no pains spared to please the constant throng of visitors who came early and went away late, but neither fasting nor thirsting. Refreshments of a substantial character were served out in the room below, while those of a lighter nature, as pies and cake, confectionery and ice creams, on separate tables, invited attention in the Hall itself.

Throughout every Fair night of the week—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the attendance was undiminished—each night affording new attractions. The Braintree Glee Club, Messrs. J. M. Stevens, George H. Howard, M. A. Perkins, J. M. French and D. W. Howard, volunteered their services as a vocal quartet. Mr. French presided at the piano, and Professors Crane and Gomez, on the cornet and guitar, respectively favored the audience with exhibitions of their skill.

On Thursday evening the "Two Bazzards" was enacted with such success that it was repeated, by request of the audience, on Friday evening.

Several valuable prizes were drawn during the Fair; among which, were silver ice pickers, by R. E. Morrison, Charles Hayden and J. E. Holbrook; an easy chair by E. A. Wilde; a handsome silver service by A. Southworth and H. Abercrombie; China tea set by Mrs. John Bowditch, and an elegant lake of pond lilies by J. C. Daggett, Stephen Morse, Jr., an elegant clock.

On the last evening, such articles as remained unsold, were all disposed of at public auction.

The net proceeds of this Fair, have been about eleven hundred dollars; a sum by no means inconsiderable toward the erection of the monument. Fair week has been an era of genuine enjoyment and good fellowship. The arrangements have been faultless—and no sectarian or party spirit has been shown; for the cause has united all conflicting interests, and commanded universal sympathy.

A POPULAR LECTURER. We understand that Rev. Edwin Thompson, of the State Temperance Alliance is to lecture in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening next. Mr. Thompson is a well known and popular Temperance lecturer, and never fails to draw a house where he is known. He is famous for his anecdotes, and all who would like to enjoy a hearty laugh for an evening, can be accommodated by listening to the amusing and pertinent stories which enter largely into his lectures.

NEW CHURCH ENTERPRISE. We learn that our Baptist friends at the Point have secured the Hall over D. H. Bills' store for religious services on week day evenings. It was dedicated last Wednesday. It is not unlikely that a church may in time be formed. The kindest feeling prevails towards the Methodist Society with which the movers of this new enterprise have hitherto been connected.

LECTURE ON HUNGARY. Rev. Stephen Krassitzky delivered a lecture of thrilling interest on Tuesday evening last to our citizens. Owing to the weather and walking the attendance was small, and he is expected to speak again a week from to-morrow in some of our churches. This Hungarian exile is highly educated and belonged to a wealthy family of Magyars but lost property, home and liberty, for the truth's sake. His lectures are of great interest to all.

For the Patriot.

Boston Correspondence.

BOSTON, JAN. 18, 1866.

The State Legislature is now fully organized, and the Committees have been announced. The Speaker has paid a deserved compliment to your respected Representative, by placing Mr. Adams on the Joint Standing Judiciary Committee, usually in point of rank, the highest Legislative Committee. We predict for Mr. Adams a successful and honorable career as a public man. The popular branch of the Legislature will not be found wanting in talents the present session. Among the prominent members of the House, are Messrs. Doane of Orleans, Doctor Loring of Salem, Wakefield of Dedham, Colonel Thomson of Boston, Palfrey of Salem, Kimball of Boston, Bowerman of Pittsfield, with many others whose names stand as Chairmen of Committees. The presiding officers, who are beginners in their business, are fully answering the expectations of their friends. The most important topics for the "Great General Court" to consider during the session, will be, Aid to soldiers and sailors and families of the slain; the matter of Rate of Interest; Prosecutions under the Liquor Law, and Questions of Labor. The last, or proposed Eight Hours' System, when seriously considered, will be found to have but few advocates in its favor—as it could not comply with the agricultural and mechanical interests of our community. The best system for compensation for labor, is to pay the employee by the hour, with the right of working as few or many hours per day as the laborer may elect.

The proceedings of Congress are watched with much interest throughout the country; more particularly the action on the great question of "Reconstruction" or restoration. We have great confidence in President Johnson, and believe he will be found true and faithful to the union party of the country that gave their votes for him. The plan of restoration, if it may be called a plan, began with Abraham Lincoln. It began the moment the rebellion ended. To restore the late insurgent States to the Union just as soon as they give evidence of their loyalty or submission to the authority of the National Government. The abolition of slavery in all the States is forever settled by Constitutional amendment. No involuntary servitude exists; all men, irrespective of color or caste are free. The perfection of this plan of restoration or consolidation, is not only to make all persons free as to bondage, but equal as to the right of property, and the right of suffrage to all who can read or write. In the admission of the late insurgent States to the Union—these conditions should be required by Congress before their Representatives should be admitted; and the South should be continued under military rule if it takes ten years, until these terms of admission are complied with. This is what I consider the true plan of reconstruction. But more anon.

LECTURE. The third lecture of the course under the auspices of the Lodge of Good Templars will be given in the Universalist Church, on Sunday, (to-morrow evening), by Rev. J. P. Terry, of South Weymouth.

Subject: The traffic in intoxicating drinks, its nature and effects, and the best means of suppressing it.

THE BARNSTABLE PATRIOT. The venerable editor and founder of this paper, S. B. Pinney, Esq. after thirty-five years as a successful publisher, has retired from the charge, retaining his position, however, as editor, and has been succeeded in the business department, by Messrs. F. B. Goss and T. W. Pinney. (a chip we presume of the old block.) The new firm gives good promise for the future; under their management the Patriot has come out in a new dress, presenting a very neat and business-like appearance; with a fair, bold type—that "he who runs may read."

We are pleased with these indications of the prosperity of our neighbors.

Our old and valued Boston Correspondent has once more commenced writing for the Patriot. The first of a series will be found in to-day's paper, which will undoubtedly be read with much interest. His articles always comprise a world of good things in a nut shell.

THE ANNUAL REPORT of the Paymaster General of the Army, shows that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1865, that the sum actually disbursed, and in process of disbursement at the end thereof, was $430,024, 946.37. Nearly $100,000,000 have been disbursed since that time. About $570,000,000 of this gigantic sum has been paid to disbanded troops, mustered out of service.

THE BOSTON ALMANAC for 1866, has the Constitution of the United States; Great Events of the past year; Illustrated Sketches of Boston and its environs, with many fine engravings; Map of Boston, with the Horse and Steam Railroads and new Wards in illustrated print; Constitution of Massachusetts; Population, Voters, and Property of each City and Town in Massachusetts; National, State, County, City and Transportation Registers; Calendar and Memoranda pages; Weather Record, etc.

Price 50 cents, mailed postpaid. Issued by George Coolidge, 3 Milk street, Boston.

For the Patriot.

Soldiers' Monument.

It may be that the idea which I now suggest has been already sufficiently submitted to your readers through your columns. If so, I have not seen it. I know that many of our people are very familiar with it. At any rate, I will ask if any beginning has been made to organize a movement to secure some sufficient memorial of our soldiers? If anything has been done, can you tell us what it is? Nothing seems to me more clear than that the Town should soon take the preliminary steps to erect some impressive and enduring monument to the memory of the men of Quincy who have died for the Union.

It should be worthy of the crisis it will commemorate—and a fitting tribute to the immortal deeds of those brave men. It should stand at some centre of the daily walks of men, not in a retired cemetery. To answer the fullest consideration of these and many other questions, and the most careful preparation of all that is requisite for an adequate monument, why should we not now be moving to obtain the consideration of the people to this question at March meeting?—Q.

UNIVERSALIST LEEVE. We learn that Wednesday evening, Jan. 31st, is the time appointed for holding the annual festival given by the Universalist society of this town. All necessary arrangements are being made to have a good time, and full particulars will be given next week.

WE have received from our Representative, John Q. Adams, Esq., a valuable State document for which he will please accept our thanks. Such favors are received with pleasure and we hope to be kindly remembered.

WANT OF SNOW. The farmers of New Hampshire and Vermont are anxiously waiting for a fall of snow. There are many jobs which they require snow to carry on, and not the least important is the hauling of wood, which on account of the absence of snow has advanced very recently a dollar a cord.

DAILY EVENING COMMERCIAL. The first number of this new daily, or the Boston Courier, under a new head, was received on Monday last. It contains all the latest news, besides a large amount of miscellaneous matter including a story each day for the ladies. It is edited by Joseph B. Morse, Esq., and is one of the most independent sheets published in Boston.

"The Old Man Eloquent."

John Quincy Adams was often known by the above name after his eloquent speeches on the floor of Congress in favor of the right of petition. It is well occasionally to refresh the memory with the knowledge of the deeds of one who has done so much for his country and mankind, as Mr. Adams. Joshua R. Giddings, in the article written for the Liberty Bell, in 1847, on the Progress of Free Principles in Congress, makes the following allusion to the labors of Mr. Adams:—

"The Executive at the late session of Congress, by aid of his Cabinet endeavored to persuade that body to appropriate fifty thousand dollars as a compensation to the Spanish slave-merchants professing to own the human cargo on board the Amistad when she landed at New London. The Secretary of State sent a written communication to the Committee on 'Ways and Means' urging the appropriation. He also appealed in person at the Capitol and exerted his influence with the personal and political friends in favor of those piratical dealers in human flesh. When the question came up for discussion the letter of the Secretary was read at the Clerk's table and Mr. Adams rose to expose its misrepresentations. Feeble and trembling with age his voice was so weak that he could make himself heard only by those near him; yet it was no sooner announced by the Chairman than members from all parts of the house gathered around and after listening to him some ten minutes, less than thirty were willing to vote for the measure, and when it came into the house on the call of yeas and nays it was rejected by a majority of four to one. I do not expect to see another attempt in Congress to legislate for the direct support of Slavery. I have not time to speak of the suppression of the right of petition, and of the manner in which it was regained. The labors of Mr. Adams on this subject would furnish matter for an interesting volume. The attempt to expel him from his seat for his faithful efforts to maintain the rights of the people must be within the vivid recollection of every reader. His defence on that occasion presented one of the sublimest scenes ever witnessed in any legislative body. It was a glorious triumph of truth over error and prejudice. But this part of my subject must be consigned to a more able historian. The labors of Mr. Adams were crowned with signal success. The right of petition was regained after eight years of unremitting toil. These facts distinctly mark the progress of free principle in the councils of our nation."

It is said that the rice crop on the southern coast last year amounts to little or nothing. The Savannah river, where formerly 800,000 bushels were raised, there were ten thousand. On the Alabama, where six hundred thousand were raised, six thousand.

Parker's Pectoral Pastilles give immediate relief in all cases of Coughs, Colds and affections of the chest and lungs, and restore to the system a normal and healthy condition. They contain no opium nor any thing deleterious, and are wonderful in the efficacy with which they effect the cure of all diseases of the throat. For sale by all Druggists. Price 25 cents a box—Depot, 72 William Street, New York. Jan 13, 1866.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

George W. Day, of Chelsea, Mass., the inventor of a machine for shoes, which drives the shoe thread like pegs, making a good imitation of pegged work, has sold his interest for $200,000, and is to receive a per centage on every pair of boots made by the process.

Eighty general officers were mustered out out by an order issued recently from the War Department. Some of these officers have done excellent service, but the country having ceased to call for them, they should now return to civil life as gracefully as the privates have done who fought as long and as bravely for their country, as though they were stars and bars instead of handling the musket.

One of the largest farmers in the United States is Mr. Bidwell, of California, the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture in the House of Representatives. He owns 56,000 acres of land, and last year his wheat crop was 38,000 bushels.

A couple in Litchfield county, Ct., had lived together for ten years supporting themselves married. Difficulties having arisen applied to the court for a divorce. Upon investigation it was found out that they had never been legally married. Like sensible people they gave up the idea of a divorce and were married.

The Canada farmers along the border have sent a large number of cattle into Vermont in anticipation of the termination of the reciprocity treaty. In the vicinity of Derby all the farmyards are completely filled with cattle awaiting sale and shipment to Brighton.

A novel race took place between ice-boats on the Hudson. The winner made eight miles in ten minutes.

The North lost by the war, 270,000 men. The South lost by the war, 225,000 men.

According to the statement of a Tennessee member of Congress, a majority of the marriages that are taking place in Memphis are between ex-secession ladies and northern emigrants.

An iron street railway has been invented in New York, to be supported on pillars of cast-iron, wrought iron, 17 feet high; one track to be on each side the roadway. The propelling power is to be supplied by a dummy engine, which is to be voiceless and sparkless. A light staircase at one corner of each street will afford the requisite facility for reaching and quitting the cars.

The estimates of the Lighthouse Board for the completion of repairs to lighthouses damaged during the rebellion call for one hundred and fifty thousand dollars more, making a sum total of three hundred thousand dollars which the rebellion cost us in the single year.

The fire insurance companies of New York city suffered heavier losses last year, than for many years past. In 1864 the loss was $28,000,000 in round numbers; in 1865 over $45,000,000.

It is contemplated to build a poorhouse in each county in Virginia for the negroes, compelling them to bear the burden of the expense.

Authentic information has been received from the planning States showing that vigorous efforts are being made to produce a cotton crop the coming year.

Of the 9000 post offices in the disloyal States, about 2000 have been re-opened. Nearly 300 have received postmistresses, not because they were more loyal, but because they could take the oath that they had not borne arms against their country.

The New York Herald reports that during the past year 183 railroad accidents occurred; 345 persons were killed and 1427 injured. In 1864, 401 were killed, and 1486 injured.

The skating park in Allegheny City, Pa., is probably the finest in the country. It comprises seven acres, with clear ice, and a half mile race course, with buildings and a reception-room for ladies. The buildings alone cost $10,000.

It is estimated that on Wednesday ten thousand persons dispersed themselves upon the ice of the Central Park ponds in New York.

A Chicago clergyman missed his stockings on Christmas morning, and after a long search found one on each horn of a new milch cow, which had been presented to him by his parishioners, and ornamented in this way to indicate that it was a Christmas gift.

The Old Colony and Fall River railroad earned $1,209,058 during the year ending November 30, of which $812,328 was from passengers, and $396,770 for freight. The expenses of working the road were $644,471, and the dividends paid—8 per cent—amounted to 303,966. The number of passengers carried was 1,832,590.

The New York state bank at Albany has paid 31 per cent, in dividends in the last eighteen months.

John Seaver of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, has completed his task of walking one hundred miles in one hundred hours, on a wage, and thinks he has done an astonishing feat.

Considerable care is manifested in the Southern States for the safe keeping of the rebel battle flags as souvenirs.

Simon Draper is said to have made a pleasant $500,000 from the New York Collectorship in the year he held it.

The Chicago people are mystified. Two figures of a man's hand came through a hydrant on Lake street, on Tuesday, and nobody knows the original owner.

Hon. Amos Kendall has erected a house of worship for a Baptist Church in Washington, D. C., at a cost of $60,000 and generously donated it to the church. Rev. Mr. Howlett formerly of Trenton, N. J. is the Pastor.

EXHIBITION AND SOCIAL DANCE. As the term of the juvenile school which Professor Walker has had under his instruction for some months past is about to close, he proposes on that occasion to present his youthful proteges to the public in a social dance, at the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, January 30. The exhibition will be one of rare attractions—the fashionable dances of the day, with many new ones will be introduced, full of grace and motion, which will be sustained by the class with ease and elegance, seldom before witnessed in Quincy. See advertisement.

There will be a Chowder served up at the Mariposa Saloon, this evening.

Manhood; How Lost, How Restored.
A new edition of Dr. Cullen's celebrated Essay on the Radical Cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA, or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents. The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, can cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.

A CARD TO INVALIDS.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Sexual Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge.

Please enclose a post paid envelope, addressed to your self.

The Singer SEWING MACHINES.
OUR LETTER A
Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation. It is beyond doubt the BEST AND CHEAPEST And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

Manhood; How Lost, How Restored.

A new edition of Dr. Cullen's celebrated Essay on the Radical Cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA, or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents. The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, can cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.

HELMHOLD'S BUCHU.

THE ONLY KNOWN REMEDY FOR

DIABETES,
IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, CATARRH OF THE BLADDER, STRANGURY OR PAINFUL URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and one which cannot be sold in its price. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Helmhold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmhold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in pure and according to rules of PHARMACY and CHEMISTRY.

A DIURETIC

Is that which acts upon the kidneys.

Helmhold's Extract Buchu
ACTS GENTLY.

Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its actions.

FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL, See Medical Properties contained in Dispensary of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:

"BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy."

MANUFACTURING CHEMIST

IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.

Manufacturing Chemist
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 28 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT

To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE PURE and MAJESTIC—having Faith for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

We are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fine-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsomer and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

THE STORM. Most of our exchanges have more or less to say about the storm. Under these circumstances perhaps it may not be amiss in us to add our experience. It commenced here early Thursday morning—too early for us to take notes—and continued to snow moderately during the morning hours, until about 11 o'clock, when it increased in violence, making it difficult for pedestrians, who were not firm on their understandings, to breast its fury. In the afternoon it somewhat mollified in its temper, showing indications of turning to rain. Considerable snow fell—causing a temporary blockade of our thoroughfares. The Horse Cars, in consequence, changed their mode of locomotion, from wheels to runners; the Old Colony kept on the even tenor of its ways. On Thursday night the storm underwent another change—for on Friday morning it was snowing as hard as ever. But by noon it had cleared off; leaving between four and six inches of snow, and some very good sleighing.

BIOGRAPHY. The biography of our late fellow-townsmen, the young and gifted Morton—to be found on the first page of our paper to-day, no doubt will be read with intense interest, and awaken anew, sympathies of condolence for the bereaved parents and relatives. It is a truthful picture of the life and services of the lamented dead—drawn by a friendly hand, who was familiar with his early and more mature life, and who had almost daily opportunities to appreciate the ennobling qualities of his mind. By the young especially, this biography should be read and pondered over; as it furnishes an example for their future guidance, every way worthy their imitation.

SAD ACCIDENT. As Mr. W. Quincy Torrey, was engaged raising ice on an inclined plane, at the ice house of Jacob F. Eaton, Esq., on Monday last, the ice was thrown off the track, it fell on Mr. Torrey, breaking both bones of the right leg just above the ankle. Medical assistance was promptly rendered, through Dr. Gilbert, and he is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. The situation of Mr. Torrey was a case demanding sympathy of the community, and accordingly, a paper was drawn up and circulated by Deputy Sheriff French, and in a very short time one hundred and twenty-five dollars was realized. We learn that the paper was presented to some of our wealthiest citizens, who declined; this may arise from a delicacy of having their names appear in such a manner; for the object is one which certainly appeals to the benevolence of all classes.

UNIVERSALIST LEVEE. The Nineteenth Annual Festival of this Society, as will be seen by their card in another column, takes place at the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening next, January 31. These Levees—under the liberal management and excellent taste with which they have heretofore been conducted, have made them highly popular with our people, as the approving response which they have received from the community in former years, bear ample testimony. They are of that class of social gatherings, which have an harmonizing effect—by removing the icy barriers of sectional prejudice, and uniting all on the broad platform of universal brotherhood and benevolence. Where young and old may profitably pass a pleasant hour in the enjoyment of rational amusements, and the cultivation of more lasting ties of friendship.

The entertainments for the evening, like those on former occasions, will be varied, and of an interesting character; Speaking, Singing, etc., including a patriotic Drama, of no small merit, with a strong cast. A beautiful Tableau representing the Saviours of our Country, a happy idea, which must be duly honored.

THE HANCOCK GLEE CLUB.—a social institution, which has carried a most enviable distinction as a musical choir since its organization, will be present.

MR. GALEN BOWDITCH, JR.—a new star in the musical firmament, has also volunteered his services, and will entertain the audience in a chaste, pathetic, and laugh provoking song. The refreshments will draw largely on the bounties of Nature—vintages to tempt the appetite, and the more substantial, to refresh the inner man.

The bill presented is most excellent, and if every thing proves propitious, we predict an old-fashioned "turn out."

TEMPERANCE LECTURES. Rev. J. P. Torrey of South Weymouth gave an able and earnest discourse on Temperance, Sabbath evening, in the Universalist Church. He showed the evils of License Laws, and answered the common objections raised against Prohibition.

Tuesday evening, Rev. Mr. Thompson of the State Alliance, entertained an audience at the Town Hall in his own peculiar, humorous style, making not a few telling points and giving numerous incidents which have occurred during his long service as a Temperance lecturer.

Q. S. S. A.

At a regular meeting of the QUINCY SOCIAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION, held at Barker's Hall, January 11th, 1866, the subject for discussion was

"The Relation of Public Amusements to the Public Morals."

The subject was discussed in an able and interesting manner by the members present, and various opinions were expressed. Some thought that Public Amusements as they are now carried on, are detrimental to the Public Morals of a community; that dancing, cards, the theatre, &c., exercise a pernicious influence upon the people generally, and that a more deleterious effect proceeds from the excesses to which these amusements are carried, than would arise from the total abolishment of the same.

Others thought that amusements which are not sinful in themselves, are beneficial to the community; that because there are frequent abuses and excesses of the original idea, it does not decide it to be in the wrong, since there is nothing which may not be perverted, or used in a manner entirely different from the original intention; that the public morals would be strengthened, not by discarding amusements altogether, but by seeking to give them the sympathy and co-operation of the best minds in the country, thereby raising them to their proper level.

The Directors in the department of Public Affairs gave their Report, which contained articles, original and selected, upon the following subjects:

"The Nation's Dead," "Death of the Old Year," "Punishment of Criminals," "Barbarism," "Reconstruction," "The New Year," "The Rebellion in Jamaica," "The New Year," "A Swiss Mother's Gift to the New York Sanitary Fair," "The Freedmen."

The subject assigned for discussion at the next meeting, is,

"THE PUNISHMENT OF CRIMINALS."

H. A. French, Recording Secretary.

FREEDMEN'S COMMISSION. Members of the Commission are desired to meet at the house of Rev. S. T. Aldrich, near the junction of Sea and Canal streets, next Tuesday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock. The Soliciting Committee are specially desired to be present.

DISMISSAL. Rev. J. P. Lane was dismissed on Tuesday last from the pastorate of the Congregational Church, East Weymouth, and recommended as a faithful and able minister. The Council strongly condemned the practice of Refusing, and expressed the hope that this and other objectionable methods of raising money might "give place to direct appeals to men's love for Christian truth, the church, and for Him who is its Head."

STATE VALUATION. The report of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, on the assessed valuation of the cities and towns, shows that the total taxable property in 1865 was $991,841,901, of which $605,761,946 was real and $386,079,955 personal estate. The number of polls taxed was 287,655; dwelling-houses, 188,005; horses, 89,750; cows, 145,801; sheep, 160,907; acres of land, 1,431,554. The increase in value of real estate from the previous year is $28,463,690; of personal estate, $61,495,108. The number of sheep has been decreased by over 8,000; cows, 9,000; and horses, 2,000. The amount of state, county and municipal taxes last year was $16,800,332.07, over four million dollars more than the previous year. All the counties except Franklin have increased their valuation.

THE WORK OF A SINGLE CHURCH. It was stated Sunday morning by the pastor, that the First Parish in Dorchester, (Rev. Mr. Hall's) had contributed during the war to the relief of the soldiers, in supplies and money, upwards of twenty-five thousand dollars. The money was liberally given as often as asked for, and under the care of the ladies, the clothing and other articles were carefully prepared and judiciously distributed.

THE LADY'S FRIEND. The February number of this beautiful Magazine opens with a touching steel engraving, entitled, "News From the War,"—a very expressive engraving indeed.

The large colored Double Steel Fashion Plate for this number is as usual refined and elegant; the distinguishing traits of the Fashion of the Lady's Friend. The Music is "Near Thee," the words by Charles Swain. Among the literature we note "Elise Radner," by S. Annie Frost; "Love Folger," a story by August Bell; "The Hidden Bridal Gift," by Aunt Alice; "Rachel Dana's Legacy," by H. A. Heydon; "Stories of our Village," by Beatrice Colonna; "Faithful Unto Death," by Harris Byrne; New Publications, Receipts, the Fashions, &c., &c.

DEATH OF AN AUTHOR. Miss Fredricka Bremer, so long known as a novelist of a high order, is dead. She was a native of Abo in Finland, but spent a part of her earlier days in Sweden and Norway.

Our readers will find some very interesting articles on our first page, which are deserving of a careful perusal.

TWENTY-FOURTH REGIMENT. This gallant Regiment, the last with one exception, in the United States service, arrived in Boston on Wednesday morning last, where they were provided with a collation by the city. They were then sent to Gallop's Island to be mustered out and paid off. They will come up to the city to-day and be received by the New England Guards and other military organizations. Next week we will furnish our readers a complete list of all Quincy Boys who have served in this gallant corps.

SURGICAL OPERATION. Mr. Daniel K. Flint, of this town, had the fore-finger of his left hand amputated on Monday last, by Dr. Cabot, of Boston. Mr. Flint has been a sufferer for two years from a troublesome felon which made the amputation necessary, and which disabled him from following his trade. He is a worthy man—has a large family dependent upon him for support—and any token of the public's sympathy to keep the wolf from the door at this inclement season, no doubt would be received with gratitude.

THE RIGHT OF A WOMAN REGULARLY ORDAINED TO SOLEMNIZE MARRIAGE.—There has been of late considerable discussion in the community where the Rev. Miss Olympia Brown resides, and especially in the church at Weymouth Landing, over which she is settled, as to whether, under the present statute regulations, she can legally solemnize marriage. The General Statutes provide that "marriage may be solemnized by any minister of the gospel ordained according to the usage of his denomination," and continually makes use of the pronoun "he" whenever any reference is made to the word "minister." It was the continued use of the masculine pronoun, which occasioned the doubt in the minds of some as to the legal capacity of Miss Brown to solemnize marriage. The question is of much importance, inasmuch as, if we are correctly informed, she has already officiated in one or two occasions. An order was accordingly introduced into the House of Representatives last week, by which the committee on the judiciary was instructed to consider whether any legislation is necessary upon the subject. That committee have now reported that no legislation is necessary, being unanimously of opinion, that a woman regularly ordained can, under our statutes legally solemnize marriage.

POSTPONED. The Exhibition of Prof. Walker's Juvenile Class has been postponed to Feb. 13th, as will be seen by our advertising columns.

MR. OZIAS POPE. We were pleased to see the old and familiar countenance of Mr. Pope in the street once more after his late illness. Mr. P. has never enjoyed sound health since his misfortune some years ago, which came very near depriving him of life. Mr. Pope has always been an industrious and hard working man—who earned his living by the sweat of his brow; and although provident of his means, was not able to lay anything by for his old age. His friends should not suffer him to pine in want, when the infirmities of age are disabling him to provide for himself.

SHOES MADE BY STEAM. Almost all the shoes made at Haverhill are made by steam, and every part of the business is carried on independent of the rest. One shop turns out heels and stiffeners, another, uppers, in another, sole leather is cut, and finally the goods are made up by steam power exclusively. A number of new establishments have been lately started, worked by steam power entirely.

Marriages.

In Boston, on the 21st inst., Mr. William H. Hennessey of South Boston, to Miss Mary E. Donahoe of this town.

In Boston, on the 23d inst., by Rev. R. S. Stone, D. D., Mr. Edward Potter, Jr., to Miss Annie M., daughter of Caleb Stetson, Esq.

In Epping, (N. H.) on the 22d instant, by Rev. Nathaniel Goldsmith, Mr. Joseph Garland, of E. to Mrs. Ann E. Pickering, formerly of this town.

The happy couple have our best wishes for their future welfare and happiness. The fair bride having chosen from Nature's garden a Garland to cherish, as a life's nosegay—and having entwined around it the tendrils of her heart's purest affections, may its fragrance and vigor be preserved, to perfume her future pathway—under the smiles of a kind Providence—with earth's choicest blessings.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The oldest clergyman in Boston is "Father Cleveland," in his 94th year, still active in the duties of his charitable profession. He was an office holder under Washington. The oldest printer is Nathaniel Willis, about 90; father of N. P. Willis, the poet; and the oldest lawyer, Samuel D. Parker, about 80.

Illinois has received thirty millions of dollars worth of public lands.

Secretary McCulloch opposes the project of equalization of bounties, on the ground of the inability of the Treasury to meet the enormous drain contemplated.

The Richmond papers want the Virginia Legislature to pension the crippled rebel soldiers.

The whole number of barrels of mackerel inspected in the State last year was 256,796 1-8 against 274,357 1-4 in 1864, showing a decrease of over 50,000 from the return of 1863. While the number of barrels caught have fallen off the quality of the catch has improved.

Libby prison is now a grocery store.

An ice bridge was formed on Sunday morning above Niagara Falls, extending three miles down the rapids. It is the largest one for many years.

A large number of vessels have been chartered to bring bamboo from Jamaica to New York for the manufacture of paper.—Paper so high that bamboo has been experimented upon and is found a cheap and excellent article.

A young man in Milford, named Metcalf, attempted to shoot himself on the door steps of his unsympathizing fair one on the night of the 16th inst. He got a comrade to load the pistol, and after packing his valuables to be sent to his father, and disposing of his effects generally, sending $50 to his lady love, &c., committed the rash act, but as his comrade had sense enough for both he left the bullet out of the pistol, and the only damage done was a burnt waist coat.

Benjamin Phinney, a wealthy farmer at Rockport, Illinois, was recently poisoned to death with strychnine by his fifth wife, a pretty girl, whom he married six weeks ago.

They have a child at Staunton, Va., which at seven weeks old, weighed only a pound and a half.

The government has stored in what was the Armory Square Hospital at Washington, 450,000 pairs army shoes, one room full of boots, 70,000 jackets, 150,000 shirts, 60,000 pants, 80,000 overcoats, 35,000 axes, 25,000 shovels, 40,000 shelter tents, 75,000 knapsacks, and similar immense quantities of other articles of clothing and camp equipage. The whole is valued at about $15,000,000.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that simply grinding rubarb, jalap, opium and drugs of that character, does not subject them to manufacturing taxes, if nothing has been added to or subtracted from them.

A comparison of the statements of the public debt, as given at the close of the month of August, and the close of December, exhibits a decrease of $41,000,000.

A man apparently in great distress called at an undertaker's warehouse in New York, recently, and selected a coffin worth $25, which he directed to be sent to a certain house, tendering in payment a $100 bill. Without suspicion the sum of $75 was given him in change. It was soon after discovered that the $100 bill was counterfeit, and that a coffin was not yet required at the house designated by the impostor.

A negro is advertised for sale at auction in Kentucky in February next.

Chicago has the largest candy manufactory west of New York. It makes three tons of confectionery every day.

THE HOME MONTHLY, for January, has two pages of choice Music; a racy sketch of Western Life, by one of the editors; three Serials, giving sprightly and interesting accounts of European Life and Eastern Travel; an original Story by Sarah J. Foster; Poetry by Lucy Lecom—with a well selected variety of Religious and Literary Articles. A Steel Plate and Six Engravings embellish the number. We are glad to know of its increasing circulation—believing it to be a Magazine of genuine merit and worthy a place in every home.

A COURT UNDER ARREST. The Sampson (N. C.) county Court arrested a negro on the charge of drawing a pistol on a white man, and sentenced him to be sold into servitude. Major Wickersham, of the Freedmen's Bureau, ordered the Court and all parties concerned to be placed under arrest.

"DON'T BE FOOLISH." You can make Six Dollars from Fifty Cents. Call and examine an invention urgently needed by everybody. Or a sample sent free by mail for five cents, that retails easily for $6 by R. L. Wolcott, 170 Chatham Square, New York. 16c

TOWN SEAL FOR DORCHESTER. A new seal will be presented to the town of Dorchester on the occasion of the next town meeting, of which we have the following description:

Upon the rim, Dorchester, 1630; the year the town was settled. Upon the scroll, Pietate, Liberis, Industria, signifying Piety, Literature, Industry. Upon the top of the shield, a triple tower, from the seal of old Dorchester, England, from which place many of the early settlers of the town came. Upon the shield, a church, school house, a mill, upon the bank of a stream, and a sun rising over distant hills, allegorical of the first church in this town (a small thatched roof building) being that used by the first organized church in the colony of Massachusetts Bay, now the church of the First Parish, in Dorchester, Rev. N. Hall, pastor; of the first school-house built in Dorchester, being for the use of the first free school in the world, and of the first mill, built upon the bank of Neponset river, Dorchester, it being the first mill built upon the continent of America. The sun rising over the Blue Hills is allegorical of the rise of Piety, Literature and Industry, represented upon the seal.

EXTRACT BUCHU.

HELMHOLD'S BUCHU.

HELMHOLD'S BUCHU.

HELMHOLD'S BUCHU.

THE ONLY KNOWN REMEDY FOR

DIABETES,

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE

BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE

KIDNEYS, CATARRH OF THE

BLADDER, STRANGURY OR

PAINFUL URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise.
A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful of Helmhold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmhold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Calaba and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in vacuo and according to rules of

PHARMACY AND CHEMISTRY.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded.

A DIURETIC

Is that which acts upon the kidneys.

Helmhold's Extract Buchu

ACTS GENTLY.

Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action.

FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL.

See Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu.—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Mucous Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy."

FROM THE LARGEST

MANUFACTURING CHEMIST

IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and
was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character
and enterprise.

Wm. WRIGHTMAN,
(Firm of Powers & Wrightman.)
Manufacturing Chemist,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.
Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office
and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription,
much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical
preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT

To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE
PURE and MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted
should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to them besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsomer and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

The Singer SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A

Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world-wide reputation. It is beyond doubt the

BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gugging, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in classic and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and cheapest manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

Let us Make the Best of it.

Life is but a fleeting dream, Care destroys the zest of it; Swift it glideth like a stream— Mind you make the best of it! Talk not of your weary woes, Troubles, or the rest of it; If we have but brief repose, Let us make the best of it.

If your friend has got a heart, There is something fine in him, Cast away his darker part, Cling to what's divine in him, Friendship is our best relief, Make no heartless jest of it; It will brighten every grief, If we make the best of it.

Happiness despises state; 'Tis no sage experiment, Simply that the wise and great May have joy and merriment; Rank is not its spell refined, Money's not the test of it, But a calm contented mind, That will make the best of it.

Trusting in the Power above, Which, sustaining all of us In one common bond of love, Bindeth great and small of us, Whatsoever may befall— Sorrows or the rest of it— We shall overcome them all, If we make the best of it.

JELLY OF CODLIVER OIL. M. Dufour-mante proposes the following recipe for preparing a jelly of this disagreeable medicine. Take of codliver oil, 30 grammes; isinglass, 2 grammes; water, a sufficient quantity to dissolve the isinglass. When the latter is dissolved, add the oil gradually, stirring constantly, aromatising it at the same time with nutmeg or other oil, 4 drops. A large tablespoonful is a dose.

The life-preservers most frequently used on the battle-field are long legs.

How long Eve, the first woman lived, we do not know. It is a curious fact that in Sacred History, the age, death and burial of only one woman, Sarah the wife of Abraham, is distinctly noted. Woman's age ever since, appears not to have been a subject for history or discussion.

Tom is a bright boy, and very much attached to his mother. The other day his father came home in a bad humor. And was scolding and finding fault with things generally. Little Tom sat and listened until he thought it necessary to interfere in behalf of his mother, when, looking up at his father he said in a decided tone: "If you did not like her ways what did you marry her for?"

I need scarcely add that the weather cleared up at once and the storm was over.

The battles in which a man achieves the noblest of his life victories are fought in solitude.

Not half so beautiful is the most penetrating eye as that which lets everything penetrate it.

Nothing teaches patience like a garden. You may go around and watch the opening bud from day to day; but it takes its own time, and you cannot urge it on faster than it will. If forced, it is only torn to pieces. All the best results of a garden, like those of life, are slowly but regularly progressive.

Why does a person that is poorly, lose much of his sense of touch? Because he doesn't feel well.

What is the difference between a summer dress in winter and an extracted tooth? One is too thin and the other is too hot.

No doubt a lady may be expected to make a great noise in the world when her dress is covered with bugs.

He who marries a woman for her beautiful teeth will be very likely to find himself bitten.

An old-school tiller of the soil says that the poetry of farming is the part we read about.

A minister who had been reproving one of his elders for over-indulgence, observed a cow go down to a stream, take a drink, and then turn away. "There," said he to his offending elder, "is an example for you; the cow has quenched its thirst, and has retired." "Yes," replied the elder, "that is very true. But suppose another cow had come to the other side of the stream, and said, 'Here's to you,' there's no saying how long they might have gone on."

Miscellaneous.

The Hypochondriac.

From one of the Paris exchanges the following graphic and interesting sketch has been translated, which shows how vitally important is presence of mind to the professional man.

A young Spaniard of a wealthy and respectable family of Cape Verde, arrived in Paris a few months since, accompanied by his mother. The moment they had descended from their post-chaise they inquired the address of the celebrated Dr. Orfila; having ascertained it, they proceeded directly to his house, and were fortunate enough to find him at home.

Doctor, said the young man, our ancestors were I believe, compatriots; it is, however your European reputation that has attracted us hither, and that induced us to take so long a voyage in order to consult you.

The Doctor, whilst listening to the son, directed his attention to the mother, whose sunken eye and pallid features bespoke intense suffering.

Fortunately, not, interrupted the young Spaniard, it is for me.

The mother suppressed a sigh, and furtively wiped away a tear with her pocket handkerchief.

Ah! for you! said the doctor, in a tone of astonishment, for the young man appeared to be in the enjoyment of perfect health. Let's see, sir; give me the details of your malady. I am all attention.

The mother gazed earnestly at the doctor, who did not yet comprehend how matters stood, but who now endeavored to do so in the same way that a man of quick sagacity would set about solving some unforeseen enigma.

Doctor, said the son, you see before you the most miserable being on earth. I am afflicted with three infirmities, which debar me from the enjoyment of those pleasures to which my age and my fortune entitle me; these infirmities causes me to tremble in the presence of a woman, and to shun the society of my own sex; my pride as a Spaniard and a gentleman being in my continual apprehension of some affront either in love or friendship. Judge, Doctor, of my position.

Dr. Orfila bent forward his head, and extended his arms, as if awaiting some further explanation ere he could answer.

The mother crossed her hands and raised her eyes to heaven in the attitude of prayer.

Here is my first infirmity, continued the young Spaniard, placing his forefinger on his nose; this, I have been told, may be easily cured by a new operation, recently invented by a Paris practitioner; and I am ready to submit to any thing.

The Doctor looked at the young man's nose; its fine aquiline outline and perfect chiselling might serve as a study for an artist.

Truly, said the Doctor, so conspicuous a deformity must render you very unhappy. It is enough to do so, indeed, said the Doctor. Your nose struck me the moment you entered the room—

You see, Doctor, that I am right! Certainly, sir. What a pity, thought I, that the countenance of that young man should be disgraced by such an unnatural deformity.

That's what every one thinks, Doctor. Let us come now to the other infirmities, said the Doctor, with imitable sang froid. Examine my cheeks and chin, Doctor.

I have examined them. What do you see? Nothing. Precisely so, Doctor. Nothing!—no beard, not even the lightest down! No indication of my sex! If I wish to marry, what man would give me his daughter?

No man! you are right, sir. Doctor, I have employed for the second infirmity a remedy which a friend had prescribed for me. I shave twice a day with the best English razors.

And has it succeeded? Not at all, Doctor. Astonishing!

You see, mother, said the young man, turning to the lady, that the Doctor does me full justice, and does not treat me as a madman, like my uncle and cousin.

Your uncle and cousin must themselves be mad, said the Doctor. As soon as you entered I exclaimed to myself—what a fine young man, and what a pity he has not a handsome beard, such as is worn by dandies of the present day! but let us pass to the third infirmity.

You have not already observed it, Doctor. Why—yes—I thought—I discovered—a certain—

A certain what?

A—something exceedingly shocking in— In my carriage. There is a striking defect there. So well there may be. I—half frightfully—my left foot is four inches shorter than my right.

O, that is evident at first sight, said the Doctor. What a pity, thought I, that so handsome a young man should be lame.

You understand me, Doctor, that with these three infirmities life is intolerable to me. Intolerable indeed it must be.

It is for this I came to you, said the young man, crossing his hands devoutly, as if before some holy image, to you, god of the medical art, to implore of you life. I am told you are in possession of secrets so wonderful that they cure what has hitherto been considered incurable. Take pity on my condition, make me live the life of other men, and all my fortune is at your service.

The poor mother shook her head in despair and wept.

Sir, said the Doctor, I have been so fortunate as to cure even greater infirmities than yours. If I find you a submissive and courageous patient I—

O, interrupted the Spaniard, cut my flesh as if it were marble, I shall not utter a complaint—not a sigh shall escape me.

We shall proceed, then, to the operation. The mother opened her eyes and gazed steadily at Dr. Orfila, who said to her: Madam you may stay; make your mind easy—I shall spare your maternal tenderness as much as possible. I shall etherize your son, and the operation will be accomplished without pain.

At these words the Doctor arranged on the table a formidable array of surgical instruments, and having made the young Spaniard recline on a couch, he administered ether to him. When certain that his patient had become insensible, he touched his nose with several instruments, and pretended to deposit something on a silver plate. The first operation achieved, he fastened a heavy weight to the left foot, making all the while as much noise and clanking of irons as he possibly could. The mother watched the Doctor's proceedings, without understanding the meaning of all the chirurgical manoeuvring.

Madam, said the Doctor, in a low voice, in three seconds the influence of ether will cease—your son will recover the use of his faculties. At a sign from me you must cast yourself into his arms, exclaiming: "My son you are cured."

This was done as directed.

The Doctor also embraced the young man saying to him "Walk."

The Spaniard disengaged his left foot from its iron trammels, and walked up and down the room.

The Doctor and the mother clasped their hands.

Do you suffer? asked the Doctor in the most natural tone imaginable.

Hardly at all, answered the young man, his face as radiant as a seraph's.

And now, said the Doctor, showing him some shapeless particles on a salver, now look at your face in the mirror—here is what I have taken from you—at present you have the mode of an Indian Bacchus.

What an astonishing operation, cried the mother, who now began to comprehend the enigmas; and she thanked the Doctor in the most grateful terms, whilst she held the mirror to her son.

The young man looked at himself in the glass with an air of a Narcissus. Had he been alone, he would have embraced himself.

Doctor, said the mother, who at last understood the ruse, accept on account, and especially as a token of my gratitude, this ring, in which are set three of the finest diamonds of Hyderabad.

I accept it with pleasure, answered the Doctor; adding in a low voice, on condition, Madam, that you permit me to return it to you.

This pretended present had a powerful effect on the young man, and completed his cure.

We have a third infirmity to treat, said the Doctor. I wish to give you the most beautiful black moustache that ever graced the lips of a Christian.

The Spaniard bounded with joy, like a scholar who obtained the prize of honor.

Take this flask, said the Doctor, and bathe your face every morning with the wonderful liquid it contains. Above all, be sure not to shave for two weeks from to-day, and at the expiration of that time, you will resemble one of Titan's portraits. I shall expect to see you in two weeks.

The Spaniard was about to cast himself at the Doctor's feet, but was restrained by a benevolent hand.

My illustrious benefactor, said he, I have but a few days to spend in Paris. I am impatient to return to my native country, where now, thanks to you, I may without shame marry Donna Theresa Figueroa.

Very well, said the Doctor, marry as soon as you please. I authorize you to do so, and you may trust me.

The adieu were most touching; the Doctor secretly returned the ring to which he felt he had no claim, and he declined a hundred thousand francs which the imaginary invalid offered him on account.

When I cure a patient, said the Doctor, I accept a fee, but when I restore life, I take nothing—I am repaid.

Never was a freak of the imagination, engendered beneath a tropical sun, more adroitly or more promptly cured. The Doctor has within a few days received a letter from the young Spaniard announcing his marriage, his joy, his happiness, and the radical cure of his triple malady.

Imagination, says the Doctor, is like the lance of Achilles—it wounds and it heals. But it is necessary to know how to wield the lance—there lies the difficulty!

WEALTH.

Excessive wealth is neither glory nor happiness. The cold and sordid wretch who thinks only of himself—who draws his head within his shell, and puts it out only for the purpose of lucre and ostentation—who looks upon his fellow creatures not only without sympathy, but
